

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

GENERAL HARNEY'S ADMINISTRATION IN OREGON.

LETTER

FROM

THE SECRETARY OF WAR,

IN ANSWER TO

A resolution of the House calling for copies of correspondence in reference to General Harney's administration of the department of Oregon.

JANUARY 31, 1861.—Laid upon the table and ordered to be printed.

WAR DEPARTMENT, January 30, 1861.

SIR: In compliance with the resolution of the House of Representatives of the 24th instant, by which the Secretary of War is requested to furnish that body with "copies of all correspondence on file in the War Department, not heretofore published, having reference to General Harney's administration of the military department of Oregon," I have the honor to enclose to you copies of the following papers, viz:

1. Colonel Wright to General Scott, August 28, 1860.
2. Same to Captain Pickett, August 29, 1860.

There are also on file three letters addressed to the late Secretary of War by George Ihrie, formerly a lieutenant in the United States army, under dates of July 29 and December 9 and 15, 1860. They make allusion to Brigadier General Harney's administration of the department of Oregon, but consist almost entirely of coarse personal denunciations of that gallant officer. Copies of these letters are withheld, since alike their vituperative language and the apparent purpose of their author forbid that this department should be in any way instrumental in giving them publicity.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. HOLT,
Secretary of War.

Hon. WILLIAM PENNINGTON,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

1. Colonel Wright to General Scott.

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF OREGON,
Fort Vancouver, W. T., August 28, 1860.

SIR: I am now preparing a report exhibiting the condition of affairs in this department, in which its wants will be fully set forth, having special reference to the defenceless state of our maritime frontier and navigable rivers. This report will be transmitted at an early date.

In the meantime, I beg leave to submit to the lieutenant general commanding the army the absolute necessity there exists for a speedy settlement of the boundary between Washington Territory and the British possessions on our north. For the last twelve months the San Juan imbroglio has only served to keep up a feverish excitement and a hostile feeling between our citizens and those of British Columbia. This feeling will not subside so long as the question of title to the island of San Juan shall remain in abeyance. The slightest provocation from either side might produce a collision, from which the most deplorable results would follow.

This state of affairs requires prudence and firmness in its management. An early settlement of this question would not only allay all excitement in that quarter, but would enable us to establish a permanent military post on the island, the troops of which, with the aid of a fast-going steamer, could effectually guard the whole of Puget's Sound from the incursions of northern Indians. Once established, such a post could be supplied cheaper than any in this department.

Since I have been in command of this department I have received no instructions from any source touching our occupancy of San Juan island; hence, until the sovereignty of the island shall be definitely settled by the two governments, unless otherwise directed, I shall be guided by the orders of the lieutenant general from the 5th to the 9th of November, 1859. (See enclosure.)

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

G. WRIGHT,
Colonel 9th Infantry, Commanding.

Lieut. Colonel L. THOMAS,
Assistant Adjutant General, Headquarters of the Army, New York City.

2. Colonel Wright to Captain Pickett.

Fort Vancouver, W. T., August 29, 1860.

SIR: Wherein the instructions from these headquarters to the commander at San Juan island, of April 10, 1860, may be judged to conflict with the tenor of Lieutenant General Scott's instructions to the officer in command of the United States troops which he placed on that island, of the 7th and 9th of November, 1859, the colonel commanding directs you, in any procedure connected with the subject of those orders, to govern yourself in accordance with the views and directions of the lieutenant general commanding in chief.

I am, sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

JAS. A. HARDIE,

Captain 3d Artillery, Acting Ass't Adjutant General.

Captain GEORGE E. PICKETT,

9th Infantry, Commanding Camp Pickett,

San Juan Island, W. T.

RELIEF FOR DESTITUTE INDIANS.

FROM

THE ACTING SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR,

ASKING

An appropriation of money for the relief of destitute Indians.

FEBRUARY 2, 1861.—Referred to the Committee of Ways and Means, and ordered to be printed.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
February 1, 1861.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith a copy of a communication from the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, dated the 30th ultimo, recommending that one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) be appropriated for the relief of destitute Indians, under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior.

I concur in this recommendation, and respectfully request that the appropriation be made.

With great respect, your obedient servant,

MOSES KELLY, Acting Secretary.

HON. WILLIAM PENNINGTON,

Speaker of House of Representatives.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
Office of Indian Affairs, January 30, 1861.

SIR: In my last annual report, in referring to the destitute condition of many of the Indian tribes, in consequence of the failure of crops caused by the excessive drought the last year in various parts of the country, I stated that imperative duty prompted the suggestion that the attention of Congress be called to the necessity of making an appropriation, for which a special estimate could thereafter be made, with a view to prevent suffering and starvation among the tribes in indigent circumstances.

As the present session of Congress will soon terminate, and nothing as yet, that I am aware of, having been done by that body in relation to the subject, I have the honor to suggest that the attention of Congress be again called to the matter, with a view to the immediate relief of the Indians referred to, residing in Kansas and the neighborhood, whose condition is peculiarly distressing, and should be at once relieved to a partial extent at least, and thus prevent starvation until they can realize a subsistence from the cultivation of crops the coming season.

I therefore recommend that one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) be appropriated for the relief of indigent Indians, to be placed at the disposal of the Office of Indian Affairs, under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior.

This sum, divided among the various tribes whose immediate wants are pressing, will afford but a small amount per capita, but which, if judiciously dispensed in provisions, &c., in proportion to their several necessities, will, it is thought, furnish subsistence sufficient to sustain them through the remainder of the present season, and until they can realize a support from the cultivation of crops.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

A. B. GREENWOOD, Commissioner.

Hon. MOSES KELLY,

Acting Secretary of the Interior.

RETURNS OF MILITIA.

SIR: In conformity with the act of March 2, 1803, I have the honor to transmit herewith a return of the militia of the United States, and of their arms, accoutrements, and ammunition for the year 1860.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. HOLT,
Secretary of War.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES—PROPOSITION TO AMEND.

MESSAGE

FROM

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,

TRANSMITTING

Resolutions of the legislature of Kentucky, applying for the call of a convention for proposing amendments to the Constitution of the United States.

FEBRUARY 6, 1861.—Referred to the select committee on the special message of the President, and ordered to be printed.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I have received from the governor of Kentucky certain resolutions adopted by the general assembly of that Commonwealth, containing an application to Congress for the call of a convention for proposing amendments to the Constitution of the United States, with a request that I should immediately place the same before that body. It affords me great satisfaction to perform this duty ; and I feel quite confident that Congress will bestow upon these resolutions the careful consideration to which they are eminently entitled, on account of the distinguished and patriotic source from which they proceed, as well as the great importance of the subject which they involve.

JAMES BUCHANAN.

WASHINGTON, February 5, 1861.

COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY,
Executive Department, Frankfort, January 28, 1861.

DEAR SIR : I have the honor to communicate herewith to your excellency the joint resolutions of the general assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, " recommending a call for a convention of the United States," with the request that you lay the same before Congress.

Your obedient servant,

B. MAGOFFIN.

His Excellency JAMES BUCHANAN,
President of the United States.

RESOLUTIONS recommending a call for a convention of the United States.

Whereas the people of some of the States feel themselves deeply aggrieved by the policy and measures which have been adopted by the people of some of the other States; and whereas an amendment of the Constitution of the United States is deemed indispensably necessary to secure them against similar grievances in the future: Therefore—

Resolved by the general assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That application to Congress to call a convention for proposing amendments to the Constitution of the United States, pursuant to the 5th article thereof, be, and the same is hereby, now made by this general assembly of Kentucky; and we hereby invite our sister States to unite with us, without delay, in similar application to Congress.

Resolved, That the governor of this State forthwith communicate the foregoing resolution to the President of the United States, with the request that he immediately place the same before Congress and the executives of the several States, with a request that they lay them before their respective legislatures.

Resolved, If the convention be called in accordance with the provisions of the foregoing resolutions, the legislature of the Commonwealth of Kentucky suggest for the consideration of that convention, as a basis for settling existing difficulties, the adoption, by way of amendments to the Constitution, of the resolutions offered in the Senate of the United States by the Hon. John J. Crittenden.

DAVID MERIWETHER,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

THOMAS P. PORTER,
Speaker of the Senate.

Approved January 25, 1861.

B. MAGOFFIN.

By the governor:

THOMAS B. MONROE, Jr.,
Secretary of State.

ADDITIONAL ESTIMATE—SERVICE OF THE ORDNANCE DEPARTMENT.

FROM

THE SECRETARY OF WAR,

TRANSMITTING

Additional estimate for the service of the Ordnance department.

FEBRUARY 6, 1861.—Referred to the Committee of Ways and Means, and ordered to be printed.

WAR DEPARTMENT, February 5, 1861.

SIR: I have the honor to enclose to you, for the favorable consideration of Congress, a communication from the chief of ordnance, embodying an estimate for two important items omitted from the last annual estimate of this department.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. HOLT, Secretary of War.

Hon. WILLIAM PENNINGTON,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

ORDNANCE OFFICE,
Washington, February 5, 1861.

SIR: I have the honor to report that, in my annual estimate for the service of the Ordnance department for the fiscal year 1861-'62, the item for Washington arsenal was $74,900, and there was an item of $30,000 "for horses and horse medicines for the light batteries." Your immediate predecessor sent it back, with instructions for me to reduce the first item to $24,900, and to strike out that for the purchase of horses.

It is highly important that the two items, as originally estimated, should be appropriated—the first is highly important, and the latter essential, indeed, I may say indispensable—and I respectfully request that measures may be taken to have these two items added to one of the appropriation bills at the present session of Congress.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

H. K. CRAIG,
Colonel of Ordnance.

Hon. J. HOLT, Secretary of War.

CLAIM No. 44.

Grant.—Heirs of Luis Maria C. de Baca.—Grant—translation, document No. 2.

Sir Governor of the Province:

Don Luis Maria Baca, resident of our Lady of Guadalupe of Peña Blanca, appears before you with the due attention which the law will allow me, and is convenient to me, and state, sir, that having registered a piece of uncultivated land, commonly called the Spring of the Holy Ghost at this time, distant five or six leagues from the pueblo of Jemez to the west, and being compelled to withdraw my animals to avoid difficulties with the Quintaras Indians; and said tract contains sufficient capacity for my said animals; and considering, and considering that it is not injurious to any person, I humbly ask your excellency to be pleased to grant me said tract in the name of his Majesty, whom may God preserve. I ask for said tract for myself, for my children, fifteen in number, as upon said tract I intend to maintain my property and that of my children. A small tract can also be cultivated with some difficulty, as the water is scarce; although, notwithstanding what I have stated, I inform your excellency that the Messrs. Ortiz state that said tract was granted to them by Don Fernando de la Concha, who was governor of this province. It is twenty and more years since that gentleman left this province, and during all that time which I have stated, it is not known that said Messrs. Ortiz have settled upon it with their families or their stock, nor leased or loaned to any person; and if your excellency is pleased to grant me said tract in the name of his Majesty, (whom may God preserve,) its boundaries are: on the east the summit of the Jemez mountain; on the west the Puerco river and the point of the Prieto table land; on the north the table land commonly called "La Ventana;" on the south the cañon of La Querencia and the boundary of the farm of Don Antonio Armenta; in view of all which, I humbly pray and request your excellency to be pleased to accord my petition, in justice. By doing as I request, I will receive grace, which I impetrate. I swear that it is not done in malice, &c.

LUIS MARIA CABEZA DE BACA PERSEGUIDO.

PEÑA BLANCA, May 23, 1815.

SANTA FÉ, May 24, 1815.

If, as represented by the petitioner, Don Antonio Ortiz has forfeited his right to the tract of the Spring of the Holy Ghost, in the jurisdiction of the justice of Jemez, in abandoning and depopulating it for more than twenty years, which should be forfeited according to the last royal order in reference to these cases, the petitioner may be allowed to settle upon it, granting him, in the name of his Majesty, building lots and enclosures, with tracts of land for cultivation, and whatever more may appertain to said tract, for himself and his children; and I commission the justice of Jemez to superintend the arrangements for the settlement and preservation of order.

MAINEZ.

On the fourteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and fifteen, by virtue of the foregoing decree of Lieutenant Colonel Don Alberto Mainez, governor of this province, I proceeded, in company with my attending witnesses and the petitioners, to the lands granted to Don Luis Maria Cabeza de Baca and his fifteen children, who are José Antonio Baca, Juan Antonio Baca, José Baca, Domingo Baca, José Miguel Baca, Luis Maria Baca, Ramon Baca, Prudencio Baca, Matio Baca, Jesus Maria Baca, Juan Felipe Baca, Guadalupe Baca, Rosa Baca, Maria Josefa Baca, and Juana Paula Baca, at the aforementioned place of the Spring of the Holy Ghost, which being examined by me, I made known to them the superior decree containing the favor granted—to all those who were present. Being satisfied with what had been determined, I put them in possession of said tract. They pulled up grass, threw stones towards the four points of the compass, and all exclaimed together, in a loud voice, three times, Long live the King, as evidence of legal possession, which they took quietly, without any opposition whatever—pointing out to them the boundaries contained in the foregoing petition, as well as house lots, enclosures, and tracts of land for cultivation, in equal parts, without showing any preference, in accordance with the royal laws of the Recopilation of the Indies, which refer to settlements, grants, donations; and in order that it may so appear, I signed on said day, month, and year, with my attending witnesses, in the absence of a notary, there being none of any description in this province; to all of which I certify,

CLAIM No. 44.

Grant.—Heirs of Luis Maria O. de Baca.—Petition to surveyor general, document No. 3.

TERRITORY OF NEW MEXICO, County of Santa Fé:

To the Hon. William Pelham, surveyor general of the Territory of New Mexico, under the act of Congress approved July 22, 1854 :

Your petitioners, the surviving heirs-at-law of one Luis Cabeza de Baca, deceased, would respectfully state that on the 23d day of May, 1815, the said Luis Cabeza de Baca presented his petition to the governor of the province of New Mexico, asking for a grant of land to himself and children of a tract of land situate at present in the county of Santa Ana, in the Territory of New Mexico; and upon said petition a grant was made, and said Luis Cabeza de Baca was, on the 13th day of June, 1815, duly placed in the possession of the premises so granted to him; which said grant has for its boundaries the following: on the east by the top of the Sierra de Jemez; on the west the Puerco river and the point of Prieta table land; on the north the table land commonly called La Ventana; and on the south by the cañon of La Querencia and the boundary of the lands of Don Antonio Armenta, which will more fully appear by reference to a copy of said grant and possession, hereby made a part of this petition, marked as Exhibit G herein. Your petitioners further state that said landmarks and boundaries are well known and easily discovered, but inasmuch as no survey of said lands has yet been made, the quantity of land included in said boundaries is not known to your petitioners. Your petitioners further state that the said Luis Cabeza de Baca in his lifetime occupied said land, lived upon it, and put valuable improvements upon it, and up to the time of his death, being in the year 1830, continued to possess said lands without any person claiming them, nor up to this time do your petitioners know of any adverse title to said land. Your petitioners further state that during the time of hostilities with the Navajo Indians the said Luis Cabeza de Baca was compelled to relinquish his occupancy there, and the hostilities of said Indians have since then prevented your petitioners from residing there, but they desire so to do as soon as their title is confirmed to them. Your petitioners further state that said lands are not now in the actual occupancy of any persons but your petitioners, who claim said land as theirs absolutely by said grant as the heirs-at-law of said Luis Cabeza de Baca. Your petitioners further state that the only legitimate heirs-at-law of the said Luis Cabeza de Baca now living are the following: Luis Baca, Prudencio Baca, Jesus Baca 1st, Felipe Baca, Jesus Baca 2d, Domingo Baca, Manuel Baca, Rosa, Maria Josefa, and Juana Paula Baca, being children of the said Luis Cabeza de Baca. Your petitioners further state that the following children of said Luis Cabeza de Baca are dead, to wit: Juan Antonio Baca, José Baca, José Miguel Baca, Ramon Baca, Matio Baca, and Guadalupe Baca; that Juan Antonio Baca left him surviving the following children: Jesus Maria, Francisco Tomas, Incarnacion, José, Josefa, Guadalupe, Altagracia, Nicolas, Tomas, and Trinidad Baca; José Baca left him surviving the following children: Antonio, Felipe, José Maria, Francisco, Fernando, and Polonio Baca; José Miguel Baca left him surviving the following children: Diego, Quirina, Romaldo, Guadalupe, Paulina, and Martina Baca; Ramon Baca left him surviving the following heir and child: Ignacio Baca; Matio Baca left him surviving the following children: Luis Baca, Alejandro, Juan Dios, and Martin Baca; Guadalupe Baca died, leaving her surviving the following children: Ana Maria, Andres, Antonio, and Juana Trujillo. Your petitioners further state that the above list contains the names of all the living children and grandchildren of the said Luis Cabeza de Baca known to your petitioners, all of whom reside in the Territory of New Mexico, and are desirous of occupying and cultivating said lands so soon as the title can be investigated and their safety from Indian hostilities will permit. Your petitioners therefore ask that their title to said lands be investigated, and that such steps be taken in the premises as will secure to them the benefits of said grant and a legal title to the same, under the act of Congress of July 22, 1854, all of which is respectfully submitted.

Attorney for Petitioners.

TERRITORY OF NEW MEXICO, County of Santa Fé:

To the Hon. A. P. Wilbar, surveyor general of the Territory of New Mexico, under the act of Congress approved July 22, 1854:

Your petitioners, the surviving heirs-at-law of one Luis Maria Cabeza de Baca, deceased, would respectfully state to you that on the 23d day of May, 1815, the said Baca presented his petition to the governor of the province of New Mexico, asking for a grant of land to himself and children, at a place called Ojo del Espiritu Santo, situate in the county of Santa Ana, Territory of New Mexico. On the 24th day of May, 1815, the said grant was duly made of said land, by the governor of said province, and on the 13th day of June, 1815, the said Baca was duly placed in possession of the lands so granted, having for their boundaries the following points: on the east the summit of the Jemez mountain; on the west the Puerco river, and the point of the Prieto table-land; on the north the table-land commonly called La Ventana; on the south the cañon of La Querencia, and the boundary of the farm of Don Antonio Arimenta; all of which facts will more fully appear by reference to a copy of said petition, grant, and possession, hereby made a part of this petition, marked as Exhibit G herein.

Your petitioners further state that the said landmarks and boundaries are well known, and easily pointed out; but inasmuch as no survey of said land has ever been made, the quantity of land included in said boundaries is not known to your petitioners. Your petitioners further state that the said Luis Maria Cabeza de Baca in his lifetime occupied, cultivated, lived upon, and put valuable improvements upon said lands, and up to the time of his death, about the year 1830, continued to possess said lands without any other person claiming them, nor up to this time do your petitioners know of any adverse title to said lands.

Your petitioners further state that the said Luis Maria Cabeza de Baca, a short time before his death, was driven away from said lands by the hostility of the Navajo Indians, and it has not been since occupied on account of its exposure to the hostility of said Indians, who have been almost constantly at war, and which has prevented its occupancy by your petitioners. Your petitioners further state that said lands are not now in the actual possession of any one, nor are they claimed by any persons but your petitioners, who claim said land as theirs absolutely, by virtue of said grant, as the heirs-at-law of the said Luis Maria Cabeza de Baca. Your petitioners further state that, at the death of the said Luis Maria Cabeza de Baca, he left him surviving, as his heirs, the following children, to wit: Luis Baca, Prudencio Baca, Jesus Baca, sr., Jesus Baca, jr., Felipe Baca, Domingo Baca, Manuel Baca, Josefa Baca y Salas, Josefa Baca y Sanchez, Juan Antonio Baca, José Baca, José Miguel Baca, Ramon Baca, Matio Baca, Guadalupe Baca, Altagracia Baca, Rosa Baca, Juana Paula Baca.

The said Juan Antonio Baca died, leaving as his heirs, him surviving, the following children and heirs: Jesus Maria Baca, Francisco Tomas Baca, Encarnacion Baca, José Baca, Josefa Baca, Altagracia Baca, Nicolas Baca, Tomas Baca, Trinidad Baca, Cesaria Baca, Domingo Baca, Guadalupe Baca.

The said José Miguel Baca died, leaving the following children and heirs him surviving: Diego Baca, Quirina Baca, Romaldo Baca, Guadalupe Baca, Paulina Baca, and Martina Baca.

The said Ramon Baca died, leaving him surviving the following child and heir: Ignacio Baca.

The said Matio Baca died, leaving him surviving the following children and heirs: Luis Baca, Alejandro Baca, Juan de Dios Baca, Martin Baca.

The said José Baca died, leaving him surviving the following children and heirs: Antonio Baca, Felipe Baca, José Maria Baca, Francisco Baca, Fernando Baca, Polonia Baca.

Your petitioners further state that the above list contains the names of all the living children and grandchildren of the said Luis Maria Cabeza de Baca.

Your petitioners further state that Cesaria Baca, daughter of Juan Antonio Baca, is dead, and left her surviving the following children and heirs: Francisco Silva, Isabel Silva, Jesus Maria Silva, Benito Silva, Balentin Silva, and Manuel Silva.

The said Domingo Baca, son of the said Juan Antonio Baca, is dead, leaving him surviving the following children and heirs: Ysabel Baca, David Baca, Ulalia Baca, Santiago Baca, and Adaleida Baca.

The said Guadalupe Baca, daughter of said Luis Maria Cabeza de Baca, is dead, leaving her surviving the following children and heirs: Maria Trujillo, Antonio Trujillo, Andres Trujillo, Juana Trujillo, and Feliciana Trujillo.

Your petitioners further state that Rosa Baca, daughter of Luis Maria C. de Baca, died, leaving the following children and heirs: Francisco Baca, Dolores Baca, Josefa Salas.

Your petitioners further state that Juana Paula Baca, daughter of Luis Maria C. de Baca, died, leaving the following children and heirs: Antonio Garcia, Francisco Garcia, Iñez Garcia, Ana Maria Garcia, and Josefa Garcia.

Your petitioners further state that Feliciana Trujillo, daughter of Guadalupe Baca, is dead, leaving the following children and heirs her surviving: Josefa Lopez, Marto Lopez, Altagracia Lopez.

Your petitioners further state that all of said heirs are residents of the Territory of New Mexico, and desire to occupy and cultivate said land so soon as their title is confirmed, and they can do so with safety from the hostility of the Navajo Indians, now in a state of war.

Your petitioners further state that they have an absolute title in fee to said lands, and ask that the same be confirmed under the act of July 22, 1854, in order that they may obtain a legal title thereto, in conformity with the provisions of said act.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

CLAIM No. 44.

Grant.—Heirs of Luis Maria C. de Baca.—Testimony, document No. 5.

Deposition of José Francisco Sales, taken in claim 36.

THE HEIRS OF LUIS MARIA CABEZA DE BACA } vs.
 THE UNITED STATES. }

José Francisco Sales, being first duly sworn, upon his oath states :

Question. Where do you reside? Are you in any way related to the claimants, or have you any interest in this claim?

Answer. I live in Peña Blanca. I am not related to the claimants, nor have I any interest in the claim.

Question. Did you know Luis Maria Cabeza de Baca during his lifetime?

Answer. I did.

Question. When did he die?

Answer. I saw him die and was present when he was buried, but do not recollect exactly how long ago it was, but think it was in the year 1827.

Question. Please examine the list of children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren set forth in the petition in this case, and state who they are.

Answer. I have examined the list set forth in said petition, and it is a correct list of the names of all the children of Luis Maria Cabeza de Baca now living; also of the heirs of those that are dead.

Question. Where do said heirs reside?

Answer. In New Mexico.

Question. Are you acquainted with a grant of land made to Luis Maria Cabeza de Baca called Ojo del Espiritu Santo; and if so, state if it was ever occupied, cultivated, and improved by him in his lifetime; and if so, how long, and for what cause the occupancy was abandoned?

Answer. I am acquainted with said grant of land. It was occupied for about fifteen years by Luis Maria Cabeza de Baca; during which time a house and corrals were built upon it, and the lands extensively cultivated during the time he lived there. He was compelled to leave it on account of the hostility of the Navajo Indians. I remained there during about fifteen years, while Don Luis Maria C. de Baca was living on said grant, and after his death.

Question. State if it is occupied at present, or not; and if not occupied, why not?

Answer. It is still unoccupied. Its occupancy would be dangerous on account of the continued hostility of the Navajoes. Attempts were frequently made to settle there, but were unsuccessful on account of the Indians.

Question. What number of animals did he have on said grant during his residence there?

Answer. The number of mares, horses, and cattle which he had there was about eight hundred Question. Have you ever heard of any other person claiming said land, but the heirs of Luis Maria C. de Baca?

Answer. It never was claimed by any person but the said heirs.

Question. When Don Luis Maria C. de Baca first went there, was there any person living upon the grant?

Answer. It was several leagues beyond Jemez, and unoccupied up to the time he went there, with his family and hired men.

Manuel Hurtado, being first duly sworn, upon his oath states :

Question. Where do you reside? Are you related to the heirs of Luis Maria C. de Baca, or interested in this claim?

Answer. I live in the county of Santa Ana. I am not related to the heirs, nor interested in the claim.

Question. Do you know the place called Ojo del Espiritu Santo ; and if so, who owned and lived upon it?

Answer. I know the place ; it was owned by Don Luis Maria Cabeza de Baca, and was resided upon by him until he was driven away by the Navajo Indians, about the year 1816 or 1817. I went and assisted in removing him and his family, and what remained of his stock, from that place. He remained there a considerable length of time, but what number of years I cannot state. After the death of Don Luis Maria C. de Baca, it was occupied by his heirs until they were compelled to leave it on account of the hostility of the Indians.

Question (by the surveyor general.) Did you know, personally, the heirs of Luis Maria Cabeza de Baca, who occupied it after his death?

Answer. I did ; and my son-in-law went there with them, with their flocks and herds.

Question (by same.) Are the names mentioned in the petition by the attorney, J. S. Watts, familiar to you, and do you know them?

Answer. I do know them, and the names mentioned in the petition are correct.

CLAIM No. 44.

Grant.—Heirs of Luis Maria C. de Baca.—Report, document No. 6.

OPINION.

This claim, filed October 17, 1856, was called up for investigation 23d of October, 1860; is called Ojo del Espiritu Santo, and lies in Santa Ana county, Territory of New Mexico, bounded as follows, to wit: On the north by the table-land of the Ventana; on the east by the summit of the Jemez mountain; on the south by the cañon of La Querencia and the lands of Don Antonio Armenta, and on the west by the Rio Puerco and the point of the Prieto table-land.

On the 24th day of May, 1815, this grant was made by Don Alberto Maines, governor of New Mexico, according to the usages and customs of the Spanish government. On the 13th of June, 1815, said Baca was duly placed in possession of the lands so granted.

The petitioners, the heirs of Luis Maria Cabeza de Baca, pray a confirmation of this grant. The treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo between Mexico and the United States guarantees to every Mexican citizen his rights of property, which should be inviolably respected.—(Art. 8, treaty.)

In the case of the United States vs. Aredondo and others (6 Peters's Reports) the Supreme Court declares that Congress "have adopted as the basis of all their acts the principle that the law of the province in which the land is situated is the law which gives efficacy to the grant, and by which it is to be tested whether it was property at the time the treaties took effect." Now, it is clear that these lands were public domain at the time of granting; that said lands were granted by the proper officer in due form and custom of law, as is shown by the grant itself; that these lands were occupied by the grantee for a great number of years, until forced to leave from the hostility of the savages; and that this grant was respected as property at the time of the treaty between the United States and Mexico of 1848.

The testimony heard in this case proves the authenticity of the grant itself, the occupancy of the lands by the grantee and his children, the circumstances attending their difficulty with the savages, and the identity of the present claimants.

Therefore, in view of the entire merit of this claim, this office regards it as a perfect claim, and recommends its final confirmation by the Congress of the United States to the heirs of said Luis Maria Cabeza de Baca, who are the present claimants.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

MESSAGE

FROM

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,

TRANSMITTING

Correspondence in relation to Fort Sumter, &c.

FEBRUARY 8, 1861.—Referred to the select committee on the special message of the President of the United States, and ordered to be printed.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I deemed it a duty to transmit to Congress, with my message of the 8th of January, the correspondence which occurred in December last between the "commissioners" of South Carolina and myself.

Since that period, on the 14th January Colonel Isaac W. Hayne, the attorney general of South Carolina, called and informed me that he was the bearer of a letter from Governor Pickens to myself, which he would deliver the next day. He was, however, induced, by the interposition of Hon. Jefferson Davis and nine other senators from the seceded and seceding States, not to deliver it on the day appointed, nor was it communicated to me until the 31st of January, with his letter of that date. Their letter to him urging this delay bears date January 15, and was the commencement of a correspondence, the whole of which in my possession I now submit to Congress. A reference to each letter of the series, in proper order, accompanies this message.

WASHINGTON CITY, January 15, 1861.

SIR: We are apprised that you visit Washington as an envoy from the State of South Carolina, bearing a communication from the governor of your State to the President of the United States in relation to Fort Sumter. Without knowing its contents, we venture to request you to defer its delivery to the President for a few days, or until you and he have considered the suggestions which we beg leave to submit.

We know that the possession of Fort Sumter by troops of the United States, coupled with the circumstances under which it was taken, is the chief if not the only source of difficulty between the government of South Carolina and that of the United States. We would add, that we, too, think it a just cause of irritation and of apprehension on the part of your State. But we have also assurances, notwithstanding the circumstances under which Major Anderson left Fort Moultrie and entered Fort Sumter with the forces under his command, that it was not taken, and is not held, with any hostile or unfriendly purpose towards your State, but merely as property of the United States, which the President deems it his duty to protect and preserve.

We will not discuss the question of right or duty on the part of either government touching that property, or the late acts of either in relation thereto; but we think that, without any compromise of right or breach of duty on either side, an amicable adjustment of the matter of differences may and should be adopted. We desire to see such an adjustment, and to prevent war or the shedding of blood.

We represent States which have already seceded from the United States, or will have done so before the 1st of February next, and which will meet your State in convention on or before the 15th of that month. Our people feel that they have a common destiny with your people, and expect to form with them, in that convention, a new confederation and provisional government. We must and will share your fortunes—suffering with you the evils of war, if it cannot be avoided, and enjoying with you the blessings of peace, if it can be preserved. We therefore think it especially due from South Carolina to our States—to say nothing of other slaveholding States—that she should, as far as she can consistently with her honor, avoid initiating hostilities between her and the United States, or any other power. We have the public declaration of the President that he has not the constitutional power or the will to make war on South Carolina, and that the public peace shall not be disturbed by any act of hostility towards your State.

We therefore see no reason why there may not be a settlement of existing difficulties, if time be given for calm and deliberate counsel with those States which are equally involved with South Carolina. We therefore trust that an arrangement will be agreed on between you and the President, at least till the 15th February next, by which time your and our States may in convention devise a wise, just, and peaceable solution of existing difficulties.

In the meantime, we think your State should suffer Major Anderson to obtain necessary supplies of food, fuel, or water, and enjoy free communication, by post or special messenger, with the President, upon the understanding that the President will not send him re-enforcements during the same period. We propose to submit this proposition and your answer to the President.

If not clothed with power to make such arrangement, then we trust that you will submit our suggestions to the governor of your State for his instructions. Until you have received and communicated his response to the President, of course your State will not attack Fort Sumter, and the President will not offer to re-enforce it.

We most respectfully submit these propositions in the earnest hope that you, or the proper authorities of your State, may accede to them.

We have the honor to be, with profound esteem, your obedient servants,

WASHINGTON, January 17, 1861.

GENTLEMEN: I have received your communication dated the 15th instant. You say you represent States which have already seceded from the United States, or will have done so before the first of February next, and which will meet South Carolina in convention on or before the 15th of that month; that your people feel they have a common destiny with our people, and expect to form with them in that convention a new confederacy and provisional government; that you must and will share our fortunes, suffering with us the evils of war, if it cannot be avoided, and enjoying with us the blessings of peace, if it can be preserved.

I feel, gentlemen, the force of this appeal, and, so far as my authority extends, most cheerfully comply with your request. I am not clothed with power to make the arrangement you suggest, but, provided you can get assurances with which you are entirely satisfied that no re-enforcements will be sent to Fort Sumter in the interval, and that public peace will not be disturbed by any act of hostility towards South Carolina, I will refer your communication to the authorities of South Carolina, and, withholding the communication with which I am at present charged, will await further instructions.

Major Anderson and his command, let me assure you, do now obtain all necessary supplies, including fresh meat and vegetables, and I believe fuel and water, from the city of Charleston, and do now enjoy communication, by post and special messenger, with the President, and will continue to do so, certainly until the door to negotiation has been closed.

If your proposition is acceded to, you may assure the President that no attack will be made on Fort Sumter until a response from the governor of South Carolina has been received and communicated to him.

I am, with high consideration and profound esteem, your obedient servant,

ISAAC W. HAYNE.

SENATE CHAMBER, January 19, 1861.

SIR: We have been requested to present to you a copy of a correspondence between certain senators of the United States and Colonel Isaac W. Hayne, now in this city, on behalf of the government of South Carolina, and to ask that you will take into consideration the subject of said correspondence.

Very respectfully, your obedient servants,

His Excellency JAMES BUCHANAN,
President of the United States.

No. 4.

WAR DEPARTMENT, January 22, 1861.

GENTLEMEN: The President has received your communication of the 19th instant, with the copy of a correspondence between yourselves and others "representing States which have already seceded from the United States, or will have done so before the 1st of February next," and Colonel Isaac W. Hayne, of South Carolina, in behalf of the government of that State, in relation to Fort Sumter; and you ask the President to "take into consideration the subject of said correspondence." With this request he has respectfully complied, and has directed me to communicate to you his answer.

In your letter to Colonel Hayne, of the 15th instant, you propose to him to defer the delivery of a message from the governor of South Carolina to the President, with which he has been intrusted, for a few days, or until the President and Colonel Hayne shall have considered the suggestions which you submit. It is unnecessary to refer specially to these suggestions, because the letter addressed to you by Colonel Hayne, of the 17th instant, presents a clear and specific answer to them. In this he says: "I am not clothed with power to make the arrangement you suggest; but provided you can get assurances, with which you are entirely satisfied, that no re-enforcements will be sent to Fort Sumter in the interval, and that public peace will not be disturbed by any act of hostility towards South Carolina, I will refer your communication to the authorities of South Carolina, and, withholding the communication with which I am at present charged, will await further instructions."

From the beginning of the present unhappy troubles the President has endeavored to perform his executive duties in such a manner as to preserve the peace of the country and to prevent bloodshed. This is still his fixed purpose. You therefore do him no more than justice in stating that you have assurances (from his public messages, I presume) that, "notwithstanding the circumstances under which Major Anderson left Fort Moultrie and entered Fort Sumter with the forces under his command, it was not taken and is not held with any hostile or unfriendly purpose towards your State, but merely as property of the United States, which the President deems it his duty to protect and preserve." You have correctly stated what the President deems to be his duty. His sole object now is, and has been, to act strictly on the defensive, and to authorize no movement against the people of South Carolina, unless clearly justified by a hostile movement on their part. He could not well have given a better proof of his desire to prevent the effusion of blood than by forbearing to resort to the use of force under the strong provocation of an attack (happily without a fatal result) on an unarmed vessel bearing the flag of the United States.

I am happy to observe that, in your letter to Colonel Hayne, you express the opinion that it is "especially due from South Carolina to our States, to say nothing of other slaveholding States, that she should, as far as she can consistently with her honor, avoid initiating hostilities between her and the United States, or any other power." To initiate such hostilities against Fort Sumter would, beyond question, be an act of war against the United States.

In regard to the proposition of Colonel Hayne, "that no re-enforcements will be sent to Fort Sumter in the interval, and that public peace will not be disturbed by any act of hostility towards South Carolina," it is impossible for me to give you any such assurances. The President has no authority to enter into such an agreement or understanding. As an executive officer, he is simply bound to protect the public property, so far as this may be practicable; and it would be a manifest violation of his duty to place himself under engagements that he would not perform this duty either for an indefinite or a limited period. At the present moment, it is not deemed necessary to re-enforce Major Anderson, because he makes no such request, and feels quite secure in his position. Should his safety, however, require re-enforcements, every effort will be made to supply them.

In regard to an assurance from the President "that public peace will not be disturbed by any act of hostility towards South Carolina," the answer will readily occur to yourselves. To Congress, and to Congress alone, belongs the power to make war, and it would be an act of usurpation for the Executive to give an assurance that Congress would not exercise this power, however strongly he may be convinced that no such intention exists.

I am glad to be assured, from the letter of Colonel Hayne, that "Major Anderson and his command do now obtain all necessary supplies, including fresh meat and vegetables, and, I believe, fuel and water, from the city of Charleston, and do now enjoy communication, by post and special messenger, with the President, and will continue to do so, certainly until the door to negotiation has been closed." I trust that these facilities may still be afforded to Major Anderson. This is as it should be. Major Anderson is not menacing Charleston; and I am convinced that the happiest result which can be obtained is, that both he and the authorities of South Carolina shall remain on their present amicable footing, neither party being bound by any obligations whatever, except the high Christian and moral duty to keep the peace, and to avoid all causes of mutual irritation.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. HOLT,
Secretary of War ad interim.

Hons. JOHN SLIDELL, BEN. FITZPATRICK, and S. R. MALLORY.

No. 5.

WASHINGTON, January 24, 1861.

GENTLEMEN: I have received your letter of the 23d instant, enclosing a communication, dated the 22d instant, addressed to Messrs. Fitzpatrick, Mallory, and Slidell, from the Secretary of War ad interim. This communication from the Secretary is far from being satisfactory to me. But inasmuch as you state that "we (you) have no hesitation in expressing an entire confidence that no re-enforcement will be sent to Fort Sumter, nor will the public peace be disturbed, within the period requisite for full communication between yourself (myself) and your (my) government," in compliance with our previous understanding I withhold the communication with which I am at present charged, and refer the whole matter to the authorities of South Carolina, and will await their reply.

Mr. Gourdin, of South Carolina, now in this city, will leave here by the evening's train, and will lay before the governor of South Carolina and his council the whole correspondence between yourselves and myself, and between you and the government of the United States, with a communication from me asking further instructions.

I cannot, in closing, but express my deep regret that the President should deem it necessary to keep a garrison of troops at Fort Sumter for the protection of the "property" of the United States. South Carolina scorns the idea of appropriating to herself the property of another, whether of a government or an individual, without accounting to the last dollar for everything which, for the protection of her citizens or in vindication of her own honor and dignity, she may deem it necessary to take into her own possession. As property, Fort Sumter is in far greater jeopardy occupied by a garrison of United States troops than it would be if delivered over to the State authorities, with the pledge that, in regard to that and all other property within her jurisdiction claimed by the United States, South Carolina would fully account on a fair adjustment.

Upon the other point, of the preservation of peace and the avoidance of bloodshed, is it supposed that the occupation of a fort by armed men, in the midst of a harbor, with guns bearing on every part of it, under the orders of a government no longer acknowledged, can be other than the occasion of constant irritation, excitement, and indignation? It creates a condition of things which I fear is but little calculated to advance the observance of the "high Christian and moral duty, to keep the peace and to avoid all causes of mutual irritation," recommended by the Secretary of War in his communication.

In my judgment, to continue to hold Fort Sumter by the United States troops is the worst possible means of securing its protection and preservation as property, as it certainly is the worst possible means of effecting a peaceful solution of existing difficulties short of war itself.

I beg leave, in conclusion, to say that it is in deference to the unanimous opinion expressed by the senators present in Washington "representing States which have already seceded from the United States, or will have done so before the 1st of February next," that I comply with your suggestions; and I feel assured that suggestions from such a quarter will be considered with profound respect by the authorities of South Carolina, and will have great weight in determining their action.

With high consideration, I have the honor to be, very respectfully,
your obedient servant,

ISAAC W. HAYNE.

SENATE CHAMBER, January 28, 1861.

SIR: I have been requested by the gentlemen to whom, with myself, the accompanying letter from Colonel Isaac W. Hayne was addressed, to communicate the same to you.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

JOHN SLIDELL.

His Excellency JAMES BUCHANAN,
President of the United States.

No. 6.

WASHINGTON, January 31, 1861.

SIR: I had the honor to hold a short interview with you on the 14th instant, informal and unofficial. Having previously been informed that you desired that whatever was official should be, on both sides, conducted by written communications, I did not at that time present my credentials, but verbally informed you that I bore a letter from the governor of South Carolina, in regard to the occupation of Fort Sumter, which I would deliver the next day under cover of a written communication from myself. The next day, before such communication could be made, I was waited upon by a senator from Alabama, who stated that he came on the part of all the senators then in Washington from the States which had already seceded from the United States, or would certainly have done so before the first day of February next. The senator from Alabama urged that he and they were interested in the subject of my mission in almost an equal degree with the authorities of South Carolina. He said that hostilities commenced between South Carolina and your government would necessarily involve the States represented by themselves in civil strife; and fearing that the action of South Carolina might complicate the relations of your government to the seceded and seceding States, and thereby interfere with a peaceful solution of existing difficulties, these senators requested that I would withhold my message to yourself until a consultation among themselves could be had. To this I agreed, and the result of the consultation was the letter of these senators addressed to me, dated January 15, a copy of which is in your possession. To this letter I replied on the 17th, and a copy of that reply is likewise in your possession. This correspondence, as I am informed, was made the subject of a communication from Senators Fitzpatrick, Mallory, and Slidell, addressed to you, and your attention called to the contents. These gentlemen received on the —— day of January a reply to their application, conveyed in a letter addressed to them dated ——, signed by the Hon. J. Holt, Secretary of War ad interim. Of this letter you of course have a copy. This letter from Mr. Holt was communicated to me under cover of a letter from all the senators of the seceded and seceding States who still remained in Washington, and of this letter, too, I am informed you have been furnished with a copy.

This reply of yours, through the Secretary of War ad interim, to the application made by the senators was entirely unsatisfactory to me. It appeared to me to be not only a rejection in advance of the main proposition made by these senators, to wit: that "an arrangement should be agreed on" between the authorities of South Carolina and your government, "at least until the 15th of February next," by which time South Carolina and the States represented by the senators "might in convention devise a wise, just, and peaceable solution of existing difficulties." "In the meantime," they say, "we think," that is, these senators, "that your State (South Carolina) should suffer Major Anderson to obtain necessary supplies of food, fuel, or water, and enjoy free communication, by post or special messenger, with the President, upon the understanding that the President will not send him re-enforcements during the same period;" but, besides this rejection of the main proposition, there was, in Mr. Holt's letter, a distinct refusal to make any stipulation on the subject of re-enforcement, even for the short time that might be required to communicate with my government. This reply to the senators was, as I have stated, altogether unsatisfactory to me, and I felt sure would be so to the authorities whom I represented. It was not, however, addressed to me, or to the authorities of South Carolina; and as South Carolina had addressed nothing to your government, and had asked nothing at your hands, I looked not to Mr. Holt's letter, but to the note addressed to me by the senators of the seceded and seceding States. I had consented to withhold my message at their instance, provided they could get assurances satisfactory to them that no re-enforcements would be sent to Fort Sumter in the interval, and that the peace should not be disturbed by any act of hostility.

The senators expressed in their note to me of the 23d instant their entire confidence "that no re-enforcements will be sent to Fort Sumter, nor will the public peace be disturbed within the period requisite for full communication between your (myself) and your (my) government," and renewed their request that I would withhold the communication with which I stood charged, and await further instructions.

This I have done. The further instructions arrived on the 30th instant, and bear date the 26th. I now have the honor to make to you my first communication as special envoy from the government of South Carolina. You will find enclosed the original communication to the President of the United States from the governor of South Carolina, with which I was charged in Charleston on the 12th day of January instant, the day on which it bears date. I am now instructed by the governor of South Carolina to say that his opinion as to the propriety of the demand which is contained in this letter "has not only been confirmed by the circumstances which your (my) mission has developed, but is now increased to a conviction of its necessity. The safety of the State requires that the position of the President should be distinctly understood. The safety of all seceding States requires it as much as the safety of South Carolina. If it be so that Fort Sumter is held as property, then, as property, the rights, whatever they may be, of the United States can be ascertained, and for the satisfaction of these rights the pledge of the State of South Carolina you are (I am) authorized to give." "If Fort Sumter is not held as property, it is held," say my instructions, "as a military post, and such a post within the limits of South Carolina will not be tolerated." You will perceive that it is upon the presumption that it is solely as property that you continue to hold Fort Sumter that I have been selected for the performance of the duty upon which I have entered. I do not come as a military man to demand the surrender of a fortress, but as the legal officer of the State—its attorney general—to claim for the State the exercise of its undoubted right of eminent domain, and to pledge the State to make good all injury to the rights of property which arise from the exercise of the claim.

South Carolina, as a separate, independent sovereign, assumes the right to take into her own possession everything within her limits essential to maintain her honor or her safety, irrespective of the question of property, subject only to the moral duty requiring that compensation should be made to the owner. This right she cannot permit to be drawn into discussion. As to compensation for any property, whether of an individual or a government, which she may deem it necessary for her honor or safety to take into her possession, her past history gives ample guarantee that it will be made, upon a fair accounting, to the last dollar.

The proposition now is, that her law officer should, under authority of the governor and his council, distinctly pledge the faith of South Carolina to make such compensation in regard to Fort Sumter, and its appurtenances and contents, to the full extent of the money value of the property of the United States delivered over to the authorities of South Carolina by your command. I will not suppose that a pledge like this can be considered insufficient security. Is not the money value of the property of the United States in this fort, situated where it cannot be made available to the United States for any one purpose for which it was originally constructed, worth more to the United States than the property itself? Why then, as property, insist on holding it by an armed garrison? Yet such has been the ground upon which you have invariably placed your occupancy of this fort by troops—beginning prospectively with your annual message of the 4th December, again in your special message of the 9th January, and still more emphatically in your message of the 28th January. The same position is set forth in your reply to the senators, through the Secretary of War ad interim. It is there virtually conceded that Fort Sumter "is held merely as property of the United States, which you deem it your duty to protect and preserve." Again, it is submitted that the continuance of an armed possession actually jeopardizes the property you desire to protect. It is impossible but that such a possession, if continued long enough, must lead to collision. No people not completely abject and pusillanimous could submit indefinitely to the armed occupation of a fortress in the midst of the harbor of its principal city, and commanding the ingress and egress of every ship that enters the port—the daily ferry-boats that ply upon its waters moving but at the sufferance of aliens. An attack upon this fort would scarcely improve it as property, whatever the result; and if captured, it would no longer be the subject of account. To protect Fort Sumter merely as property, it is submitted that an armed occupancy is not only unnecessary, but that it is manifestly the worst possible means which can be resorted to for such an object.

Your reply to the senators, through Mr. Holt, declares it to be your sole object "to act strictly on the defensive, and to authorize no movement against South Carolina, unless justified by a hostile movement on their part." Yet, in reply to the proposition of the senators—that no re-enforcements should be sent to Fort Sumter, provided South Carolina agrees that during the same period no attack should be made—you say "it is impossible for me (your Secretary) to give you (the senators) any such assurance;" that "it would be manifest violation of his (your) duty, to place himself (yourself) under engagements that he (you) would not perform the duty, either for an indefinite or a limited period." In your message of the 28th instant, in expressing yourself in regard to a similar proposition, you say: "However strong may be my desire to enter into such an agreement, I am convinced that I do not possess the power. Congress, and Congress alone, under the war-making power, can exercise the discretion of agreeing to abstain 'from any and all acts calculated to produce a collision of arms' between this and any other government. It would, therefore, be a usurpation for the Executive to attempt to restrain their hands by an agreement in regard to matters over which he has no constitutional control. If he were thus to act, they might pass laws which he should be bound to obey, though in conflict with his agreement." The proposition, it is suggested, was addressed to you under the laws as they now are, and was not intended to refer to a new condition of things arising under new legislation. It was addressed to the executive discretion, acting under existing laws. If Congress should, under the war-making power, or in any other way, legislate in a manner to affect the peace of South Carolina, her interests, or her rights, it would not be accomplished in secret; South Carolina would have timely notice, and she would, I trust, endeavor to meet the emergency.

It is added, in the letter of Mr. Holt, that "at the present moment it is not deemed necessary to re-enforce Major Anderson, because he makes no such request, and feels quite secure in his position;" "but should his safety require it, every effort will be made to supply re-enforcements." This would seem to ignore the other branch of the proposition made by the senators, viz: that no attack was to be made on Fort Sumter during the period suggested, and that Major Anderson should enjoy the facilities of communication, &c., &c. I advert to this point, however, for the purpose of saying that to send re-enforcements to Fort Sumter could not serve as a means of protecting and preserving property; for, as must be known to your government, it would inevitably lead to immediate hostilities, in which property on all sides would necessarily suffer. South Carolina has every disposition to preserve the public peace, and feels, I am sure, in full force, those high "Christian and moral duties" referred to by your Secretary; and it is submitted that on her part there is scarcely any consideration of mere property, apart from honor and safety, which could induce her to do aught to jeopard that peace, still less to inaugurate a protracted and bloody civil war. She rests her position on something higher than mere property. It is a consideration of her own dignity as a sovereign, and the safety of her people, which prompts her to demand that this property should not longer be used as a military post by a government she no longer acknowledges. She feels this to be an imperative duty. It has, in fact, become an absolute necessity of her condition.

Repudiating, as you do, the idea of coercion, avowing peaceful intentions, and expressing a patriot's horror for civil war and bloody strife among those who once were brethren, it is hoped that, on further consideration, you will not, on a mere question of property, refuse the reasonable demand of South Carolina, which honor and necessity alike compel her to vindicate. Should you disappoint this hope, the responsibility for the result surely does not rest with her. If the evils of war are to be encountered, especially the calamities of civil war, an elevated statesmanship would seem to require that it should be accepted as the unavoidable alternative of something still more disastrous, such as national dishonor, or measures materially affecting the safety or permanent interests of a people; that it should be a choice deliberately made, and entered upon as war, and of set purpose. But that war should be the incident or accident attendant on a policy professedly peaceful, and not required to effect the object which is avowed, as the only end intended, can only be excused where there has been no warning given as to the consequences.

I am further instructed to say that South Carolina cannot, by her silence, appear to acquiesce in the imputation that she was guilty of an act of unprovoked aggression in firing on the "Star of the West." Though an unarmed vessel, she was filled with armed men, entering her territory against her will with the purpose of re-enforcing a garrison held within her limits against her protest. She forbears to recriminate by discussing the question of the propriety of attempting such a re-enforcement at all, as well as of the disguised and secret manner in which it was intended to be effected; and on this occasion she will say nothing as to the manner in which Fort Sumter was taken into the possession of its present occupants. The interposition of the senators who have addressed you was a circumstance unexpected by my government, and unsolicited certainly by me. The governor, while he appreciates the high and generous motives by which they were prompted, and while he fully approves the delay which, in deference to them, has taken place in the presentation of this demand, feels that it cannot longer be withheld.

I conclude with an extract from the instructions just received by me from the government of South Carolina. "The letter of the President, through Mr. Holt, may be received as the reply to the question you were instructed to ask, as to his assertion of his right to send re-enforcements to Fort Sumter. You were instructed to say to him, if he asserted that right, that the State of South Carolina regarded such a right, when asserted, or with an attempt at its exercise, as a declaration of war. If the President intends it shall not be so understood, it is proper, to avoid any misconception hereafter, that he should be informed of the manner in which the governor will feel bound to regard it. If the President, when you have stated the reasons which prompt the governor in making the demand for the delivery of Fort Sumter, shall refuse to deliver the fort upon the pledge you have been authorized to make, you will communicate that refusal without delay to the governor. If the President shall not be prepared to give you an immediate answer, you will communicate to him that his answer may be transmitted within a reasonable time to the governor at this place, (Charleston, South Carolina.) The governor does not consider it necessary that you (I) should remain longer in Washington than is necessary to execute this, the closing duty of your (my) mission, in the manner now indicated to you, (me.) As soon as the governor shall receive from you information that you have closed your mission, and the reply, whatever it may be, of the President, he will consider the conduct which will be necessary on his part."

Allow me to request that you would as soon as possible inform me whether, under these instructions, I need await your answer in Washington. And if not, I would be pleased to convey from you to my government information as to the time when an answer may be expected in Charleston.

With consideration, I have the honor to be, very respectfully,
ISAAC W. HAYNE,
Special Envoy.

His Excellency JAMES BUCHANAN, President.

STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
Headquarters, Charleston, January 12, 1861.

SIR: At the time of the separation of the State of South Carolina from the United States, Fort Sumter was and still is in possession of troops of the United States under the command of Major Anderson. I regard that possession as not consistent with the dignity or safety of the State of South Carolina, and have this day addressed to Major Anderson a communication to obtain from him the possession of that fort by the authorities of this State. The reply of Major Anderson informs me that he has no authority to do what I required; but he desires a reference of the demand to the President of the United States. Under the circumstances now existing, and which need no comment by me, I have determined to send to you the Hon. I. W. Hayne, the attorney general of the State of South Carolina, and have instructed him to demand the delivery of Fort Sumter, in the harbor of Charleston, to the constituted authorities of the State of South Carolina. The demand I have made of Major Anderson, and which I now make of you, is suggested because of my earnest desire to avoid the bloodshed which a persistence in your attempt to retain possession of that fort will cause, and which will be unavailing to secure to you that possession, but induce a calamity most deeply to be deplored. If consequences so unhappy shall ensue, I will secure for this State, in the demand which I now make, the satisfaction of having exhausted every attempt to avoid it.

In relation to the public property of the United States within Fort Sumter, the Hon. I. W. Hayne, who will hand you this communication, is authorized to give you the pledge of the State that the valuation of such property will be accounted for by this State upon the adjustment of its relations with the United States, of which it was a part.

F. W. PICKENS.

The PRESIDENT of the United States.

No. 7.

WAR DEPARTMENT, February 6, 1861.

SIR: The President of the United States has received your letter of the 31st ultimo, and has charged me with the duty of replying thereto.

In the communication addressed to the President by Governor Pickens, under date of the 12th of January, and which accompanies yours now before me, his excellency says: "I have determined to send to you the Hon. I. W. Hayne, the attorney general of the State of South Carolina, and have instructed him to demand the surrender of Fort Sumter, in the harbor of Charleston, to the constituted authorities of the State of South Carolina. The demand I have made of Major Anderson, and which I now make of you, is suggested because of my earnest desire to avoid the bloodshed which a persistence in your attempt to retain the possession of that fort will cause, and which will be unavailing to secure to you that possession, but induce a calamity most deeply to be deplored." The character of the demand thus authorized to be made appears (under the influence, I presume, of the correspondence with the senators to which you refer) to have been modified by subsequent instructions of his excellency, dated the 26th, and received by yourself on the 30th of January, in which he says: "If it be so that Fort Sumter is held as property, then, as property, the rights, whatever they may be, of the United States, can be ascertained, and for the satisfaction of these rights the pledge of the State of South Carolina you are authorized to give." The full scope and precise purport of your instructions, as thus modified, you have expressed in the following words: "I do not come as a military man to demand the surrender of a fortress, but as the legal officer of the State—its attorney general—to claim for the State the exercise of its undoubted right of eminent domain, and to pledge the State to make good all injury to the rights of property which arise from the exercise of the claim." And lest this explicit language should not sufficiently define your position, you add: "The proposition now is that her (South Carolina's) law officer should, under authority of the governor and his council, distinctly pledge the faith of South Carolina to make such compensation, in regard to Fort Sumter and its appurtenances and contents, to the full extent of the money value of the property of the United States delivered over to the authorities of South Carolina by your command." You then adopt his excellency's train of thought upon the subject, so far as to suggest that the possession of Fort Sumter by the United States, "if continued long enough, must lead to collision," and that "an attack upon it would scarcely improve it as property, whatever the result, and if captured, it would no longer be the subject of account."

The proposal, then, now presented to the President, is simply an offer on the part of South Carolina to buy Fort Sumter and contents as property of the United States, sustained by a declaration, in effect, that if she is not permitted to make the purchase she will seize the fort by force of arms. As the initiation of a negotiation for the transfer of property between friendly governments, this proposal impresses the President as having assumed a most unusual form. He has, however, investigated the claim on which it professes to be based, apart from the declaration that accompanies it. And it may be here remarked, that much stress has been laid upon the employment of the words "property" and "public property" by the President in his several messages. These are the most comprehensive terms which can be used in such a connexion, and surely, when referring to a fort or any other public establishment, they embrace the entire and undivided interest of the government therein.

The title of the United States to Fort Sumter is complete and incontestable. Were its interest in this property purely proprietary, in the ordinary acceptation of the term, it might probably be subjected to the exercise of the right of eminent domain; but it has also political relations to it of a much higher and more imposing character than those of mere proprietorship. It has absolute jurisdiction over the fort and the soil on which it stands. This jurisdiction consists in the authority to "exercise exclusive legislation" over the property referred to, and is therefore clearly incompatible with the claim of eminent domain now insisted upon by South Carolina. This authority was not derived from any questionable revolutionary source, but from the peaceful cession of South Carolina herself, acting through her legislature, under a provision of the Constitution of the United States. South Carolina can no more assert the right of eminent domain over Fort Sumter than Maryland can assert it over the District of Columbia. The political and proprietary rights of the United States in either case rest upon precisely the same ground.

The President, however, is relieved from the necessity of further pursuing this inquiry by the fact that, whatever may be the claim of South Carolina to this fort, he has no constitutional power to cede or surrender it. The property of the United States has been acquired by force of public law, and can only be disposed of under the same solemn sanctions. The President, as the head of the executive branch of the government only, can no more sell and transfer Fort Sumter to South Carolina than he can sell and convey the Capitol of the United State to Maryland or to any other State or individual seeking to possess it. His excellency the governor is too familiar with the Constitution of the United States, and with the limitations upon the powers of the Chief Magistrate of the government it has established, not to appreciate at once the soundness of this legal proposition.

The question of re-enforcing Fort Sumter is so fully disposed of in my letter to Senator Slidell and others, under date of the 22d of January, a copy of which accompanies this, that its discussion will not now be renewed. I then said: "At the present moment it is not deemed necessary to re-enforce Major Anderson, because he makes no such request. Should his safety, however, require re-enforcements, every effort will be made to supply them." I can add nothing to the explicitness of this language, which still applies to the existing status. The right to send forward re-enforcements when, in the judgment of the President, the safety of the garrison requires them, rests on the same unquestionable foundation as the right to occupy the fortress itself.

In the letter of Senator Davis and others to yourself, under date of the 15th ultimo, they say: "We therefore think it especially due from South Carolina to our States—to say nothing of other slaveholding States—that she should, as far as she can consistently with her honor, avoid initiating hostilities between her and the United States or any other power;" and you now yourself give to the President the gratifying assurance that "South Carolina has every disposition to preserve the public peace;" and since he is himself sincerely animated by the same desire, it would seem that this common and patriotic object must be of certain attainment. It is difficult, however, to reconcile with this assurance the declaration on your part that "it is a consideration of her (South Carolina's) own dignity as a sovereign, and the safety of her people, which prompts her to demand that this property should not longer be used as a military post by a government she no longer acknowledges," and the thought you so constantly present, that this occupation must lead to a collision of arms and the prevalence of civil war. Fort Sumter is in itself a military post, and nothing else; and it would seem that not so much the fact as the purpose of its use should give to it a hostile or friendly character. This fortress is now held by the government of the United States for the same objects for which it has been held from the completion of its construction. These are national and defensive; and were a public enemy now to attempt the capture of Charleston or the destruction of the commerce of its harbor, the whole force of the batteries of this fortress would be at once exerted for their protection. How the presence of a small garrison, actuated by such a spirit as this, can compromise the dignity or honor of South Carolina, or become a source of irritation to her people, the President is at a loss to understand. The attitude of that garrison, as has been often declared, is neither menacing, nor defiant, nor unfriendly. It is acting under orders to stand strictly on the defensive; and the government and people of South Carolina must well know that they can never receive aught but shelter from its guns, unless, in the absence of all provocation, they should assault it and seek its destruction. The intent with which this fortress is held by the President is truthfully stated by Senator Davis and others in their letter to yourself of the 15th January, in which they say: "It is not held with any hostile or unfriendly purpose towards your State, but merely as property of the United States, which the President deems it his duty to protect and preserve."

If the announcement so repeatedly made, of the President's pacific purposes in continuing the occupation of Fort Sumter until the question shall have been settled by competent authority, has failed to impress the government of South Carolina, the forbearing conduct of his administration for the last few months should be received as conclusive evidence of his sincerity. And if this forbearance, in view of the circumstances which have so severely tried it, be not accepted as a satisfactory pledge of the peaceful policy of this administration towards South Carolina, then it may be safely affirmed that neither language nor conduct can possibly furnish one. If, with all the multiplied proofs which exist of the President's anxiety for peace, and of the earnestness with which he has pursued it, the authorities of that State shall assault Fort Sumter, and peril the lives of the handful of brave and loyal men shut up within its walls, and thus plunge our common country into the horrors of civil war, then upon them and those they represent must rest the responsibility.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. HOLT,
Secretary of War.

Hon. I. W. HAYNE,
Attorney General of the State of South Carolina.

P. S.—The President has not, as you have been informed, received a copy of the letter to yourself from the senators, communicating that of Mr. Holt of the 22d of January.

UNITED STATES ARSENAL AT ST. LOUIS.

FROM

THE SECRETARY OF WAR

TRANSMITTING

A report of the chief of ordnance, stating objections to the bill now pending for the removal of the arsenal at St. Louis.

FEBRUARY 11, 1861.—Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs, and ordered to be printed.

WAR DEPARTMENT, February 9, 1861.

SIR: I have the honor to enclose to you, for the information of the House of Representatives, a report of the chief of ordnance, communicating certain objections to the bill now pending before that body, providing for the removal of the United States arsenal at St. Louis.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. HOLT,
Secretary of War.

HON. WM. PENNINGTON,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

ORDNANCE OFFICE,
Washington, February 1, 1861.

SIR: I have just seen a copy of House bill No. 132, present session, "to remove the United States arsenal from the city of St. Louis, and to provide for the sale of the lands on which the same is located," and I consider it to be my duty to present to you the following objections to the bill, and to ask such action on your part as you may deem advisable.

The St. Louis arsenal is now the only United States arsenal in the States watered by the Ohio, Mississippi, and Missouri rivers which is capable of receiving any adequate quantity of ordnance stores, or of making or repairing such stores ; and if a part of its site should be at once sold, as contemplated by the bill, great inconvenience to its operations will ensue. The erection of the necessary buildings at Jefferson Barracks for receiving the stores and carrying on the operations could not be accomplished in much less than three years, even if there were money now in the treasury already appropriated for that purpose. But it is questionable how far it would be advisable to use the Jefferson Barracks tract for the purpose, not because the United States title to it has been questioned, but because its fitness in a military point of view has been doubted.

The time and manner of sale contemplated by the bill are also, I think, objectionable. There should be no sale till we have removed from the site altogether, as a curtailment of its present dimension will seriously embarrass us. And when we do sell, it should be in but one or two parcels at most, to correspond with the two deeds under which we hold. All deeds heretofore made by the United States for arsenal sites, abandoned and sold in pursuance of law, have conveyed only "all the right, title, and interest of the United States" in the same, according to the boundaries described and quoted from the deeds under which we hold. The only departure from this was in the sale of a portion of the lands of the United States armory at Harper's Ferry in 1852, which we divided into town lots; and of the 160 separate purchases then made, 42 are still delinquent of payment in full.

I think that the only way to avoid embarrassment to the public service in breaking up the present arsenal will be for Congress to pass an act authorizing the President to procure some suitable site in the State of Missouri or Illinois, and to cause to be erected thereon an arsenal of construction ; and appropriate for that purpose, in three annual instalments, the sum of $300,000. And further enacting that as soon as such arsenal shall be in a condition to receive the stores from the present United States arsenal in St. Louis, the same shall be removed thereto, and the St. Louis arsenal be sold at public auction, and the proceeds thereof be paid into the United States treasury

The copy of the bill referred to is herewith enclosed.

I have the honor to be, sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant,
H. K. CRAIG,
Colonel of Ordnance.

Hon. J. HOLT,
Secretary of War.

ADDITIONAL ESTIMATE FOR FORT KEARNEY, SOUTH
PASS, AND HONEY LAKE WAGON ROAD.

FROM

THE ACTING SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR,

TRANSMITTING

A communication from Colonel Lander in regard to the Fort Kearney, South Pass and Honey Lake wagon road.

FEBRUARY 11, 1861.—Referred to the Committee of Ways and Means, and ordered to be printed.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
February 11, 1861.

SIR: I have the honor to enclose herewith, for the consideration of Congress, a communication from F. W. Lander, superintendent of the Fort Kearney, South Pass, and Honey Lake wagon road, and several petitions, numerously signed by emigrants, in reference to the construction of a bridge across Green river and some of the smaller streams in that vicinity and along said road.

There will remain about $10,000 balance of the appropriation of the above road applicable to this object; and I would respectfully call the attention of Congress to this work as being of great importance to the overland emigration, and recommend that the additional sum of $15,000 be appropriated to accomplish it.

I am, sir, respectfully, your obedient servant,

MOSES KELLY,
Acting Secretary.

Hon. WM. PENNINGTON,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

WASHINGTON, January 5, 1861.

SIR: The subject of the construction of a bridge across Green river has been repeatedly referred to in my reports of previous years. In that of 1859 I related the fact of my stationing a party of men at that river, equipped with ropes and excellent mule teams, by the aid of which the emigrants crossed it without much difficulty, although some property was lost by them and one individual drowned. At that time the emigrants drew up two petitions asking that this river might be bridged, which, bearing several thousand signatures, in fact, the names of all the male individuals of their trains, were brought by me to Washington and referred to your department.

Last summer, while constructing the western division, I again met the emigration, and learned from it that, from the changes of the river bars, the ford had become nearly impracticable.

The emigrants argue, with much force, that after leaving the old road at South Pass they make several days' journey before reaching Green river. They have then either to attempt its passage, at much risk of property and life, or return to the ferry of the old road by an additional travel of two hundred miles. The force of the current over the sand bars at the new crossing is such as to preclude the establishment of a ferry.

The News Fork is another very dangerous and difficult crossing on the new road, as well as Smith's Fork of Bear river. If you should decide to expend the balance of the appropriation in the construction of a bridge at Green river, it would be expedient to add the sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) to the amount remaining of the appropriation and bridge the river below its junction with the News Fork. This sum would also enable a party, once equipped and in the field, to bridge the Smith's Fork of Bear river.

Your instructions of previous years have been so explicit on the subject of not erecting costly bridges, that I could not do more than lay these facts before you in my yearly reports. The view you have hitherto taken, that the bridges would be destroyed by the mountain traders owning ferries on the old roads, is undoubtedly a correct one; but if the important crossing of Green river is to be bridged, the expedition might be directed to erect there a common block-house and blacksmith's forge, and furnish them rent free to any reliable mountaineer of former expeditions. There are several individuals who, if thus provided for, would be glad to remain at the bridge and keep it in order for travel. I cannot apprehend the destruction of a properly constructed bridge by fire.

INDIANS.

It would be highly expedient to furnish the building party with at least one thousand dollars ($1,000) worth of Indian goods, to procure the further good behavior of the Washikee band of Snake Indians. The well known probity of Washikee would render any agreement made with him for the protection of the bridge a perfectly safe one.

Should you direct the expedition to then pass on towards California, which, regarding the sale of stock, would be the most economical course, I have the honor to again most urgently refer to my late report to the honorable Commissioner of Indian Affairs, detailing the causes and circumstances of the late Pah-Ute Indian war. By a conditional armistice concluded by me with the leading war chief of this tribe, hostilities were suspended by both the Indians and the emigrants and border whites for the space of one year. But, on the part of the Indians, it was with the express condition that I should lay the statement of the chief before the authorities at Washington, and use my best endeavors to procure some recognition of the claims of the tribe by government.

It will be impossible to again pass the unprotected emigration through this tribe, as I was enabled to do last summer, unless steps are taken to prove to the Indians the disposition of the government to notice their complaints. I have every reason to know that the Pah-Utes have, until very recently, been in league with the Shoshocos, and if I had possessed the authority to visit the latter as well as the Pah-Ute chief, that the massacre of emigrants, referred to in my report as having taken place near Salmon Falls, might have been prevented. While the Shoshocos held the upper road to Oregon, the Pah-Utes had assembled in large numbers along that to California, and were concentrating to attack the trains when the armistice was made.

Referring to my Indian report for further information, I would respectfully suggest that, if the expedition be ordered to California, such a portion of the Indian funds as you may deem expedient may be placed at the disposal of the officer in charge, that he may visit the Pah-Utes and lay before them your views on the subject of their application. Without wishing to intrude upon the province of the regular agent of this tribe, I have simply to say that, being thoroughly acquainted with their northern haunts and the points at which they usually assail emigrants, I should consider it a most cheerful duty to again visit them, and prevent their attacking trains.

Should you instruct me to do so, I have no doubt of being able to prevail on the principal chiefs to accompany me to Washington and execute a treaty here.

They desire to sell the lands now occupied by whites, or adjacent to the settlements, and thus create a fund out of which they can be taught to farm.

If these or other steps are taken I have reason to believe that the passage of the Pah-Ute Indian country will be practicable to emigrants, and that the war of western Utah will not be reopened by those savages at the close of the stipulated year.

The California road between Fort Hall and Tutt's Meadows on the Humboldt should either be protected by mounted rangers or by cavalry, directed to keep the field from June 15 to the middle of September.

This line of country is occupied by the Shoshocos or Western Snakes and Pannacks, during the passage of the emigrants, and the late trains are invariably attacked. The band of Snakes which frequents Salmon Falls on the Oregon road, during the fishing season, have numerous trails crossing the cañon country which divides Snake river from the Humboldt, and direct their aggressions towards either road as opportunities offer. No engagements made with these Indians can be regarded reliable until they are thoroughly chastised.

If the regular troops are not directed by the War Department to keep the field until all the trains have reached the Pah-Ute line, there will be no safety for emigrants while passing through the Snake country.

If it should be incompatible with your views to carry out so extensive a programme as is herewith submitted, or if Congress should fail to pass the additional appropriation, I have the honor to suggest that the balance of the funds now on hand be applied to the bridging of Green river, by a contract with some responsible party who will give bonds to keep the structure in repair, by being permitted to charge a low rate of toll, say one-tenth part of the price per wagon now paid by emigrants at the ferries of the old road.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

F. W. LANDER,
Superintendent.

Hon. JACOB THOMPSON,
Secretary of the Interior.

We, the undersigned, emigrants to California and Oregon, having just passed with our wagons and stock over the new government road from the South Pass to Fort Hall, (called Lander's Cut-Off,) do hereby state that the road is abundantly furnished with good grass, water, and fuel; there is no alkali and no desert, as upon the old road, and while upon it our stock improved and rapidly recovered from sickness and lameness. We were much surprised at the great amount of labor that had been done in cutting out the timber and bridging and grading the road, and in all respects it more than met our expectations, especially those of us who have heretofore travelled the other routes. But we would most respectfully suggest that a bridge should be erected, as soon as possible, over Green river, the fording of which is dangerous and the cause of much trouble to the emigration, and in one instance the loss of life. We have been treated kindly and, in every case where the circumstances required it, aided and assisted on our way by the wagon road expedition, and we have likewise received the kindest treatment from the Indians, and we advise the overland emigration to California and Oregon to take this road, as the shortest and best adapted for the comforts of the traveller and the preservation of stock, especially if the government, in view of the many advantages of this route, should cause Green river to be bridged.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, City and County of San Francisco, ss.

E. P. Ream, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is acquainted with H. Seemann, whose name is written at the head of the list of names on this sheet ; that the said Seemann acknowledged to this deponent that this is his genuine signature, and also that he wrote the names following his at the request of the said parties thereto, who were members of a train of emigrants under his lead, bound to California.

E. P. REAM.

Subscribed and sworn to before me October 25, 1859.

HENRY HAIGT, Notary Public.

FORT HALL,
Oregon Territory, July 15, 1858.

This is to certify that we, the undersigned, have travelled over the Pacific wagon road, better known as Lander's Cut-Off, and find it a very acceptable road for emigrants. We think it preferable to any other road across the mountains in many respects; most of the way it is well worked, and with a bridge across Green river (the only stream at all troublesome) it would be as good a road as many now travelled in the States ; it is some five days' travel shorter than any other road across the mountains. There is no desert to cross on this route, no alkali to kill your stock ; but instead, plenty of good water, abundance of grass, and wood enough to satisfy any reasonable man. Many of the undersigned have crossed by other routes, and give this the preference.

Oliver Bowers, Illinois.

We, the undersigned, emigrants to California and Oregon, having just passed, with our wagons and stock, over the new government road from the South Pass to Fort Hall, (called Lander's Cut-Off,) do hereby state that the road is abundantly furnished with good grass, water, and fuel; there is no alkali and no desert, as upon the old road, and while upon it our stock improved and rapidly recovered from sickness and lameness.

We were much surprised at the great amount of labor that has been done in cutting out the timber and bridging and grading the road, and in all respects it more than met our expectations, especially those of us who have heretofore travelled the other routes; but we would respectfully suggest that a bridge should be erected as soon as possible over Green river, the fording of which is dangerous and the cause of much trouble to the emigration, and in one instance the loss of life.

We have been treated kindly and, in every case where the circumstances required it, aided and assisted on our way by the wagon road expedition, and we have likewise received the kindest treatment from the Indians; and we advise the overland emigration to California and Oregon to take this road, as the shortest and best adapted for the comfort of the traveller and the preservation of stock, especially if the government, in view of the advantages of this route, should cause Green river to be bridged.

The undersigned, emigrants from Iowa and other States to California, desire to state, for the benefit of those who may emigrate hereafter, that they travelled the road leading by Salt Lake and found it very mountainous and rough, and most of the streams on said road were bridged and ferries established, over which exorbitant tolls were exacted for the passage of trains and teams; and where there were no bridges or ferries over the streams the fords were not only difficult but dangerous. They would also state, for the benefit of those who may emigrate hereafter, that they were compelled to pay from twenty-five cents to five cents per head a night for pasturage of their stock at Salt Lake and as far up as Bear river, a distance of nearly one hundred miles. That for about one hundred and twenty-five miles from the South Pass, towards Salt Lake City, the country was nearly destitute of grass, and might almost be called a barren waste, and the road strewn with carcasses and bones of dead animals lost the present and past seasons, caused doubtless by the great scarcity of grass; and they especially advise all future emigrants not to travel the Salt Lake road.

MAPS AND REPORTS OF THE FORT KEARNEY, SOUTH
PASS, AND HONEY LAKE WAGON ROAD.

FROM

THE ACTING SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR,

TRANSMITTING

Reports and maps of the Fort Kearney, South Pass, and Honey Lake wagon road.

FEBRUARY 11, 1861.—Laid upon the table, and ordered to be printed.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
February 11, 1861.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith the reports and maps of F. W. Lander, superintendent of the Fort Kearney, South Pass, and Honey Lake wagon road, upon his operations during the years 1859 and 1860, and respectfully suggest that they be printed, and that two hundred and fifty copies be placed at the disposal of this department for distribution.

I am, sir, respectfully, your obedient servant,

MOSES KELLY,
Acting Secretary.

Hon. WM. PENNINGTON,
Speaker House of Representatives.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR PACIFIC WAGON ROADS.

Reports of F. W. Lander, esq., superintendent of the Fort Kearney, South Pass, and Honey Lake wagon roads, for 1859 and 1860, made under the direction of the honorable Jacob Thompson, Secretary of the Interior.

WASHINGTON CITY, March 1, 1860.

SIR: Your instructions of March 25, 1859, directed me to proceed to the frontier and thence to the south pass of the Rocky mountains; to go over the road opened last year, make such improvement upon it as might be necessary; thereafter, to proceed to Honey Lake valley, by the Humboldt river route, for the purpose of obtaining a continuous survey over the whole road and further information of a route said to exist north of that river, or of such a route as might be developed by examination.

I was then directed to take immediate steps to close up operations at some convenient point, by disposing of all the public property in my possession to the best possible advantage to the government, to discharge such assistants as were not necessary for office service, and thence proceed to this place and prepare a final report of my operations.

The disbursement of the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) was placed under my direction for the purpose of making peaceful arrangements with the Indian tribes through which this road passes; in reference to which I received special instructions from the Acting Commissioner of Indian Affairs, and was directed to report to him thereon. This Indian report has already been made to the Hon. A. B. Greenwood, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, and the accounts rendered.

As my report of January 20, 1859, embraced a description of the new road from the South Pass to the City of Rocks and an emigrant guide; and as at various points during the progress of the expedition of the present season I have fully informed you of its operations, this statement may be regarded as a brief recapitulation.

It was thought expedient to despatch an efficiently organized advance party, under the direction of Wm. H. Wagner, esq., the efficient and energetic engineer of the expedition, to explore and map the entire country north and in the vicinity of the Humboldt River valley. This party devoted the whole summer to exploration, and met with great success. The able report of Mr. Wagner, which is herewith transmitted, and one by the same gentleman on Indian affairs, (which has been forwarded to the Hon. A. B. Greenwood, Commissioner,) contain valuable information, and cover the subjects referred to.

It was also thought expedient to send to Salt Lake City with this advance party, Mr. C. C. Wrenshall, a gentleman who had already distinguished himself for energy and efficiency while connected with the expedition the year before. Mr. Wrenshall was directed to relieve Mr. J. C. Campbell, who had been in charge of that portion of the expedition which wintered in the Mormon settlements, and who was required for service with Mr. Wagner. Under his instructions Mr.

SOUTH PASS, AND HONEY LAKE WAGON ROAD.

Wrenshall organized a party of Mormons, loaded a train with flour, collected the tools and other property left at Salt Lake, proceeded to the western end of the new road, and commenced the repair of it, working towards the South Pass. His operations have been eminently successful, and I recommend him to your favorable notice.

The main expedition, under my direction, reached the South Pass on the 24th of June. During its passage to that point large numbers of the returning and destitute emigrants to the Pike's Peak gold mines were met and relieved; many of these men were permitted to join the train, and were afterwards of service in repairing and completing the new road. On reaching the South Pass, Mr. E. L. Yates was left at that point with an express rider and a small party of employés in charge of the provisions and property moved up from Fort Laramie. His especial duty was to inform emigrants of the completion of the new road, to give them information about it, and to furnish guides to those who desired to adopt it. He has performed this service to my satisfaction. From the delay in printing last year's Emigrant Guide, transmitted to the department January 20th, 1859, a great deal of labor has been thrown on the expedition in preparing guides, one thousand of them having been written and furnished emigrants.

Timothy Goodale, a mountaineer who resided at the South Pass, has rendered efficient aid to Mr. Yates and to the expedition, and has been specially recommended by me to the honorable Commissioner of Indian Affairs as a suitable agent to reside in that country and to act between emigrants who may desire to take the new road and the Indians who inhabit the country through which it passes. A slight affray occurred between Goodale and a party of traders from Salt Lake City, who endeavored to prevent emigrants from taking the new road, and who gave them false reports in regard to it. Much difficulty was experienced by emigrants in crossing the main Green river; they were efficiently aided while the expedition remained at that point by B. F. Burche, wagonmaster of the train, and his principal assistants. After the train left the river a new crossing was adopted by some emigrants a few rods above the one staked out by me. Below this new ford there was a rapid current and swimming water. One of the emigrants was swept off the sand bar into this deep water and drowned. On hearing of this accident a new road was laid out five miles above the usual crossing, over which trains afterwards crossed with safety.

The season has been an unusual one; the mountain streams swollen by constant rains, and Green river higher than ever known before in the memory of the oldest mountaineers. These rains compelled the necessity of moving the new road from where originally built along the river bottoms, which became impassable, to the high ground in their vicinity. Large jobs of grading were required, and at one time over one hundred and fifty (150) men, hired from among the emigrants, were employed upon the road. It may now be regarded as an excellent highway, and passable under any event or contingency arising from such causes. Over nine thousand emigrants have signed a petition requesting that Green river may be bridged, and as this road will undoubtedly become the great thoroughfare of stock-drovers and ox-team emigrants to California and Oregon, the subject is well worthy of your consideration. The river has a quick-sand, shifting bottom, and is undoubtedly dangerous at extreme high water to inexperienced travellers who do not understand hunting a ford. But all the great stock-drovers crossed the stream this unprecedented season, and my own train and the wagons of the expedition, constantly passing backwards and forwards to the South Pass for provisions and supplies, never experienced any difficulty.

In my own opinion there are numerous small mountain streams which, towards the close of the emigration, became bad and muddy crossings from the immense travel which passed over the road, and which might be bridged as profitably to the emigration as Green river.

It may be apprehended that the mountain traders, who have already moved their stations to this new road, will place common pole bridges upon these streams and charge toll for them. Green river and these smaller streams cannot be bridged for less than thirty thousand dollars, ($30,000,) and as your instructions did not direct me to do other than build a passable wagon road, I have not felt justified in incurring this additional expense without further instructions.

In reference to further instructions for this purpose, I refer to that portion of my report embraced under the heading of "All lines of travel west from the South Pass."

The main expedition joined that of Mr. Wrenshall, who had repaired and completed the western end of the road, on the 1st of August. Immediate arrangements were made for breaking up the party and discharging the employés. Wrenshall was directed to return to Salt Lake City, dispose of the public property in his charge to the best advantage, pay off employés, settle all bills out of sales of property, and report to me at Washington City. He was instructed to take charge of the property at the South Pass, dispose of it, or receive the report of Mr. E. L. Yates as to the disposition of it.

In the meantime a small party was despatched to the States under the direction of B. F. Burche, wagonmaster of the expedition. This party included those individuals who did not desire to go on to California. They were allowed to purchase at cost, paying for it out of the amount due them, transportation, and were given rations for their return trip.

The expedition then made rapid marches towards Humboldt river for the purpose of joining Wm. H. Wagner and the advance engineering corps, and overtook that party on the 31st of August. After halting one day the train moved forward to Honey Lake valley.

On its way to Honey Lake valley service was rendered to emigrants attacked by Indians. Full details of the circumstances of this collision, which resulted in loss of life, are embraced in my report to the honorable Indian Commissioner of February 18, 1860.

On arriving at Honey Lake valley the train was halted for two weeks, that the animals might recruit prior to a passage over the mountains to California. During this time I visited the principal stock markets of that State, and concluded to sell the mules, wagons, and harness at Marysville and Sacramento City. The animals brought a profit on first cost.

While closing up the affairs of the expedition and paying off employés from sales of property, Mr. Wagner was directed to report in Washington City, and brought on to you my preliminary statement of the result of the summer's work.

A Bierstadt, esq., a distinguished artist of New York, and S. F. Frost, of Boston, accompanied the expedition with a full corps of artists, bearing their own expenses. They have taken sketches of the most remarkable of the views along the route, and a set of stereoscopic views of emigrant trains, Indians, camp scenes, &c., which are highly valuable and would be interesting to the country. I have no authority by which they can be purchased or made a portion of this report.

A map of the western division, drawn by Mr. John R. Key, under the direction of Wm. H. Wagner, esq., is herewith transmitted. An embodiment upon one sheet of the eastern, central, and western division of this road would seem expedient.

All lines of travel west from the South Pass.

In reference to any further expenditures upon this road, I have to lay before you the following statement, which, in view of your very particular instructions, both to Superintendent Magraw and myself, becomes highly important.

In the "Alta California," of September 20, appeared the following statement:

"CAMP ROUND PRAIRIE, U. T.,
 "(En route for Fort Leavenworth,)
 "August 20, 1859.

"EDITORS ALTA: Believing that the publication of the enclosed itinerary of my return route from Genoa to Camp Floyd, in a paper of the extended circulation of the Alta, ought to prove of value to overland emigrants, I send it to you for this purpose. My outward route was greatly superior to what I had been led to expect from the popular notions of the country traversed; but my return route, which was still farther south, I found still better. Emigrants will find either of these routes about three hundred miles shorter than the old City of Rocks and Humboldt route, and about one hundred and forty-four miles shorter than the present postal route. Besides, from all I have heard and read of either of these routes, there can be but little doubt that in all the essentials of a good emigrant road, namely, wood, water, and grass, it will be found incomparably better. Both the outward and return route have these requisites to a superior degree; but in point of grade, the return route is much the best, and I therefore recommend it in preference. It is this route an itinerary of which I enclose. Stock-drivers will find the route of great value early in the spring and late in the fall as well as in the summer.

"Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

"J. H. SIMPSON,
 "Captain Topographical Engineers."

You have called my attention to a letter of Chief Justice Eckles, of Utah, addressed to you on the subject of Indian massacres. In this letter appears this remarkable paragraph :

“The road by this camp (Camp Floyd) recently made by the army is more than three hundred miles the nearest and much the best road from the States to California, and the public would soon follow it but for interestedly false representations made to emigrants.”

The annual report of the honorable Secretary of War contains the following:

“Captain J. H. Simpson, of the Topographical Engineers, has, during the past season, explored and opened two new routes from Camp Floyd to California, either of which is about two hundred and fifty miles shorter than the old emigrant route by the way of the Humboldt river, and far better for grass, wood, and water. Over both these routes he conducted a party of sixty-five men and a train of fourteen wagons, and, since his return to Camp Floyd, many emigrants with large herds of cattle have passed over the route by which he returned, which is the better of the two. Itineraries for both have been furnished to the public through the press in California and Utah. The saving in time of travel by these roads to emigrants for California is about fifteen days, and for the mails about four. The saving in stock and draught cattle on these routes over those formerly travelled, owing to pure water and abundant grass, is estimated at twenty-five per cent.”

All these statements refer to roads laid out by Captain J. H. Simpson, south of Salt Lake City, across the lower desert and intervening mountains which extend from Camp Floyd to Carson Valley.

They are not confined to the fact that the route described is an excellent mail road for winter travel, which is universally conceded by all the mountaineers, but absolutely direct and advise the overland emigrants to take it. The earlier emigrants would arrive upon it the last of July. The emigration would travel it during August and September. At this time the snow pools and springs of the lower sand plains are in a measure dried up, and tired stock would suffer greatly for grass and water. It is at the season when the cattle of California, Oregon, and Utah are driven into the more elevated mountain valleys. The sufferings already encountered by the less experienced of the Pike's Peak emigrants, who were directed to travel other routes than the well-known ones of the Arkansas and Great Platte Valleys, demand that a full statement of facts, not only in regard to the road you directed me to build, but also of the Simpson route, should now be laid before you.

In previous reports to you I have never thought it my duty to refer to other routes than the one in my charge, and in fact have ever confined myself to explicit statements as to the work itself. In a guide written to give information to overland travellers, and embraced in my report to you of last year, the only advice given was :

“You must remember that this new road has been recently graded and is not yet trodden down ; and, with the exception of grass, water, wood, shortened distance, no tolls, fewer hard-pulls and descents, and avoiding the desert, will not be the first season as easy for heavily loaded trains as the old road, and not until a large emigration has passed over it.

“All stock-drivers should take it at once. All parties whose stock is in bad order should take it, and I believe the emigration should take it, and will be much better satisfied with it, even the first season, than with the old road.”

My instructions to Edmund L. Yates, esq., road agent of the South Pass, written in reply to this notification, that interested individuals were endeavoring to turn emigrants away from the new road, informs him that, “respecting the traders of Green river and Mormon agents, we cannot do more than simply inform the emigrants of the actual facts in regard to our road. Let them choose which of the two roads they care to travel; it is nothing to us; we simply and plainly obey instructions from the department; therefore do not persuade any one to take the road, although we know it to be the best.”

The route has never been reported by me as suitable for an overland mail, but I have repeatedly stated that it was utterly unfit for an overland mail, and in my report of January 20, 1859, said: “If it is to be held that the new road is to be used as a winter mail route across the continent, then it is not properly placed. It is especially and emphatically an emigrant road, so located as to avoid the tolls of bridges, alkali plains and deleterious and poisonous waters, and to furnish fuel, water, and grass to the ox-team emigration. And it is neither the very shortest nor the very best which would be selected for a winter route in the vicinity of the same parallel of latitude. The overland emigrants reach the mountain sections in the latter part of July and August. The chief difficulties and obstacles which they encounter arise from the extreme dryness and heat of the artemisian deserts. The passage of the line is located nearer to the base of the snow-capped mountains, in a more elevated region, richly grassed, and along the great summer trails of the Indians, is favorable to their health, the preservation of their stock, and gives them abundance of pasturage, with water at short intervals from mountain streams. These very streams, stocked with mountain trout, soon disappear, or become stagnant pools after reaching the sand plains.”

And, as a doubt appeared to exist in the minds of some parties as to whether the appropriation for building this road through the South Pass was made for the purpose of improving mail facilities or to aid the overland emigration, I took particular pains when in California to inquire the origin and course of the movement which eventually led to the passage of the bill.

It appears that in 1856 a petition, signed by seventy-five thousand (75,000) citizens of that State, and praying that a road might be built through the South Pass, reached Congress. It was the result of a series of movements commenced in 1846, and caused by the sufferings of a large party of emigrants who arrived too late to cross the Sierra Nevadas. In 1849 and 1850 the subject excited the public mind in connexion with the interest taken in the hardships of the overland travellers of those years. It continued to be agitated, and meetings were held in 1852, '53, and '54. The plan of memorializing

Congress was at length suggested, and at a large assemblage in San Francisco carried out. The names on the memorial, which was sent through the upper counties of California for signers, at length covered reams of paper. It was remarked by the Hon. John B. Weller, when presenting this petition in the Senate, that it was the largest, by many tens of thousands of names, ever introduced into that body.

Whatever changes may have taken place in the public mind in the east in reference to the purpose of this bill, it is evident that the intention of those who first sought its passage was to procure the means of building a road to facilitate overland emigration.

As to the choice of route along the great river valleys, none know better than the class of individuals who signed the memorial what line of travel was required. They were undoubtedly themselves, at least the greater part of them, overland emigrants. The road was first laid out by the best explorers in the world—the old beaver-trappers and hunters of the fur companies. As an example of the want of knowledge of theoretical explorers, as compared with these men who pass year after year of their lives in the interior, I remember passing early in the month of June, 1854, over a well grassed and watered country southwest from Fort Hall. In September, 1857, I again made the trip, proposing to halt at night upon the same stream of water; I found it entirely dried up and the whole region an arid and almost grassless desert.

The new cut-off road was constructed at great cost by clearing out timber and grading the mountain sides expressly to throw the emigration away from such long stretches which divide the larger river valleys, and in August and September become deserts without water. A leading newspaper of California very justly remarks that "The wagon road bill was passed as an encouragement to spring emigration—to benefit the ox-team emigrant rather than to build a mail route. The humbler class of emigrants of small means makes preparations and leaves Missouri and Iowa in April, designing, with a single team, or without a relay of animals, to reach California or Oregon in one season. After passing over what is called the mud section, reaching about two hundred and fifty miles from the border, no other obstacle is encountered of great difficulty until the plains near the Sweet Water are reached. Here commences the barren region, increasing in sterility to Ham's fork of Bear river. The new overland cut-off road just completed by Superintendent Lander avoids this desert region, and enables the animals of the emigrant to retain their strength until the upper Humboldt is reached. But it is now late in the dry season; the whole country parched up, water existing on the lower plains and even in many places in the bed of the Humboldt only in pools. While the relay animals of an overland mail, changed at short distances and starting fresh, can make passages of twenty, thirty, and even fifty miles, without water, such trips have become almost impossible to the travel-worn teams of the emigrant. It is only after a week's rest at the last meadows of the Humboldt and cutting grass for his broken down animals that he dares attempt the desert just eastward from our own mountains; for this last obstacle, and the greatest, has not yet had one dollar expended on it by the government. The new cut-off road extends westerly from the South Pass. It was laid out over elevated mountain meadows to furnish emigrants grass and water during the dry season. It would, therefore, though an excellent road for emigrants during the heat of summer, probably be completely impracticable as a winter mail route."

I reported all these facts to you, as early as 1857, as the result of a long exploration by detached parties of the whole country between the South Pass, the waters of the Great Basin, and the Pacific. In that report I said that I had discovered two excellent lines, both of them at the extreme verge (north and south) of the limits named in my instructions. The southern one would be excellent for winter mail, when furnished with forage stations, but would not avoid the Green River desert; the northern one was a line "so abundantly furnished with grass, timber, and pure water, with mountain streams abounding with fish, plains thronged with game, and so avoids the deleterious alkaline deposits of the south, that it may be described as furnishing all that has been long sought for through this section of the country—an excellent and healthy emigrant road, over which individuals of small means may move their families and herds of stock to the Pacific coast in a single season without loss."

Thirteen thousand emigrants travelled the road the present year; over nine thousand—all the males of the trains—signed papers of which the following are copies:

"We, the undersigned, emigrants to California and Oregon, having just passed with our wagons and stock over the new government road, from the South Pass to Fort Hall, (called Lander's cut-off,) do hereby state that the road is abundantly furnished with good grass, water, and fuel; there is no alkali and no desert as upon the old road, and while upon it our stock improved and rapidly recovered from sickness and lameness. We were much surprised at the great amount of labor that had been done in cutting out the timber and bridging and grading the road, and in all respect it more than met our expectations, especially those of us who have heretofore travelled the other routes. But we would most respectfully suggest that a bridge should be erected, as soon as possible, over Green river, the fording of which is dangerous and the cause of much trouble to the emigration, and in one instance the loss of life. We have been treated kindly, and in every case when the circumstances required it aided and assisted on our way by the Wagon Road Expedition; and we have likewise received the kindest treatment from the Indians; and we advise the overland emigration to California and Oregon to take this road as the shortest and best adapted for the comforts of the traveller and the preservation of stock, especially if the government, in view of the many advantages of this route, should cause Green river to be bridged."

Signed by Ferguson Chappell and over nine thousand others.

"FORT HALL, OREGON, July 15, 1859.

"This is to certify, that we, the undersigned, have travelled over the Pacific wagon road, better known as Lander's cut-off, and find it a very acceptable road for emigrants. We think it preferable to any other road across the mountains in many respects. Most of the way it is well worked, and with a bridge across Green river (the only stream at all troublesome) it would be as good a road as many now travelled in the States. It is some five days' travel shorter than any other road across the mountains; there is no desert to cross on this route, no alkali to kill your stock, but instead, plenty of good water, abundance of grass, and wood enough to satisfy any reasonable man.

"Many of the undersigned have crossed by other routes and give this the preference."

Signed by William Glaze and nearly three hundred others. The originals, with the accompanying affidavits, are on file in this office.

The leading papers of California have most emphatically endorsed the road. The Democratic Standard says: "Emigrants pass by it over thousands of acres of fine mountain grass, and a well watered and timbered country. The road is of equal advantage to Oregon and California. Thus, after years of persevering effort, a great work, important to the whole Union, but most especially useful to California, has been executed. To the able, efficient, and popular Secretary of the Interior we may give the credit of this great work."

The "Alta California," the "Sacramento Union," the "California Express," the "Evening Bulletin," the "Plumas Argus," with many other journals, and the leading papers of Oregon, endorse it as fully.

In the following correspondence I call your attention to the important statement of the well known mountaineer, Timothy Goodale.

The letter of Major Lynde, embodying the result of the observations of an old officer of great merit and of long experience in interior life, is likewise important.

"WASHINGTON, February 1, 1860.

"SIR: In reply to your request that I would state to you, in writing, my opinion as to which of the overland central routes is the best, I have to say, that so far as my knowledge of the country goes, the new route opened by you, from Camp Floyd to Carson City, is the best known road for an overland winter mail south of the pass at the head of Marsh creek.

"The pass at the head of Marsh creek was named McDougall's Gap by Lander in 1857. There is no road through it, only a fair pack trail. 'Jim Baker,' 'Bad Hand Martin,' and the rest of the mountaineers in that country, think it the easiest winter pass over the Snake river. When you are on Snake river there is no trouble about snow. This pass, so far as I can understand what is wanted, would be first-rate for a railroad.

"There is a good deal of yellow pine timber in it, and the country is sheltered so that the snow don't drift. I think it would be going too far round for Salt Lake City. West from Salt Lake City your road is the best for a mail of all the southern ones, because it avoids the Goose Creek mountains. These have always been bad for winter travel. I think the old road by the Platte, by Lander's new cut-off, and by the Humboldt, is a very much superior road to yours for stock-drivers with large bands of cattle, and for the ox-team emigration. When the Humboldt river is high, the early emigrants generally take the south side of the river, near the mountains, but the road is hilly and quite bad. They then find plenty of grass and water. Later, when the springs get dry and the grass is scant—say in the last of July, August, and September—they take the valley of the river. There is then on the bottoms more grass than is found on any other road. The valley is a mile or two wide, and there are very large meadows of grass and laying up grounds. They can stop, too, at Lasson's meadows and make hay or cut grass for crossing the strip of country which lies between the bend of the Humboldt and Carson valley or the Mud lakes. I suppose you have to cross this desert on your road for the south. I don't see how large bands of cattle can get enough water late in July, August, and September, on your road, especially worn down and foot-sore cattle.

“Those that have come all the way from the States at about that time can't make long marches between water, and need a good deal of it to keep them up.

“As to your road being shorter, surveyors would know best. It can't be much shorter if we go through the South Pass.

“It would be shorter if we could get through the Parks—that is, straight across from Denver City over to Camp Floyd.

“The trouble about getting across is the amount of timber and the rough country. I have travelled the best known trail across a good many times. This cut-off would be very scant of grass for a large emigration—say such as goes every summer through the South Pass. For a mail, the mountain would be right high. I started over once, the 15th of May, and got into the worst of the snow on the head of Piney; it was very bad in the Divide till I got to the head of the Arkansas. I got through with difficulty. I had wintered on Grand river. There is another big mountain between Grand and White rivers. This I did not have to cross. Besides these mountains, there is the great mountain west of these valleys that divides them from Camp Floyd or the Salt Lake basin.

“Perhaps if the timber were burnt out it might do for emigrants. It is my belief, now the Lander cut-off is built, avoiding the bad grass country that reaches from the South Pass to Ham's Fork, emigrants and stock-drivers will stick to the old road. There is more grass on it than any route I know; emigrants can't afford to haul forage. They don't like to go near Salt Lake City, because they are charged high for the Mormon grass and the country is too much settled up to get it free. I think if government builds the southern road through the Parks, Green river and some other streams should be bridged.

“Lander's road keeps the emigration free of tolls.

“I don't call his road good for an overland mail from where it leaves Green river. It is laid out high up in the mountains over the meadows where the Snake Indians summer their ponies. I have seen about thirteen thousand emigrants take it this year. They all bragged on it, and it saved a great deal of stock.

* * * * * Your letter came too late to prevent a communication to the public which had already been placed in the hands of the printer, and will appear in to-morrow's Constitution. I trust you, as well as Mr. Campbell, will find that I have not been backward to repair any wrong which I unintentionally may have committed in my representations to the Secretary of War.

"With best wishes for yourself and Mr. Campbell,

"I remain, very truly, yours,

"J. H. SIMPSON.

"F. W. LANDER, Esq.,

"Present."

"WASHINGTON, January 27, 1860.

"DEAR SIR: In reply to your interrogation regarding the emigration which passed over the new road built by you under the direction of the honorable Secretary of the Interior, I have to state that I passed over that portion of the new road extending from Ross' Fork to the great valley of Salt river. I found it abundantly timbered and abounding in grass and water.

"The expedition in my charge was sent out from Camp Floyd for the purpose of protecting emigrants from Indian aggression. Nearly all the emigration was met on its way to California. Stock-drovers and emigrants who had passed over the old line of travel were unanimous in praise of your new route. I heard no dissentient voice, and have no doubt that the construction of this road, avoiding the sand plains, the deleterious waters, and the toll bridges of the south, will prove of vast importance to the overland emigrant to California and Oregon.

I have seen as many as three hundred wagons in a day, and at least fifteen thousand head of stock. I am of opinion that this vast cavalcade cannot properly forsake the old routes of travel along the great river valleys. Your cut-off road was the single thing needed in the passage from the South Pass over the ungrassed region of the Big Sandy or Sublett's desert, enabling the emigrants to entirely avoid this terrible country and to rest and recruit their stock at the very point heretofore most dreaded by travellers.

"Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

"J. LYNDE,

"F. W. LANDER, Esq.,

"Sup't U. S. Overland Road via the South Pass."

I subjoin the statement of Thomas Pitt, one of the best-known conductors of trains on the continent, and a most reliable and conscientious man:

"I certify that the route known as the Captain Simpson route is not suitable for oxen or other horned cattle, either driven loose or yoked, after the month of July. I made the first trip over this route in 1854 ; have passed over the route and changed the line of travel five times ; was a cattle-trader at Ragtown, Carson Valley ; have been in charge of large bands of cattle crossing the plains for many years, and drove one herd of one thousand three hundred and twenty-five to California last year.

“ T. D. PITT.

“ WASHINGTON, D. C., December 29, 1859.

“ Witness : JOHN R. KEY.

“ Not one man in five thousand knows what a tired ox can drink in twenty-four hours. The quantity is enormous, and desert springs don't answer at all late in the season.

“ T. D. PITT.”

The following statement, signed by sixty emigrants, may also have its force :

“ The undersigned, emigrants from Iowa and other States to California, desire to state, for the benefit of those who may emigrate hereafter, that they travelled the road leading by Salt Lake and found it very mountainous and rough, and most of the streams on said road were bridged and ferries established, over which exorbitant tolls were exacted for the passage of trains and teams, and where there were no bridges or ferries over the streams, the fords were not only difficult but dangerous. They would also state, for the benefit of those who may emigrate hereafter, that they were compelled to pay from twenty-five cents to five cents per head a night for pasturage of their stock at Salt Lake and as far up as Bear river, a distance of nearly one hundred miles. That for about one hundred and twenty-five miles from the South Pass towards Salt Lake City the country was nearly destitute of grass and might almost be called a barren waste, and the road strewn with carcasses and bones of dead animals lost the present and past seasons, caused, doubtless, by the great scarcity of grass, and they specially advise all future emigrants not to travel the Salt Lake road.”

Signed by John E. Movers and fifty-nine others.

Of this country, southwest from the South Pass, Lieut. Col. P. St. George Cooke, of the Utah army, in an official report, said :

“ I have one hundred and forty-four horses, and have lost one hundred and thirty-four. Most of the loss has occurred much this side of the South Pass, in comparatively moderate weather. It has been of starvation. The earth has a no more lifeless, treeless, grassless desert ; it contains scarcely a wolf to glut itself on the hundreds of dead animals which, for thirty miles, nearly block the road with abandoned and shattered property.”

It was this region which the Interior Department road was built expressly to avoid. Our road passes directly west from the Pass, the old roads southwest. All overland travellers desiring to take the Simpson road must, therefore, cross this terrible range of country, unless a new route is discovered westward from the Denver City mines. It is highly important to the country that an appropriation should be made for such an exploration. It would give great character to the Simpson road, at least as a mail route.

- But we must not be led astray by a mere supposition. Goodale's letter informs us that it is a very open question whether a new route westward from Denver City exists. It would cost thirty thousand dollars to properly explore for it. The estimate of cost of building cannot be made until it is explored. It is a subject more properly connected with the Simpson route than with the one I am treating.

As to distance, after passing over the desert, the Simpson road is only four miles nearer than the Interior Department road to Carson Valley, a point to which the Interior Department road is not directed.

But by the Simpson Guide we are informed that in several instances the emigrant must drive more than this four miles off the road to grass and water.

But this is the especial explanation. There are two points at the eastern boundary of California for which the emigration has hitherto travelled. The one is Honey Lake, to which the law of Congress directed the extension of the Interior Department road; the other is Carson Valley, at which the Simpson road terminates. When the emigration reaches Honey Lake it goes over the mountains to California, much of it to take up the unoccupied lands of the northern counties of that State. Were it to go to Carson Valley after reaching Honey Lake, it must absolutely descend parallel with and one hundred (100) miles along the eastern boundary of California. From the Simpson road it must, in like manner, ascend one hundred (100) miles north to reach Honey Lake. The clearest statement would, therefore, be, that to the eastern boundary of California the Simpson route from the South Pass is eight hundred and forty-six (846) miles in length; the Interior Department road from the South Pass to the eastern boundary of California is eight hundred and four (804) miles in length.

As to grass and water over the two lines, the animals of our own expedition, which aided in constructing the road in the mountains and then crossed the continent, arrived in California in such order as to sell at a large advance on first cost.

I wish most explicitly to state that Captain Simpson, in my opinion, is the last man in the world who would willingly confuse the public mind on any subject whatever. He has recently made public the following letter:

“ WASHINGTON CITY, February 8, 1860.

“ MESSRS. EDITORS: From motives, as I trust, of public good, and a desire to do justice to officers of government who have been zealously and efficiently engaged in works of public benefit, I beg leave to make the following statement:

“ It has been made known to the public by the honorable Secretary of War, and the press has given currency to the fact, that during the past year, by authority of the honorable Secretary and the instructions of General Johnston, commanding the Department of Utah, I have opened two new wagon roads from Camp Floyd to California, either of which, in connection with the South Pass or Lieutenant Bryan's road from the Missouri river, forms a highway which is shorter to Sacramento or San Francisco than any other known route.

"From data obtained in Utah, it was believed that the difference in favor of my routes was very much greater than is now known to exist; and it was only after I had made a report to the honorable Secretary, on my return to this city, that the last year's report of Mr. Albert H. Campbell, general superintendent of Pacific wagon roads under the Secretary of the Interior, was placed in my hands.

"By this report and the statement of distances which Mr. Campbell has furnished me, I find that very considerable improvements have been made in the old route between the South Pass and the City of Rocks by Mr. F. W. Lander, in the location and construction of a new road, which 'avoids the artemisia barrens of the Green River basin with its deleterious waters; the rugged defiles of Wahsatch mountains leading to Salt Lake City, and the circuitous route by the valley of the Bear river.'

"As these are very important advantages to the heavy ox-emigration trains which annually pass over the plains, and which can only accrue on my route after reaching Fort Bridger, and then are intermitted to a degree at the outset of my routes from Camp Floyd, and then again near Carson Lake, albeit between these points there is an abundance of grass and water, it is very possible that emigrants desiring to travel through to California without passing through Great Salt Lake City or Camp Floyd, for purposes of replenishing supplies, or other reasons, would do best to take the Lander cut-off at the South Pass and keep the old road along the Humboldt river. In thus speaking, however, I do not wish it to be understood that I am in any degree disparaging my routes from Camp Floyd, for it was the decided opinion of the two guides I had with me, and who had been over the Humboldt river road—one of them, Colonel Reese, having several times driven stock over it—and who were, therefore, competent to make a comparison, that my routes were, in respect to wood, water, and grass, very much superior to the old route; and others who have since passed over the routes have reported the same thing. But still there have been reports to the effect that, in consequence of the deficiency of water and grass at some points of the routes, they are not calculated for heavy trains and large herds of cattle; and I cannot, therefore, take the responsibility of diverting the thousands who annually pass over the continent with their immense trains and herds of cattle from the old road, improved as it has been by Mr. Lander between the South Pass and the City of Rocks. Time can only settle which is the best route to the travelling public; and to that arbiter do I leave the decision; only feeling desirous that that route which furnishes the greatest facilities may, as it will, be eventually taken.

"There is, however, no question, that for emigrants who may find it necessary to pass through Great Salt Lake City or Camp Floyd, or tarry in that country during the winter, my routes will be found to be much the nearest to Sacramento and San Francisco, and probably the best in other respects; and that in consequence of their being the shortest and situated in a lower and milder region in the winter than the old road, they are the best for the transportation of the mail. Indeed, in consequence of the deep snow on some portions of the old road during the winter, the Great Salt Lake and California Mail Company has already been obliged to transfer their stock and build their stations on one of my routes, and on it they are now carrying the mail. My return route to Camp Floyd, in consequence of the timber along it, at points, will also doubtless be the best for the magnetic telegraph.

In this connection, and in deference to General Johnston, commanding the Department of Utah, by whose directions the letter was addressed to me by Major F. J. Porter, Assistant Adjutant General, under date of November 16, I subjoin the following extract; and I do so in order that the letter may accomplish the effect for which it was intended. It was based upon the conflicting reports of persons who had traversed one of the routes, and was received too late to be of use in qualifying the preliminary report, already referred to, which I made to the Secretary of War:

“ ‘The Commanding General does not doubt that the routes opened by you are of real value for military and mail purposes, and for the ordinary travel of this country, especially early in the summer and late in the fall for those who may winter in this country or may be late in arriving. They can be advantageously used by parties of emigrants having a small number of animals, and should the emigration be greatly reduced, these roads will probably be used in preference to, and perhaps to the exclusion of, those generally travelled. Time will prove if they will sustain a large travel, but till the country becomes more open and its resources prove abundant, the General desires that no effort be made to turn the main tide of emigration from Lander’s road north of this Territory. If once on these roads, and the water and grass prove insufficient, it could not be checked and turned aside in time to prevent immense suffering.’

“ I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

“ J. H. SIMPSON,

“ Captain Topographical Engineers.”

I consider the strange statement of the letter of Judge Eckles, that “interestedly false representations were made to emigrants,” as forced and out of place to the last degree. I trust that your own knowledge of the character of the officers of the wagon road expedition will deprive it of weight or signification.

The same subject has been referred to in my report to the honorable Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

With the whole case now before you, the propriety of further work on the Interior Department road may be more definitely considered. But if it is still held by you that this road of the Interior Department has been properly laid out, and in view of its adoption by the ox-team emigration, and their absolute endorsement of it, and the endorsement of it by the press of California and Oregon, and the highly responsible officer of the United States army who has given his opinion of it, and the great stock drovers who have so especially advocated it, then if you propose that the sum remaining of the original appropriation should be expended upon it, I would respectfully suggest the following programme :

In reference to any further expenditures we cannot fail to note the sufferings of the emigrants between the head of the Humboldt river and the settlements at the eastern base of the Sierra Nevada mountains. The law of Congress directs the construction of this road to Honey lake. The emigration usually breaks up at Lassen's Meadows, so called, whence there are not less than three routes to California. All of them pass over a desert upon which the expenditure of money will be of very great service in developing supplies of pure water. Under the law it is plain that the improvements must be made upon the northernmost route ; but Mr. Campbell, who has passed over all these lines of travel, and who was entrusted with the important duty of obtaining further information in regard to them, reports to me that the Truckee river line, which is the central, is that best adapted to emigrant travel. A sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) would develop the line between the bend of the Humboldt and Honey lake, with aqueduct logs and troughs of water for the use of emigrants ; but I do not think it practicable to attempt construction along the Truckee route for less than forty thousand dollars ($40,000.) If either of these works is attempted, I would suggest the employment of F. A. Bishop, esq., chief engineer of the Kirk expedition, who studied these roads with great care, and is well known as an efficient and accomplished engineer. With such service as Mr. Campbell could render him, I have no doubt that any expenditure made upon the western division would be conducted with energy and economy.

While it is not expedient to build the western division from the Missouri border, the citizens of California and Nevada claim that some portion of this government work shall be allotted to them. And, although I never heard that they would object to my supervision of it, I would cheerfully defer to any new arrangements of the sort proposed.

Mr. Wagner's explorations have demonstrated the fact that the Goose Creek mountains may be avoided by an emigrant road. They are one of the chief obstacles encountered by overland travel. The sum of ten thousand dollars would make the improvement required, if connected with either a western or central division party.

In view of the false reports made by Mormon traders, I think it advisable that a small party should be placed at the South Pass at the commencement of the present season. In fact, it is indispensably necessary that emigrants should be correctly informed as to the character of the new road on reaching that important point. For the purpose of carrying out the views herewith submitted, and those of my report on the Indian affairs, made to honorable Commissioner Greenwood, it may seem expedient to you to once more send a small expedition over the road.

If instructions were immediately given, a party could start from the border by the 20th of April, carry out the suggestions of my Indian report, bridge Green river and the smaller streams ; and, going on to California, unite with that of the western division the same season, passing the last of the emigration over the desert as improved by Bishop and Campbell. I consider the improvement of the Goose Creek mountains important; and this could be done by the same party, but the building of a road to avoid them is a more difficult matter, and, as a contingency, must be guided entirely by your view of the application of the fund remaining.

I kept a line of express open between California and the Pass all last season; and the same efficient mountaineer, William Rodes, who travels alone with his rifle and blanket, can do it again, and state at what time the western end of the road is ready for emigrants.

It is my opinion that all large jobs of work on this road can be more cheaply done by contract than in any other manner. I also suggest this mode as enabling you to confine the expenditures to strict limits, the contingencies of wild interior travel often creating large margins when government expeditions are in the field. Direct orders, as to the amount to be expended under contract, would prevent overrunning the appropriation.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

F. W. LANDER,

Superintendent, &c., &c.

HON. JACOB THOMPSON,

Secretary of the Interior.

WASHINGTON, Februarg 29, 1860.

SIR: In your instructions, dated St. Joseph's, Mo., April 28, you say: I am instructed by the Department of the Interior to endeavor to improve the line of the overland wagon road from City of Rocks to Honey lake. "I have already furnished you with a transcript of this portion of the honorable Secretary's letter. My experience of your character and acknowledged ability fully justifies me in placing you in charge of an advance exploration to furnish to me information of the country over which it is proposed to take this line. You will, therefore, with the transportation for which you have receipted, proceed directly to Soda Springs where you will either find Mr. J. C. Campbell, or will be compelled to await his early arrival.

"Make a quick trip to Soda Springs, then move more slowly to the country of exploration."

In answer to these instructions, I have the honor to make the following report:

I left the winter camp at Troy, Kansas Territory, April 30, passed Fort Kearney May 8, Fort Laramie May 17, and arrived at the South Pass May 27; making the trip in $24\frac{1}{2}$ travelling days, the other time, of $3\frac{1}{4}$ days, we were delayed at Fort Laramie in changing mules and taking in provisions. On La Bonté creek we were detained by high water, and on Sweet Water, in the neighborhood of Split Rock, by two severe snow storms. Notwithstanding the inclement weather, and the fast time we made, the mules were in good order, the grass on Platte river and on Sweet Water being abundant although short. Mr. C. C. Wrenshall accompanied me to South Pass, and left my party on Little Sandey, for Salt Lake City, to bring to Soda Springs provisions and the property of the expedition left at Salt Lake City in charge of Mr. J. C. Campbell.

I made a halt on Green river to engage Thomas Pembrun as interpreter for the Western Sha-she-nees. He was encamped on Ham's Fork, on the Fort Bridger road. He was informed by Mr. Wrenshall of my coming and of my desire to obtain his services, and soon after joined us. There was a freshet in all the creeks emptying into Bear river, so that we were compelled to mend the bridges over Ham's and Thomas' Fork and to erect a new one over Smith's Fork, as the readiest means of passing these streams safely with our train. We arrived at Soda Springs on the 10th of June. Thomas Pembrun, the engaged interpreter, here took his discharge; an old disease, having broken out, disabled him from making long rides or undergoing the necessary privations. He also expressed his opinion that the western Indians would not permit us to make the exploration embraced in your instructions.

Hedspeth's road.

We met Messrs. Campbell and Wrenshall on the big bend of Bear river, June 17. After exchanging some mules and receiving a supply of flour we took the old emigrant road, known as Hedspeth's cut-off, making a complete survey of it. The road, in many places, is very rocky, the grades very steep, and there is one drive without water of $22\frac{1}{4}$ miles; the grass, in general, was good and sufficient. This road crosses Willow and Dempsey's creeks, tributaries of Porto-neuf, touches "the bend of Porto-neuf," and passing over an undulating country, crosses Marsh creek and over the intervening high hill ranges, to Mountain Willow creek, Lanette creek, and Malade river, tributary of Bear river; here it again crosses same, divides between the Salt Lake basin and the Snake river, and intersects the Fort Hall road on the upper part of Raft creek.

The interview with Po-co-ta-roh and his band, whom we met on Raft creek, and the other Indians in the road, is referred to in that portion of my report relating more particularly to Indians.

Road from City of Rocks to Honey Lake Valley.

We arrived at City of Rocks June 26th. From this point the road passed down to some small branches of Raft creek, all of which will furnish water until about the 1st of August; but a few springs north of the road and Granite Spring at the eastern slope of the dividing ridge, between Raft creek and Goose creek, furnish water all the year round. Grass is abundant north of the line in the upper part of the valley.

The descent to Goose creek over the road as it now exists is very severe, the rocks and steep grades render the passage of it very difficult for stock and wagons.

A reconnoissance for a new road was made by Mr. R. L. Poor, which showed the practicability of a new and much better descent in following down a small spring branch. Goose Creek Valley is traversed for a distance of 22 miles and furnishes a good supply of grass. A few improvements would be desirable, such as sloping down the banks of tributaries and removing the rocks at the entrance of a short cañon at the head of the creek.

The road, after leaving Goose creek, runs over an undulating country to Rock Spring. There is scarcely any grass to be found, the valley being covered with sage bushes and grease wood. Cold Spring affords in the early part of the summer bottom grass, and the adjacent hills bunch grass; but in the latter part of the season there will none be found till the middle and upper part of Thousand Spring valley is reached. In the middle part of Thousand Spring Valley are some sloughs with alkali water, but only one spring has good water, though not in sufficient quantities for droves of cattle. This will be found further west in Hot Spring creek, coming in from the northwest, the valley of which furnishes grass. A tolerably good road leads over a ridge and down to the headwaters of the Humboldt river. The Humboldt wells have always cold, excellent water, and the vicinity affords both bottom and bunch grass. The road forks here—one branch running on the south, the other on the north side of the river. The north side is much preferable on account of the easier grades over bluffs and better grazing. Humboldt cañon at several points is very narrow. The rock walls being almost perpendicular, by their disintegrations they fall down and sometimes partially obstruct the road.

Improvements have been made, but much is still left to be done. The road on the south side of the cañon passes over some deep-cut gulleys just as dangerous to a wagon. The road is good between Humboldt and Fremont's cañon, but the same condition as in first-named cañon is found here. The road crosses the river four times on gravelly bottom. On Maggie creek the road leaves the river and passes the hills over loose rocks and a few steep grades to Gravelly Ford. This is the nature of the road till it strikes the river again, a distance of ten miles below the ford. There are no difficulties between here and Stoney Point with the exception of sloping down the banks of a spring branch and some sloughs.

The road is good to the dividing line of the Sho-sho-nee and the Pah-utah tribes. It avoids here a small cañon through which the river winds, going over the hills. A good road to Tutt's Meadows, in the bend of the river; a small spring branch has to be crossed; the lower crossing has muddy bottom, the upper is good. A good gravelly road extends to Lassen's Meadows, where it forks again—one part going down Humboldt river to Carson Valley, the other to Honey Lake Valley. A good road runs from the Meadows to Antelope Spring, where good water is found, but grass is scarce; thence over an undulating country and two hill ranges to Rabbit Hole Springs. Water is found in holes from which it can be dipped with a bucket; good road hence to Hot Springs at the eastern border of Mud Lake; a short distance below the springs cattle may be watered, but grass is scarce; through Mud Lake to Granite Springs good cool water can be obtained, and grass in a ravine to the northwest. A good road to Deep Hole Springs, good grass and water; hence to Buffalo Springs, water in holes in sufficient quantity; grass in the neighborhood.

Over a road, rocky in a few places, to the lower part of Bush Valley; water sinks before it emerges out of the cañon and is found only in holes; but the middle and upper parts of Bush Valley have good running water and abundant grass. Leaving this valley we come to Mud Spring; good water; grass will be found in a ravine southeast of the spring. The road, after leaving Mud Spring, is very rocky till it arrives on the dividing ridge, Honey Lake Valley. Honey Lake Valley affords the emigrant every facility to recruit stock, and in the upper part to obtain a supply of provisions. An annexed guide for emigrants gives a synopsis of the above description of the country, with the distances, and other useful information.

Description of the Country north of the Emigrant Road.

The first reconnoissance was made down Goose creek; the valley is narrow, with two cañons in 18 miles, a few spring branches emptying into it, then it widens and runs through rolling hills for five miles, where a considerable tributary comes in. From here the creek runs in the open Snake River Valley, furnishing abundant grass after it leaves the mountains; along its tributaries and on the adjacent hills bunch grass is found.

The north fork of Goose creek runs most of its course in a cañon, has not much grass, and its bottom is subject to overflow from the beaver-dams.

The country north of Rock Spring has, on the dividing ridge between Goose creek and Holmes' creek, good bunch grass; but the bottom is stoney, and therefore dried up by the middle of July. Springs are found on the hill slopes, but few will last longer than the melting of the snow on the mountains, and these are indicated by the thick bunches of willow and quaking aspens.

The dividing ranges between Bishop's creek, Holmes' creek, and Owghee river are the highest mountains in the country explored. They show many peaks in the early part of August still covered with snow, very rugged, rocky, and intersected by deep ravines, through which swift currents of water flow. These ravines have in general a growth of quaking aspens and sometimes of cotton-wood trees. The hill sides show stunted cedar trees and a few of mountain mahogany.

The western main branches of Holmes' creek join in a deep and narrow cañon through which they flow. At the end of the cañon is a valley extending southwards from which a few small creeks come in, but sink about half a mile before they reach the main stream. Hence the creek breaks through a mountain range and flows in a wide bottom for 16 miles, forming many sloughs and some miry places. This lower bottom has good grass, but it soon after enters again a cañon with perpendicular rock walls varying from 50 to 150 feet in height. Close to the cañon and above the fork of an eastern branch we found the only ford with gravelly bottom. The banks were steep above and muddy; width of the creek here 15 feet by 3 feet deep. Eighteen miles further down, where the creek flows in a rolling plain extending to Snake river, its rock walls are still 50 feet high.

Between the mountain range, through which the Humboldt river breaks and forms the Humboldt cañon and Bishop's creek its next western tributary, is a wide valley covered with sage brushes. Several small creeks break out of the eastern mountain ranges through cañons and deep-cut ravines; but all sink before they reach the middle of the valley. The upper part of the valley of the north fork of Humboldt river is wide, but has only grass along its water courses; the other part is covered with sage brush.

The upper part of Maggie creek has good pasturage on hill sides, but lower down and in the valley itself sage brush alone is found.

The mountain ranges north of Gravelly Ford and Stoney Point have springs and a few creeks flowing in cañons; but they sink as soon as they emerge in that wide valley, sometimes in less than a mile's distance.

The country affords little game. A few antelopes and some deer were seen; rabbits of a large size, sage hens, and grouse are frequently met with. The creeks furnish speckled and salmon trouts and other fish, and their banks are studded with currant bushes, the dried fruit of which is one of the chief supplies of the Indians in winter time.

Facilities for roads through these mountains.

A road from the head of Goose creek, where the present emigrant road leaves it, can be built to Holmes' creek without much expense. From Holmes' creek to the upper valley of Bishop's creek considerable earth excavation is required, and, notwithstanding this, steep grades will be unavoidable. The same is the case to the southern branch of Owyhee river. Hence, a good location can be found to the north fork of Humboldt river; following up a tributary, a good gap leads to the upper part of Maggie creek; from here, we again cross over to water flowing into Owyhee river. There are several gaps of easy ascent. Hence, not much difficulty to crossing the Stoney Point range, where the passes are very rocky and steep; thence through a wide valley to the Pah-ne Utah and Sho-sho-me line.

The cost of building a practicable road for emigrants through these parts will be great, and then it has these disadvantages, that in summer time, when the emigration arrives, the grass will be dry and scarce, and some of the spring branches will not supply sufficient water.

The gain in time and distance will be very inconsiderable, if any. There are so many ridges and narrow valleys or wide bottoms without water, to pass, that I consider the Humboldt River road preferable. When the emigrant or the cattle driver takes the necessary precautions, and does not let his animals drink out of sloughs, which always contain alkali, and when he is careful with his fire, then the grass along the Humboldt river will sustain a very large emigration.

A road with little cost can be built from the Oregon road on Snake river along Holme's creek, either to the Humboldt wells or Thousand Spring Valley. From Snake river to the foot hills not much grass will be found except along the water courses. The first difficulty will be in bridging the creek and going through a cañon about one mile long, the divide between this and Hot Spring creek being low.

The foregoing report contains such information as I have been able to obtain of the country designated in your instructions, and is, with the accompanying map, submitted to your approval.

While detained several days at Soda Springs, I took the opportunity to verify the observations for latitude made in 1857, about the accuracy of which there was some doubt. I found, by repeated observations, that the springs were placed too far south on the former maps, and have made the necessary correction on one of this year's operations.

Indians.

In compliance with your directions to make a brief report of my intercourse with the Indians while in charge of the advance party, I have the honor to say, that after leaving the South Pass we saw only a few lodges of Eastern Sho-sho-nees encamped on Green river. The main body of that tribe were on the eastern slope of the Wind River mountains. Passing from Green river we met none until we reached Soda Springs, where a single Indian came into our camp to trade some beaver skins. He belonged to the Sheepeaters tribe from the headwaters of Lewis Fork, and disclaimed any connection with the Bannocks. He informed me of the departure of the Bannocks for the mountains north of Snake river. It appears that they were afraid of the retaliations of traders or United States soldiers for their depredations committed on Green river and its vicinity last winter.

On the head of Raft creek, near City of Rocks, we were expected and met by Pocotaroh and a party of his band amounting to 15 warriors. He remembered the conditional promise given by you in the fall of 1858 to return the ensuing season and bring some presents.

These Indians appeared destitute, almost, of the necessaries of life, and received with the greatest joy the presents I was directed by you to distribute among them. They were given blankets, cloth, handkerchiefs, knives, paints, and many other trifles, to which I added some flour.

Descending to Goose creek we met several men of the band under the chief Ne-met-teh. They were hunting in the Goose Creek mountains. I tried to engage one of them as guide, but the presence of some companies of the United States army, under the command of Major Lynde, intimidated them so much that they left again for the mountains. The same was the case in Thousand Spring Valley, in the upper part of which we saw several bands of Weber River Indians. On Hot Spring creek about 45 warriors came into the camp; inquired our intentions and those of the soldiers; avowed their honesty; that they had never stolen cattle or robbed emigrants. They received presents and departed without further molesting us, although only 6 persons were in camp at the time, the other members of my party being out on reconnoissance. On the upper part of Humboldt river several lodges were encamped. We saw, nightly, their camp fires 3 or 4 miles from the road at the foot of the mountains. Many of them came into our camp begging and went away fully satisfied with the presents bestowed upon them.

Our interpreter, Alek Frapp, collected, on the north fork of Humboldt river, all the Indians around and brought them, at the request of Major Lynde, just returned from Gravelly Ford, to his camp. Major Lynde made an appropriate speech, and presented them with flour and meat. They informed him that most of their tribe had left the Humboldt and gone south to avoid the passing soldiers.

In our reconnoissance, sometimes extending 70 miles north of the Humboldt, we met only a few lodges of Indians, belonging partly to the Sho-sho-nee and partly to the Bannock tribes. The latter came from the Snake river, where they had passed the fishing season. As they had never seen white men in this part of the country they were at a loss what to make of us, but, as I had always some presents with me, they seemed satisfied with the answer that we were here to see the country.

All the Western Sho-sho-nees have been friendly to us, at least they did not molest us nor attempt to steal our mules. Close to the dividing range between the Western Sho-sho-nees and Pah-Utah tribes, we met about a dozen lodges of the latter Indians. They received presents, but as their language is quite different from that of the Sho-sho-nees, I was unable to learn any thing concerning them. These were the last party of Indians we saw, although delayed for some time in camp at Tutt's Meadows, Humboldt river. I have to recommend to your special notice the good conduct of Isaac Frapp, or Sho-sho-nee Aleck, the Sho-sho-nee half-breed, who has been of great service to the party, both as interpreter and as doing the general work of an employé.

In making these explorations and in carrying out your instructions I have been ably seconded by my assistants, Messrs. Poor, Long, and Key, whom I would recommend to you for favorable mention in your report to the department, and Mr. J. C. Campbell for his valuable general assistance; to John A. Justus, who was more particularly in charge of the transportation, I am largely indebted for the admirable manner in which he performed this important duty. With the exception of the two mules which died, he carried the entire stock through to California in good condition.

I am, sir, with greatest respect, your obedient servant,

From Lassen's Meadows to Genoa, in Carson Valley.....	175.50

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA,
October 31, 1860.

SIR: I have the honor to lay before you a report of the season's operations, details of which have already reached you in papers transmitted during the summer.

The Indians.

The subject of the Indian difficulties, the causes which produced them, the action of my party in relation to them, and the manner in which the war was closed, are embraced in a long report, which, following your instructions of 1859, I have made to the honorable Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

The Work.

Your instructions have been closely followed as to the erection of none other than permanent works. The only timber structures used were at small springs adjacent to the settlements and where the nature of the foundation precluded other modes of building. In such cases the timber is laid beneath the surface and where the constant saturation of water will prevent decay. At the same places large earth tanks were excavated, which would prove of service to the emigrants could the latter be induced to keep their stock from entering and turning them into pools of muddy water. Some of the emigrants were so improvident as to burn the fences and sills around the tanks.

At the first watering place, called Mud Springs, a paved descent and stoned bottom were all that was required.

At the second, known as Buffalo Springs, a well was sunk about fifteen feet below the surface of the Mud Lakes. Several strata of shells and clean white sand were passed through, but no bed of clay or hard material found suitable for a bottom to the tank. The water which percolated from the spring through the sides of this well was lost in the bottom. A line of wooden troughs was therefore laid below the orifice of the spring, and a tank formed around the troughs with an additional pond for waste water lined with the light surface clay of the Dry Lake. The old spring was opened and cleaned out, and the work left for the emigration to test. The result was, that the emigrants found abundance of water in the troughs through the whole of the dry season, but, from allowing their stock to enter the large adjacent tank, it was rendered muddy.

A trader has recently located at this spring, who has received instructions to prevent emigrants driving their cattle into the tank, which, in addition to the troughs, will always remain full of water.

At Deep Hole Springs, the great natural watering place on the western side of the desert, nothing was required.

At Granite Springs, paved bottoms and sides were placed and several small tanks made with inclined planes for the cattle to descend upon.

A most excellent watering place, with grass sufficient for a laying up ground, for the entire emigration, was discovered six miles northward from Granite Springs, and a new road traced across the desert and directed to it. It is at this point that the Pah-Utes, in large numbers, surrounded some emigrants and led them to believe that they were to be attacked. The spot is a favorite herding ground of that tribe. After a parley they told the emigrants they might take the grass. "Bye-and-bye big Fa' her pay 'um Pah-Utey."

At Hot Springs, the water, which is abundant, was conducted about four hundred feet to a large reservoir constructed by damming the old channel of a mountain brook. The sides of the reservoir were paved and the bottom puddled to prevent percolation. The water, which at the Hot Springs will boil an egg hard in six minutes, is cooled by the atmosphere in its passage to the reservoir, and is greedily drunk by animals that have crossed the first desert. The stream below the dam is comparatively cool and is good drinking water.

One-half mile from the Hot Springs we were so fortunate as to find a mountain spring of pure water. Here troughs were laid which remained full during the season. A sign-post was erected on the emigrant road, at some expense, from the distance to timber, directing travellers to the new spring.

These minor works having been completed, and the road out from Honey Lake graded, and in several instances changed in location, the party moved on to Rabbit Hole Springs.

This important point is situated about the centre of the Eastern desert. Two or three small springs break out from a hillside destitute of grass, and are absorbed by the sands a few feet distant from the clayey ridge. When passing this terrible range of country in 1859 we endeavored to obtain water enough to make coffee, but after a long and unavailing trial the train started on. We made on that trip a distance of sixty-two miles in twenty hours without grass or water.

On reaching this desolate point the present season, the animals, about one hundred in number, were sent forward to the Humboldt river in charge of Mr. C. C. Wrenshall. He was accompanied by twenty employés. After his departure, light wagons, with their loads, were packed in a corral around the scene of labor, and earth embankments thrown up as a bulwark against Indian attack. Work was then commenced on the springs by a party of fifteen men under an effective guard. Prospect holes were sunk to a depth of twenty-one feet, when the bed-rock and a small stream of water was struck. The prospect was then carried along the bed-rock towards the hill. At a distance of one hundred and eighty feet the springs of the hillside were encountered, affording clear and abundant water. The bed-rock was then uncovered and the earth wasted out into a spoil embankment for a space of one hundred and fifty feet square. This left the highest point of the proposed tanks about twenty feet below the surface of the hill, but with a very gradual slope from the terrace or spoil embankment into the tank. A deep excavation was then made along the highest ridge of the solid bed-rock, and, into this, channels were cut from the hillside springs. The channels and springs, five in number, were then united by a split-stone culvert, laid in hydraulic cement. This work was then closed with the debris of the hillside, after the covering stones of the culvert had received a strong packing of the blue clay of the section.

This clay resembles that found below low-water mark on the Atlantic coast, and used as boxing material to keep the sea out of cellars and reservoirs upon wharves laid below high tide.

After the waters of the springs were thus collected and shaded from the sun, so confined as to pass over a clear rock bottom to the orifices of the culvert and into the excavation, a large reservoir was commenced in the bed-rock. It required about three weeks' labor to perfect this to a tank holding about eighty thousand gallons. A wall was erected and a drain or vent laid, both of solid masonry. Soon after the tank filled the party moved on to Antelope Springs.

On our return, about three weeks later, the water in the Rabbit Hole tank was six feet in depth. A train of three hundred persons and one thousand animals did not materially lower its surface. Aquatic birds, ducks, teal, plovers, &c., &c., had sought the locality, which, in a straight line, is distant from the Humboldt river about thirty-six miles. The large body of water thus collected has had a remarkable effect on the surrounding vegetation. Grass has started on the adjacent desert, and, over an area of several hundred square feet, no individual could have recognised the spot. I consider this one of the most peculiar results I have ever had the opportunity of recording during the conduct of the many explorations and works in the wild interior which I have had in charge.

Antelope Springs, the last work on the line, are twelve miles distant from the Humboldt river.

Prior to the improvement of the Rabbit Hole, as the last point at which good water could be procured, Antelope Springs were justly estimated the most important watering place on the road. The emigrants usually halted there a few hours and grazed upon the adjoining bunch grass. They had, in former years, erected a small earth or mud dam, and a pool of six feet in diameter served for the few horses or more valuable animals commonly watered there by hand.

I thought it practicable to excavate the solid slate ledge to a level platform, sufficient to hold, with a curb wall of masonry, about thirty-five thousand gallons of water. If this were possible, a substantial work might be erected which would afford both the Oregon and California emigrants abundance of water.

The work was commenced and completed in about seventeen days. The walls laid in hydraulic cement have proved impervious to water, and a reservoir now exists which fills up as fast as drained, and can never fail of an abundant supply.

The Stock.

Great credit is due Mr. C. C. Wrenshall, who, during the construction of the last mentioned important works, remained in charge of the animals of transportation at a point on the Humboldt distant forty miles from the camp at Rabbit Hole. It was a portion of the party at the stock camp which captured the Pah-Utes referred to in my Indian report as instrumental in closing the war.

The Explorations.

A large extent of country has been covered in explorations. The report of Wm. H. Wagner, chief engineer, transmitted herewith, will explain the results and some of the perils of this service, which, after my reconnoissances in the north, was pursued entirely under his direction.

March to California, sale of Stock, and closing up of the Exploration.

On our way to California the armistice was made with Winnemucka, which has resulted in the close of the war.

The expedition halted a week at Honey Lake to repair wagons and recruit the stock. It crossed the mountains and reached Marysville in excellent condition on the 8th of September.

The best of the stock was sold at quite an advance on cost. The remainder of the property was disposed of at public auction as soon as properly advertised. From the proceeds of the sales nearly all the employés were paid off and discharged.

From the early completion of the work, it has proved of great service to the emigrants, many of whom, on arriving in the settlements, have taken the pains to compliment the department in the press of California and Oregon for the construction of this western section during the prevalence of an Indian war.

The success of the party may be attributed to your permitting me to retain the efficient and tried officers of former expeditions.

The office-work.

By your instructions of August 30, "it is suggested that, unless you are under an expressed obligation to return certain members of your party to Washington and desire to do so yourself, you wind up your affairs and report your accounts and operations on the road from California as soon as practicable, that the department may be in possession of all the facts connected with this season's work by the assembling of Congress in December next."

On reorganizing the expedition in 1859, I suggested to General Superintendent A. H. Campbell the propriety of increasing the compensation of William H. Wagner, esq., who, under the very inadequate salary of assistant engineer, was performing the important service of chief engineer, and to be sent in charge of an expedition in advance of the party to explore the dangerous Indian country adjacent to the Humboldt river. I also suggested an increase of compensation for C. C. Wrenshall, esq., who was sent in advance to Salt Lake City, there to organize an expedition of Mormon laborers to repair the new road in advance of the emigration. Neither of these gentlemen have received any increase of compensation, although both of them have been of very great service to the expedition during the two seasons in which, at subordinate pay, they have done so much as superior officers towards the success of our field operations. I believe both of these gentlemen should be regarded as entitled to transportation to Washington, and, as there has been some expense incurred in carrying on the work, under the circumstances of the Indian war, not contemplated in your instructions, the presence of my commissary, James A. Snyder, and disbursing agent, J. E. Burche, esq., may be necessary in Washington in regard to the adjustment of the accounts. Mr. Snyder is another of the gentlemen who, engaged at a low rate of compensation, has been promoted to the important position of commissary, and filled it with great credit to himself and without increase of pay for the last two years.

Although I have private reasons for remaining in California, I also consider it my first duty to accompany my accounts to Washinton and remain there during their adjustment. Some expenses have been incurred during the Indian troubles and afterwards, in obtaining interviews with the chiefs of the Pah-Utes, which cannot properly be explained unless I am present, and the accounts of which, under your instructions, I do not feel justified in presenting without a more full detail of the circumstances attending them than can appear in this report.

All my accounts, the Indian and the present report, will reach you, however, according to instructions, prior to the assembling of Congress in December.

With the report of Chief Engineer Wagner of his important explorations of the present season, I send such a sketch map as he is enabled to furnish at such short notice. It may appear expedient to you to have this season's work added to the valuable detail topographical maps, already completed under the superintendency of Mr. Wagner, of the country adjacent to the route extending to the Pah-Ute line. Such pains have been taken and expenses incurred in procuring these data, and they are so valuable to the country, that it might appear an omission not to have them placed upon the finished sheets with the other work, especially as this was apparently contemplated by the following clause of your instructions of April 16, 1860, arranging season's programme: "A detail report of your operations and a map of the road with the adjacent topography will be expected at the close of the work."

Should it be judged expedient by you to finish the mapping by adding to it the explorations of the present summer, Mr. Wagner, as the person most competent to superintend it, from having taken the field notes, can receive instructions on reaching Washington.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

F. W. LANDER.

Hon. JACOB THOMPSON,
Secretary of Interior.

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA,
October 22, 1860.

SIR: I have the honor to submit to you my report of the present season's explorations. The first reconnoissance was made from Honey Lake between the 19th of June and 1st of July. It extended over the valleys of Antelope and Willow creeks, tributaries of Susan river, through the Madelin plains and Buffalo Creek cañon (Mud Creek by Lt. Beckwith's exploration) to Buffalo Springs.

From Mud Spring a reconnoissance was made to the mountains east and south of it.

From Rush Creek to the divide of this and Buffalo Creek cañon.

From Smoke Creek over the dividing ridge to the desert.

From Buffalo Spring across the desert (Mud Lake) to the mountains and dividing ridge of Pyramid Lake. The larger part of Pyramid Lake was visible, the nearest point only 9 miles distant.

From Deep Hole Springs over the mountains to the Head of Granite creek.

An extensive reconnoissance was made to the Black Rock range and its neighborhood, through the High Rock cañon, returning by the old emigrant road (Lassen's trail) to Rabbit Hole Springs.

From Lassen's Meadows I went north and connected the work of last year at its terminus, the bend of Humboldt river at Tutt's Meadows.

All the highest and most prominent points were taken by intersections, sometimes tested by 4 or 5 bearings; other points were obtained again from these observations, so that an accurate map may be obtained of a country partly unexplored.

We crossed several times the lines of explorations made in 1853-'54 by Lt. Beckwith, Topographical Engineers. Off from his lines I found some deviations, which will explain the difference in the maps in some mountain ranges, course of creeks, and other minor details.

Observations of the variation of the compass were made in the Honey Lake valley, Humboldt river, Black Rock spring, and another point north of High Rock cañon—the last one not with satisfactory result, probably owing to close proximity of mineral ore. The number of barometrical observations is 490, at 20 stations.

Character of country.

A low but rocky ridge divides Antelope from Honey Lake valley; it has no water except what the melting snow in early spring furnishes.

Willow Creek valley is a very good grazing ground for a length of about 17 miles. Some emigrant trains with their stock spent the winter 1859-'60 in its lower part, and a settlement was made in its upper one; but after the commencement of the Indian difficulties in the spring of 1860, the valley being too exposed, was abandoned.

Northeast of Willow creek, low rolling hills, with occasionally high points, enclose perfectly level plains, the water reservoirs of the surrounding hills; they seldom have any other than subterranean outlets; some of them have only a bare bottom without any vegetation, others are covered in spring with grass. Madelin plains show in this way a luxuriant growth of grass, particularly around the springs which come down from the hillsides. The hills are covered with sage bushes interspersed with bunch grass; the mountain sides show the juniper trees. Between Madelin plains and Buffalo Spring desert, grass is found only along the water courses or around springs. The country is mountainous with steep and rocky hillsides, narrow ravines, and cañons; the water in Buffalo Creek cañon sinks before it emerges from the cañon. The upper part of Smoke creek runs between rock walls from 25 to 60 feet high, but the valley itself is in most places over one mile wide; the middle part at the forks of Rush creek is covered with grass. Smoke creek sinks before it reaches the desert.

The Mud Lakes, or, better expressed, the Granite Creek and Deep Hole Spring deserts, were very likely once the bottom of a lake which lost its water by an earth revolution; neither stones nor any vegetation are found upon its surface. The mountains which enclose these deserts have numerous cañons and ravines. But only a few of these ravines show springs or creeks sinking in the sandy sage girdle which encircles the deserts. A few springs rise in this region, furnishing the traveller with water, and the surrounding bottom, irrigated by their overflow, grass for the animals.

The Deep Hole Spring desert is 25 miles long and about 8 to 10 wide.

The Granite Creek desert extends from Granite creek 15 miles south, about 45 miles northeast, by a width of about 12 to 15 miles.

The Black Rock range, with its eastern terminus, the Black Rock point, is 27 miles from Granite creek. This range with its immediate neighborhood has been, in the last few years, the scene of labors of so many prospectors, expecting to make it a rival to the Carson valley region, that I may be permitted to give an outline of the origin of the researches for gold and silver ore.

In the years 1849-'53 a good portion of emigrants from the eastern States took, from the Humboldt river, Lassen's trail, through Black Rock valley, High Rock cañon to Goose Lake and the upper part of Pitt river, thence either to California or Oregon.

As early as 1849 a Mr. Harden found a specimen in Black Rock valley, which long afterwards was found out to be rich in silver.

In the same year Mr. Ben Johnson found native silver north of High Rock cañon.

M. J. Foreman, who travelled the same road in 1851, and Drt. Glaize, in 1852, both found specimens rich in silver ore.

Since that time, but mostly in the last two years, the country has been searched for silver. P. Lassen, well known as one of the earliest pioneers in California, was killed by Indians in one of these prospecting tours at the foot of Black Rock peak. Companies were formed and almost every one brought specimens in, some of which assayed as high as $1,700 per ton. It is estimated that over 1,500 persons visited and prospected in this country in the spring of 1860. But the Indian war interrupted a more extended and thorough search, as several parties were attacked, their animals driven off, and they barely escaped with their lives.

I have no doubt that in a short time hence rich leads will be discovered, but for settlements the country labors under some disadvantages.

In the upper part of Black Rock valley are several hot and two cold springs—the Silver springs. A small creek runs off from these for about 6 or 7 miles, then disappears. Farther down the valley are three more cool springs, with their grass, like an oasis in the desert. In the neighborhood of Black Rock point are three hot springs, the water of which, when cooled, is not disagreeable to drink. Some small springs with very good water are found in the northern and southern slopes of the enclosing mountains. In the mountains west of the valley juniper trees of considerable size and quaking aspens are found. On the eastern slope of Black Rock peak are two small creeks emptying east into Mud Lake, the banks of which are studded with quaking aspens, but the southern and western slopes are almost destitute of vegetation.

High Rock cañon is about 15 miles long, in average 500 yards wide, with perpendicular rock walls 180 feet high; water through its entire length in holes.

North from the cañon 6 miles and two miles east of the road, a very remarkable specimen of petrification was found by prospectors in the spring of 1860. It is a petrified tree covering a space of ground with its splinters and smaller pieces of 1,017 feet. There are three, though broken, pieces of 110, 125, and 85 feet lying in one line, the probable diameter about 6 or 8 feet.

We returned by a shorter and better route than High Rock cañon, a place only too favorable for Indian attacks, to Silver springs, thence across Black Rock desert to Rabbit Hole springs and Humboldt river.

The country north of Lassen's Meadows and west of Tutt's Meadows shows the same characteristics as that farther westward—large valleys covered with sage bushes and high granite mountains mostly without any trees.

Water is still scarcer here than in the Black Rock neighborhood; finding water once 12 miles from Humboldt river and again some at Rush creek, at the lower end of Tutt's Meadows.

Humboldt river was very low this season; many places which we found covered with water in the summer of 1859 had now good grass. To this is owing the good state of health of cattle droves coming from the east. None of the emigrants complained, as was formerly the case, about losing animals by poison from alkali.

Minerals.

In the course of my explorations many of the points I visited were rich in mineral ores. Some of the specimens I tested in camp, others I have placed in the hands of a skillful assayer for analysis.

Those I have tested for silver and gold were found to be rich enough for mining purposes. In regard to others, the expense for transportation of the raw material would be too high for profitable labor. Gold, silver, and manganese are found in the Black Rock range; copper in the mountains south of Antelope spring. Platina is said to be found in a cañon 3 miles west of the Antelope spring, also, gold in quartz. In excavating wells at Rabbit Hole spring small scales of gold were found 5 feet below the surface, and in the dry bed of a creek close by prospectors found gold, but there is not enough water to work with. In the sides of the mountains enclosing Honey Lake valley is iron ore and pyrites of iron. The washings and surface diggings of a small creek south of Richmond, in Honey Lake valley, have been profitably worked for gold during the last two seasons.

Indians.

The Pah-Utahs, after their several defeats, scattered—some over the northern portion of the country around the lakes and some to the mountains along the Humboldt river.

As we came out of High Rock cañon, about 10 a. m., a smoke arose from a small peak, about 8 miles north, close to the road. We camped two miles south from that bluff. In the afternoon, one party guarding camp and animals, the other visited the petrified tree; on arriving there they were shot at from a low bluff not very distant; one of the Indians had a rifle, two others bows and arrows. Immediately after firing the Indians ascended a higher bluff, where they were joined by a good many others. The distance between us was now so great that we did not waste our ammunition by returning their fire.

The next morning we ascertained that they had an encampment about 3 miles east of us in a small valley, but that they had left it during the night in an eastern direction.

Our camps in Black Rock valley were several times visited by Indians, as we repeatedly found their fresh moccasin tracks, but, keeping a strict guard, we were never surprised. Some parties of Pah-Utahs went up the Humboldt river trading with emigrants for ammunition. Many of these travellers had not yet learned of their war with the whites, but most of them refused to trade with them.

For the purpose of trading the Indians were friendly towards the emigrants, but well on their guard against parties coming from the west.

As we came out of the hills into the road below Tutt's Meadows, alarm fires were lighted opposite our camp; and in the course of the afternoon we counted 11 smokes on the highest peaks of the mountain range dividing the Pah-Utah and Sho-sho-nee tribes. They watched us in our course down the river very close, always raising a smoke opposite to our camp, but never attacked us. In all our explorations we did not lose a single animal, although from want of water, scarcity of grass, and long rides they suffered considerably.

Before closing this report I avail myself of the opportunity to express my thanks to the gentlemen associated with me in the engineering department: Messrs. R. L. Poor, M. M. Long, and Ch. F. Hoffman, for the efficiency and assiduity with which they attended to the various duties imposed upon them, and take much pleasure of favorably recommending them to your consideration.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

WILLIAM H. WAGNER,
Engineer P. L. W. Road.

DECLINATION OF THE WAR DEPARTMENT TO FURNISH CERTAIN CORRESPONDENCE.

FROM

THE SECRETARY OF WAR,

IN

Answer to a resolution of the House calling for a copy of the official letter of George Ihrie, late lieutenant in the army.

FEBRUARY 16, 1861.—Laid on the table and ordered to be printed.

WAR DEPARTMENT, February 15, 1861.

SIR: In reply to the resolution adopted by the House of Representatives on the 11th instant, requesting the Secretary of War to furnish the House with a copy of the official letter of George Ihrie, (late first lieutenant of the third regiment of United States artillery,) now on file in the War Department, in reply to General Harney's official letter of the 9th December, 1859, relating to the affairs of the military department of Oregon, I have the honor to state that on the 30th day of January, 1861, I transmitted to that body copies of all the correspondence on file in this department, not previously published, relating to General Harney's administration of the department of Oregon, except three letters from George Ihrie, and in reference to them I then remarked:

“There are also on file three letters, addressed to the late Secretary of War by George Ihrie, formerly a lieutenant in the United States army, under dates of 29th July, and 9th and 15th December, 1860. They make allusion to Brigadier General Harney's administration of the department of Oregon, but consist almost entirely of coarse personal denunciations of that gallant officer. Copies of these letters are withheld, since alike their vituperative language and the apparent purpose of their author forbid that this department should be in any way instrumental in giving them publicity.”

The present resolution refers to one, or perhaps more, of these letters, and as I have had no reason to change the opinion expressed in regard to them in the communication cited, I must again respectfully decline furnishing the copies requested. The letters themselves, when received, should at once have been returned to their writer, and they were, no doubt, filed through inadvertence or from a lack of knowledge on the part of the Secretary of War of their true character. While I have not felt authorized to reject them from the files, I have felt still less authorized to allow this department to be used, by personal malice, for the defamation of an officer whose chivalry and loyalty to his country's flag, under all circumstances, have rendered his reputation, in a measure, the common property of the republic.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. HOLT,
Secretary of War.

HON. WILLIAM PENNINGTON,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

COLLECTION OF DUTIES IN THE SECEDING STATES, &c.

FROM

THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY,

IN RESPONSE TO

A resolution of the House calling for information as to whether duties on imports continue to be collected in the ports of entry in certain southern States, &c.

FEBRUARY 21, 1861.—So much of the document as refers to the collection of the revenue referred to the Committee on Commerce, and the balance to the Committee of Ways and Means.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, February 21, 1861.

SIR: On the 11th instant the following resolution was adopted by the House of Representatives:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be requested to inform this House whether the duties on imports continue to be collected in the ports of entry established by law in the States of South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, and Florida; and whether any hindrances exist to the law of entry and clearing of vessels therein. Also, the present condition of the light-houses, beacons, and buoys, in the said harbors and adjacent waters. Also, what measures, if any, have been taken to secure the revenue vessels in the service of the department from seizure, or to recover possession of such as have been seized. Also, what measures have been adopted for the security of the public moneys in the hands of depositaries in the aforesaid States, and whether they are available to the Treasury. Also, whether the use and control of any of the marine hospitals, permanent or temporary, have been interfered with, and what proceedings have been adopted with reference thereto.

In obedience to the foregoing resolution, I have the honor to submit the following report in relation to the matters of inquiry embraced therein:

I.—THE COLLECTION OF DUTIES ON IMPORTS.

It is believed that the duties on imports continue to be collected in the ports of entry established by law in the States of South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, and Florida, and that vessels are entered and cleared in the usual manner. But, so far as this department is advised, the collectors assume to perform their duties under the authority of the States in which they reside, and hold the moneys they receive subject to the same authority.

The collector at Savannah, Georgia.

On the 4th instant the following letter was received from John Boston, esq., collector of the customs for the port of Savannah, whose resignation, dated January 31, was subsequently tendered.

CUSTOM-HOUSE, COLLECTOR'S OFFICE,
Savannah, January 30, 1861.

SIR: I to-day received the following despatch from his excellency Joseph E. Brown, governor of Georgia.

"You will pay no more money from the custom-house to any government or person without my order."

Respectfully, your obedient servant,

JOHN BOSTON, Collector.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX,

Secretary of the Treasury, Washington.

The following answer was immediately despatched by mail:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, February 4, 1861.

SIR: Your letter of the 30th ultimo, containing a copy of a despatch from the governor of Georgia, directing you to pay "no more money from the custom-house to any government or person, without his order," is received.

You will please to advise me, by return of mail, whether it is your purpose to obey his direction, or whether you will conform to the instructions of this department and perform your duty under the laws of the United States.

Very respectfully,

JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

JOHN BOSTON, Esq.,

Collector of the Customs, Savannah, Georgia.

On the 12th instant the following reply was received:

SAVANNAH, February 8, 1861.

SIR: Your letter, under date of the 4th instant, asking me whether it is my purpose to obey the direction of the governor of Georgia to pay no more money from the custom-house to any government or person, without his order, or whether I will conform to the instructions of this (your) department, and perform your (my) duty under the laws of the United States, is this moment received; and, in reply, I beg to say, that I will, as a good and loyal citizen, as I hope I am, obey the authority of my State.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

JOHN BOSTON.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX,

Secretary of the Treasury, Washington.

This declaration was carried out at a later day by refusing to pay a draft for the compensation of a revenue officer in his own State.

Surveyor of the port of Augusta, Georgia.

Augusta is a port of delivery for goods entered at Savannah, and the surveyor, who is the chief officer of the revenue, performs the duties of collector.

On the 21st of January he tendered his resignation, expressing the desire that he might continue to perform his duties until the 4th of March.

It was naturally supposed that he would, while acting in his usual relations to the government, at his own request, consider himself bound by his official oath to discharge his duties faithfully; and, especially, to pay over to the United States all moneys received by him. But by the monthly statement for January, recently made, he credits his account with the sum of $2,490 78, paid over by him to "the State of Georgia, to their credit, by order of Governor Joseph E. Brown, dated the 2d instant."

In rendering his account, as if conscious of the official dereliction it disclosed, he says: "I am well aware the account is not made out as required; still, you must consider me as an honest man, and if you do, pass it." The department did not pass it, but advised him that he would be held responsible under his bond for the payment of the amount to the United States.

About half of the officers of the customs in the States of South Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Georgia, and Louisiana, have resigned their commissions, while others appear to have entered on their duties to the governments of those States, without considering it necessary to perform this official ceremony. So greatly has the moral tone of some of these federal officers been impaired by the example of disloyalty to the Union presented to them by the States in which their duties were discharged, that a resignation seems to have been regarded by them as a mere formality, and not as indispensable to their release from high official obligations.

The custom-house and collector at New Orleans.

On the 2d instant it was publicly announced that the custom-house at New Orleans had been taken possession of by the State of Louisiana, and that the collector of the customs had taken the oath of allegiance.

On the receipt of this intelligence the following despatch was sent by telegraph:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, February 2, 1861.

Have the authorities of the State of Louisiana taken possession of the custom-house?

Have you taken the oath of allegiance to that State?

JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

F. H. HATCH, Collector of Customs, New Orleans.

No answer was received until the 6th instant, when the following despatch came to hand:

NEW ORLEANS, February 6, 1861.

SIR: Your despatch of the 2d was received this day. The authorities of the State of Louisiana took possession of this custom-house on the 31st ultimo. I mailed my resignation on that day, and advised you of the same by letter of that date, to which please refer.

F. H. HATCH.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

It may be proper to state in this place that while despatches by telegraph from New Orleans to this department have come in their regular course, when sent by persons in the interest of the State authorities, those sent from the department have, since the first instant, been from four to five days on the way, indicating that they were intercepted and scrutinized at some intervening point, and perhaps forwarded thence, through a different channel, to the persons to whom they were addressed. Between this city and New Orleans despatches are rewritten at Augusta, Ga., and Montgomery and Mobile, Ala., affording the opportunity of enforcing, against the wishes of the telegraph company, at each of these places, a system of espionage known only to the despotic governments of the Old World.

On the 5th instant the following despatch was received by telegraph:

LOUISVILLE, February 4, 1861.

Collector at New Orleans declines to pass goods on bonds given here unless cancelling certificates are given in name of Louisiana or duties are paid there. What shall I do about the matter? Will parties having goods for which they have given bonds for payment of duties here be held released by government if, to get them without delay, they pay duties at New Orleans?

W. N. HALDEMAN,
Surveyor of Customs.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX.

The following was immediately transmitted:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, February 5, 1861.

Telegraph despatches received; too indefinite; particulars in full by mail.

JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

W. N. HALDEMAN,
Surveyor, &c., Louisville, Ky.

On the ensuing day the following was transmitted:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, February 6, 1861.

What evidence have you that the collector of customs at New Orleans has acted as you stated in your despatch of yesterday?

JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

WALTER N. HALDEMAN,
Surveyor, &c., Louisville, Ky.

The following reply was received on the same day:

LOUISVILLE, February 6, 1861.

Casseday & Sons, importers here, were so advised by Clarke, Mosby & Co., their agents at New Orleans. Wrote you fully yesterday.

W. N. HALDEMAN,
Surveyor of Customs.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

On the same day the mail brought the following letter, alluded to in the foregoing despatch:

UNITED STATES CUSTOM-HOUSE,
Louisville, February 4, 1861.

SIR: Messrs. S. Casseday & Sons, china merchants, of this city, received the following telegraphic despatch this morning, from their agents at New Orleans:

NEW ORLEANS, February 1, 1861.

Custom-house in possession of Louisiana. Kentucky bonds refused. Will your surveyor grant cancelling certificates for goods bonded in name of Louisiana? Otherwise, must pay duty.

CLARKE, MOSBY & CO.

Messrs. S. CASSEDAY & SON.

At the urgent request of the Messrs. Casseday, I at once telegraphed you for instructions. They are anxious to get their goods, without delay, from New Orleans, and had arranged to bond here and withdraw them as their sales required.

Having given bond, however, for the payment of duties here, the question has occurred to them if they are not still liable for the duties to the United States, even if they pay them now, at the custom-house at New Orleans?

Of course I declined to give a cancelling certificate, as requested; but, as other like cases will arise, and as nearly all the goods brought to this port are received via New Orleans, I respectfully request full instructions in the premises.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

W. N. HALDEMAN,
Surveyor of Customs.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of U. S. Treasury, Washington, D. C.

CUSTOM-HOUSE, Cincinnati, February 8.

The following despatch received here: New Orleans, February 6, 1861.—Hunneywell, Hill & Co., Cincinnati. Carlyle arrived; can't enter in bond; shall pay duties here. Remit six hundred and thirty-two dollars. Voorhees, Griggs & Co. Several cases here of same kind. Merchants wish advice and instructions.

T. JEFFERSON SHERLOCK,
Surveyor of Customs.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury, Washington.

On the same day the following was sent, by telegraph, in reply to the surveyors of the ports of Louisville and Cincinnati:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, February 8, 1861.

Department cannot recognize the payment of duties to the State collector at New Orleans.

The goods will be liable to the United States for duties, notwithstanding such payments.

JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

CUSTOM-HOUSE, Cincinnati, February 9, 1861.

The following despatch received here this morning: New Orleans, February 8, 1861.—Hunneywell, Hill & Co., Cincinnati. Convention decided goods can be transported in bond, as heretofore. Certificates only required. Publish telegraph. Voorhees, Griggs & Co.

Your despatch received.

T. JEFFERSON SHERLOCK.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

It will be seen hereafter that this despatch was founded on a misapprehension, or that the oppressive and illegal practice supposed to have been abandoned was speedily resumed.

From these communications by letter and by telegraph from mercantile houses, and from the chief revenue officers at the ports of Cincinnati and Louisville, it appears that the collector of the customs at New Orleans, after assuming to act under the authorities of the State of Louisiana, refused to pass goods entered at that port for transportation to, and delivery at, Louisville, Kentucky, and other ports of delivery, unless the surveyors of the latter ports, holding their commissions from the United States and performing their duties within a State loyal to the Union, would acknowledge the authority of the State of Louisiana by cancelling transportation bonds given in her name to secure the payment of duties on goods imported by sea. This they could not do without violating their oaths of office; and in default of such an act of official turpitude, in any case, the duties were to be exacted at New Orleans. No doubt this was the alternative designed to be secured. The declaration of an intention to execute a particular purpose, except on a condition impossible to be performed, can only be regarded as an absolute determination to carry out the purpose without condition.

Under existing laws the importer of goods by sea to be delivered at Louisville, a port of delivery, may make entry at New Orleans, and give a bond for their transportation to the former port, where the duties are paid.

On their arrival at Louisville the importer may place them in a warehouse, and pay the duties when he withdraws them for consumption. On payment of the duties the bond is cancelled. The interior ports of delivery above New Orleans are twenty in number, and among them are Nashville and Memphis, Tennessee; Louisville, Kentucky; Cincinnati, Ohio; Evansville, Indiana; St. Louis, Missouri; Wheeling, Virginia; Pittsburg, Pennsylvania; and Cairo and Alton, Illinois. The duties collected at these twenty ports of delivery have, during the last five years, averaged over $500,000 per annum. For the year ending June 30, 1857, they exceeded $700,000.

The refusal of the collector at New Orleans to pass goods in bond for transportation to the ports of delivery above, and the exaction of duties at the former port, (for such was the effect of his requirements during the first seven days of this month,) not only subjected importers to the onerous obligation of paying the impost before the goods were needed for consumption, and thus deprived them of a privilege secured by the revenue laws, but it forced them either to resort to other channels of communication or pay double duties; for the department cannot recognize the collector at New Orleans, who has resigned his commission and assumes to act under the authority of the State of Louisiana, and therefore the payment of duties to him does not exonerate them from the payment to the United States.

The revenue derived from merchandise imported for consumption, by way of New Orleans, into the great States bordering on the rivers which have their outlet to the Gulf of Mexico through the territories of Louisiana, has been monopolized by her. In so doing she has struck a fatal blow at the free navigation of the Mississippi, by making the inward commerce of the west by sea subject to her authority and tributary to her treasury.

Whatever may be the practice in regard to goods received from our own cities by sea and destined to the upper ports, there can be no doubt that merchandise imported from foreign countries is required to be entered at New Orleans; and if the duties are not exacted they must be bonded in the name of the State of Louisiana for transportation; for, notwithstanding the assurance contained in the despatch of the surveyor of the port of Cincinnati of the 9th of February, communicating one from Voorhees, Griggs & Co., of the 8th, goods are not "transported in bond as heretofore." On the contrary, it appears that bonds executed at the twenty ports of delivery above New Orleans in the name of the United States, as they may be under existing laws, are not recognized by the collector of the latter port, but that he requires them to be executed at New Orleans, and in the name of the State of Louisiana.

CINCINNATI, February 12, 1861.

DEAR SIR: We notice to-day that the collector at New Orleans has decided that duties on all goods passing through New Orleans, destined for inland ports, must be paid at that port, on account of the treasury of Louisiana.

We have about 200 crates earthenware due at New Orleans in the ships "Wurtemberg" and "Oroöndates," and will thank you to inform us, on receipt of this, what course we shall pursue in regard to payment of duties.

Will the department protect us, or must we pay duties at New Orleans? The invoices are all sworn to here and sent forward for shipment to this port in bond.

Very respectfully,

BARE & WEST.

Hon. J. A. Dix,
Secretary of the Treasury.

Two days before the receipt of this letter a despatch had been transmitted to the surveyor of the port of Louisville to ascertain what rule was then enforced by the collector at New Orleans in regard to bonds for duties and transportation. On the 14th the following reply was received:

LOUISVILLE, KY., February 14, 1861.

Bonds for the goods were given here, not at New Orleans, and our importers inform me that the collector there still declines to recognize them. Have telegraphed him to know definitely, and will advise you immediately after his reply comes.

W. N. HALDEMAN, Surveyor.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX, Secretary of the Treasury.

At a later hour on the same day the following despatch was received:

LOUISVILLE, February 14, 1861.

Collector Hatch telegraphs me that transportations are continued as usual, but bonds must be to the State of Louisiana, and executed at New Orleans.

W. N. HALDEMAN, Surveyor, &c.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX, Secretary of the Treasury.

As this despatch was founded on one received on that day from the collector at New Orleans, it must be regarded not only as authentic but official; and it shows that no bonds are received unless executed at that port, and in the name of the State of Louisiana.

That the department has not misinterpreted the meaning of this despatch, or misapprehended the effect of the practice adopted in New Orleans in regard to the payment of duties and the nature of the bonds required of importers residing at the upper ports, is also manifest from the letters of complaint received almost every day, asking the protection of the government against these exactions. The following is one of these letters:

LOUISVILLE, February 14, 1861.

DEAR SIR: We are just in receipt of a letter from the custom-house at New Orleans, informing us that a lot of queensware for us had arrived, but that it would be impossible for us to get it unless it would be paid for (the customs.) We have given a bond for it here, and we would not like to pay for it twice. You would confer upon us a great favor by answering us immediately what to do.

Yours, truly,

GODSHAW & FLEXNER,
Per LYONS.

Hon. J. A. DIX.

It is not distinctly understood whether the duties are, by the condition of these bonds, to be paid at New Orleans, or whether the obligors may be discharged by payment at the port of delivery. In either case the authority of the federal government is overthrown, and the free navigation of the Mississippi abrogated. If Louisiana is, as she assumes to be, a foreign power in reference to the nine States above her, which have ports of delivery where duties on goods imported by way of New Orleans may be paid, the exercise of the right of requiring such goods to be entered and bonded for transportation to those ports is in violation of the principle, always asserted by the United States, in regard to the free commercial use of navigable streams by States bordering on them.

The question is not varied in principle if she has become, or shall hereafter become, a confederate of the five other States, which have assumed to throw off their allegiance to the Union. While this right was exercised by the United States, Louisiana and the States above in which there are ports of delivery, being subject to the same government, it was merely for the institution of revenue regulations common to all. But, if Louisiana has become a foreign power in reference to them, it rises into an international question of the very highest delicacy and importance.

The United States have uniformly placed the free navigation of rivers on the ground of natural right. The Congress of Vienna, in 1815, recognized the same principle by declaring the navigation of the rivers separating or crossing the territories of the great powers to be entirely free. The vindication of this right, in regard to the Mississippi river, at various epochs in our correspondence with foreign powers when they were in possession of territories bordering on it, has produced some of the ablest State papers in the archives of the government.

One of the chief objects in view, in the purchase of the Territory of Louisiana, was to secure this right to the people of the United States. The possession of the country at and near the mouth of the Mississippi, by Spain and France, had given rise to embarrassments and contentions which threatened at different periods to involve us in hostilities with both those powers; and it was in order to put an end to these dissensions forever, and especially to protect the people of the States on the higher portions of the river in the free use of its waters for commercial purposes, that the Territory was purchased of France by Mr. Jefferson, after a protracted negotiation, and at a heavy expense to the national treasury; thus securing to the United States and their inhabitants, to use his own language, the "uncontrolled navigation of that river in its whole course." Louisiana was created a State out of a portion of the Territory thus acquired, on the express and fundamental condition "that the river Mississippi and the navigable rivers and waters leading into the same and into the Gulf of Mexico [should] be common highways, and forever free, as well to the inhabitants of the said State as to the inhabitants of other States and the Territories of the United States, without any tax, duty, impost, or toll therefor imposed by the said State."

In violation of this condition, and in open defiance of a great natural right, written, to use the language of our diplomacy, in deep characters on the heart of man, the State of Louisiana, after declaring herself separated from the other States of the Union, and in the exercise of a sovereignty wholly independent of them, assumes to arrest the free passage of goods from the ocean to the States above her, to estimate their value by her own officers, to assess imposts on them, and to exact from the importers, not her own citizens, bonds for the payment of the duties, and for their transportation to the places out of her own territory to which they are destined.

The control thus assumed over the commerce of the Mississippi goes far beyond the pretensions set up in the old world on the basis of ancient prescription—pretensions which have been, in times past, a fruitful source of dissension and bloodshed, but are now condemned by the general judgment of mankind.

In its bearing on the revenue system of the United States, this subject assumes an importance peculiar to itself. The usurpation in question practically abolishes the twenty ports of delivery above New Orleans, at any one of which, under existing laws, goods may be received by sea, and the duties on them paid. It diverts the customs revenue, ordinarily collected on such goods at these ports, from the treasury of the United States into that of Louisiana. It abrogates the whole revenue system of the United States in the valley of the Mississippi, above New Orleans, so far as it is applicable to the importation of merchandise by sea.

This subversion of the authority of the United States is sustained and enforced through the military occupation by Louisiana of the fortresses erected at the mouth of the Mississippi, at the common expense of the States of the Union, for the protection of the vast commerce of that river and its tributaries. The vessels placed there by the federal government, to enforce the execution of the revenue laws, have fallen into her hands. It matters not whether the officers to whom they were confided were corrupted through the agency of others, or whether their treachery to the government to which they had sworn allegiance and fidelity was the fruit of a spontaneous dereliction of high moral and official obligations. The State, by receiving them and the vessels they commanded into her service, has given her countenance and sanction to the most odious of political offences. She has completed a series of unresisted usurpations without a parallel in our history, by seizing the public treasure in the branch mint at New Orleans, (placed there by a confiding government, with the assurance that under the ægis of her honor it would be secure from violation,) and appropriating it under circumstances showing either that there was a criminal complicity on the part of the officer to whom it was intrusted, or that he yielded to the coercive power of superior physical force. As aids to a forcible assumption of the revenue authority of the government, these successive acts have an importance too obvious to be overlooked. That this pretension will be speedily renounced can hardly be doubted. It concerns the interests of nine States, which are loyal to the Union, and which have an aggregate population of more than fourteen millions of souls. If persisted in, it must soon become a source of the most embittered strife. Its assertion, as an exponent of the independent attitude Louisiana has assumed, shows that the safety of the riparian States on the Mississippi and its tributaries must depend on the regulation of the revenue system on these waters by a common government, in the administration of which all have a voice, and that the possession of the fortresses which command the entrance into this great natural channel of internal communication, cannot for any length of time remain under a less restricted military control without danger of the most serious disturbances. And it behooves the whole country, especially that great portion of it which is penetrated by the currents of the Mississippi and its confluent, to consider where the commercial ascendancy thus assumed by the State of Louisiana will be likely to have its termination, if any just conception of its magnitude and arbitrary control may be inferred from these, its incipient developments.

Throughout this whole course of encroachment and aggression the federal government has borne itself with a spirit of paternal forbearance, of which there is no example in the history of political society; waiting in patient hope that the empire of reason would resume its sway over those whom the excitement of passion had thus blinded, and trusting that the friends of good order, wearied with submission to proceedings which they disapproved, would at no distant day rally under the banner of the Union, and assert themselves with vigor and success against the prevailing recklessness and violence.

II.—LIGHT-HOUSES, BEACONS, AND BUOYS.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

On the 30th December last, Commander T. T. Hunter, United States light-house inspector at Charleston, reported to the Light-house Board that the governor of South Carolina had requested him to leave the State, authorizing him to take the light-house tender, but prohibiting him from removing any property belonging to the United States in the buoy shed. On the 1st January the governor forbade the removal of the vessels belonging to the light-house establishment from Charleston, but the inspector, Commander Hunter, was allowed to leave by land. On the 8th, the removal of the light-vessel at Rattlesnake Shoals, off the harbor of Charleston, was reported to the Light-House Board, and the board was informed that the three tenders in the harbor of Charleston had been seized by the authorities of South Carolina.

Official information having also been received of the removal of buoys, the extinction of lights, and the obstruction of the principal channel of the harbor of Charleston, the following notice was published.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.—No. 106.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE LIGHT-HOUSE BOARD,
Washington, D. C., January 26, 1861.

Information has been received at this office that the light-vessel at Rattlesnake Shoals has been withdrawn; that the lights on Morris island and at the entrance into the port of Charleston, South Carolina, have been discontinued; the buoys removed, and the main ship channel so obstructed as to be unsafe for navigation.

By order :

R. SEMMES, Secretary.

GEORGIA.

On the 6th of February the keeper of St. Simon's light, near Darien, reported that his light had been obscured by a party of persons claiming authority from the State, but the light was not extinguished.

On the 8th Captain W. H. C. Whiting, of the United States engineers, reported that possession had been taken of his office, furniture, &c., in Savannah, by the authorities of the State.

ALABAMA.

On the 20th of January Commander E. L. Handy, light-house inspector, reported that the tender "Alert," belonging to the light-house establishment, was seized at Mobile by order of the commanding officer of the State troops at Fort Morgan. On the 21st T. Sanford, collector of the customs at Mobile, notified Commander Handy that he, "in the name of the sovereign State of Alabama, takes possession of the several light-houses within the State, and all appurtenances pertaining to the same." Mr. Sanford had resigned his commission as collector on the 12th of the same month.

On the 1st of February Commander Handy transmitted a copy of a letter addressed to R. T. Chapman, esq., late of the United States navy, by T. Sanford, collector, appointing him light-house inspector in place of Commander Handy, to whom the appointment was tendered by the authorities of Alabama, but who refused to accept it.

Commander Handy having no force at his disposal to resist these assumptions of authority, was, at his own request, relieved from the embarrassing position in which they had placed him.

LOUISIANA AND FLORIDA.

Several keepers of lights in these two States have tendered their resignations, alleging as a reason that their States had seceded from the Union. No successors have been appointed.

Florida reef.

A special agent has been despatched to provide for the safety of the lights on this reef by arming the keepers. They are at a distance from the main coast of Florida, and no apprehension is entertained that they will be interfered with by the State authorities. But it was thought not impossible, in the present disordered state of the country, and with the relaxation of moral and political ties involved in it, that they might be extinguished by evil-minded persons for the purpose of causing shipwrecks.

It is not known that any lights on the southern coast, except those in South Carolina, have been extinguished. The lights and all other aids to navigation on that coast were amply supplied with all necessities, and in good condition when they were seized.

III.—THE BRANCH MINT AT NEW ORLEANS.

The treasurer of the branch mint at New Orleans is ex officio assistant treasurer of the United States at that place.

On the 21st of January, six days after I took charge of the Treasury Department, I caused a draft on him, as treasurer of the branch mint, to be issued for $350,000, payable to Adams's Express Company, for transfer to the mint at Philadelphia. At the time this draft was given there were in his hands the following sums:

As treasurer of the mint.....	$389,267 46
As assistant treasurer, to the credit of the Treasurer of the United States.....	265,445 14
As assistant treasurer, to the credit of disbursing offi- cers.....	225,374 80

In view of the unscrupulousness with which the public property had been seized in other quarters, I did not think it right to leave so large an amount in a State which, from all indications, was about to pass an ordinance of secession. A draft was accordingly drawn for $350,000, as above stated, with a view to transfer the coin and bullion to a safe place of deposit. The Treasurer of the United States was also instructed to draw rapidly for disbursement on the balance standing to his credit. As the deposit to the credit of disbursing officers was in a regular course of reduction by their payments, and as the re-transfer of these moneys to the treasury would have been attended with some embarrassment, they were not disturbed. In pursuance of my instructions to the Treasurer of the United States, the deposit to his credit was reduced by his drafts from $265,445 14 to $18,149 20. It has been ascertained that about $70,000 were paid on these drafts before the 31st of January, when, as will be seen hereafter, the branch mint and its contents were seized by the authorities of the State of Louisiana. If all the drafts drawn by this department had been paid, the first two items in the above statement, amounting to $654,712 60, would have been reduced to $57,416 66.

By some irregularity of the mail, which cannot be accounted for, the draft for $350,000 to the order of Adams's Express Company, though transmitted from this department on the 21st of January, was not received at Baltimore till the 24th, on which day a duplicate was issued, with a request that no time should be lost in presenting it. In answer to an inquiry made by the department on the 26th, the following telegraphic despatch was received :

BALTIMORE, January 26, 1861.

Your telegram received ; instructions went forward two days since to execute your order.

S. M. SHOEMAKER,
Superintendent of Adams's Express Company.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX, Secretary of the Treasury.

On the 30th of January the following despatch came to hand :

OFFICE OF ADAMS'S EXPRESS COMPANY,
Baltimore, Md., January 30, 1861.

Our advices in cypher, by telegraph from New Orleans, are that the assistant treasurer has not sufficient funds in hand to pay your draft ; that three or four days will elapse before the mint will turn over sufficient to meet this demand. The assistant treasurer declines paying until he is able to pay the whole. I deem it my duty to inform you of these facts. We have nothing which would indicate an intention on the part of the United States officers or others to throw any difficulties in the way of our receiving the bullion.

Respectfully and truly,

S. M. SHOEMAKER,
Superintendent Adams's Express Company.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury, Washington, D. C.

This department did not put on the conduct of the treasurer the charitable construction expressed in the last paragraph of the foregoing despatch. On the contrary, it was regarded as indicating a design to gain time, and a predetermination to place the government of Louisiana in possession of the branch mint and its treasure. There was no ground for the pretext assigned for not paying a portion of the draft. There were gold and silver coins amounting to over $280,000, which might have been delivered on its presentation. A large part of the coin and bullion was in silver. It weighed several tons. It could not all have been taken for remittance by the express company on the same day. Nor was there any foundation for the excuse that there was not a sufficient amount on hand to pay the whole draft. This pretence had been anticipated. There was more than $389,000, and the draft was purposely drawn for $350,000 only, leaving a balance of nearly $40,000. The despatch was received on the night of the 30th, and early the next day the following was sent by telegraph :

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
January 31, 1861.

You are requested to pay as much as you can on the transfer draft in favor of Adams's Express Company at once.

JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

A. J. GUIROT, Esq.,
Treasurer of the Branch Mint, New Orleans.

No further advices were received until the 2d instant, when the following despatch came to hand :

BALTIMORE, February 2, 1861.

United States treasury notified on yesterday your transfer draft would not be paid, as the State convention had taken charge. I am unable to give you the precise language, but this is the purport of it. We await your instructions in the premises.

S. M. SHOEMAKER,
Superintendent Adams's Express.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of Treasury.

On the same day the following despatch was sent :

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
February 2, 1861.

Have the authorities of the State of Louisiana taken possession of the branch mint? Have you taken the oath of allegiance to that State? Have you paid over to Adams's Express Company any part of the coin or bullion in your custody on the draft of the United States Treasurer, and in obedience to my order?

JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

A. J. GUIROT,
Treasurer of the Branch Mint, New Orleans.

On the evening of the 6th instant the following was received :

NEW ORLEANS, February 6, 1861.

Your telegram of the second instant has been received to-day. The State of Louisiana took possession of the branch mint on the thirty-first ultimo, at half-past nine o'clock a. m. The agent of the Adams's Express came to the mint the same day, at two o'clock p. m., and asked me whether the report of the taking of the mint was correct? I answered in the affirmative. He then said, if so, there is no use to present the transfer draft of three hundred and fifty thousand dollars for payment. I told him to apply to the convention. Whether he did so or not, I cannot say. I transmitted the same day my resignation to the President, under your cover, and I have since taken the oath of allegiance to the State of Louisiana.

Respectfully,

A. J. GUIROT.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

In this despatch the treasurer of the branch mint wholly omits to acknowledge the first presentation of the draft or to refer to and explain the attending circumstances, which were regarded as the evidence of a pre-determination on his part to violate his duty to his government. The facility with which his official obligations were thrown off, as shown by his own statement, justifies the interpretation put on his conduct six days before. In his official oath, on file in this department, he solemnly swore that he would "faithfully and diligently perform the duties of his appointment" as treasurer of the branch mint and assistant treasurer of the United States at New Orleans "according to law." The law required that he should keep safely all public money in his possession and custody, and when orders for transfer or payment were made by the proper department or officer of the government and such orders for transfer or payment were received, "faithfully and promptly to make the same as directed." These duties were violated before he took the oath of allegiance to the State of Louisiana, for no officer can by a mere resignation, without a discharge by the government to which he is accountable, release himself from the engagements he has assumed. Even if the seizure of the mint by the authorities of Louisiana was an act of coercion which he could not resist, he might have protected himself from imputations derogatory to his official character by protesting against it instead of yielding to it the tacit consent which his communication to the department implies. The assistant treasurer at Charleston, Benjamin C. Presly, esq., in honorable contrast, has promptly paid all drafts on presentation to him, and has applied to this department to draw for the balance in his hands in order that he may be released from his official liabilities.

The precise amount of coin and bullion thus appropriated by the State of Louisiana in entering on her assumed career of independence cannot be ascertained until the drafts issued by the treasurer of the United States shall be returned for non-payment, or until she shall deem it due to herself to restore the treasure confided to one of her own citizens with no other protection from public rapacity than the generous trust reposed in her. An opportunity will be speedily furnished by the presentation of other drafts for payments due her own citizens and the citizens of neighboring States.

By the enclosed copy of a letter, marked A, from the director of the mint at Philadelphia, it will be seen that the weekly returns required to be made by the treasurer of the branch mint at New Orleans have not been furnished since the 1st instant, and that if money is coined at the latter, the government has no means, under existing circumstances, of securing a conformity to the established standards of value.

DEPOSITARIES OF THE PUBLIC MONEY.

At an early day after taking charge of this department, I directed the Treasurer to issue his drafts for disbursement on the depositaries of the public moneys in all the States (including those specified by the resolution of the House of Representatives) in which there were any decided manifestations of an intention to follow the example of South Carolina in throwing off their allegiance to the Union. These drafts were, as a general rule, paid, and the balances in the hands of the depositaries referred to were reduced to very small sums.

IV.—THE MARINE HOSPITAL.

In the month of June, 1858, the marine hospital opposite New Orleans became seriously injured by the overflow of the waters of the Mississippi river. Its foundations were so disturbed by the flood that it was deemed unsafe for occupation. The barracks, two miles below the city, being untenanted, and not needed for troops, they were, with the consent of the War Department, appropriated to the use of the sick, who were removed to them, and have occupied them ever since.

On the 26th day of January, ultimo, I received the following letter from the collector of the customs at New Orleans:

CUSTOM-HOUSE, NEW ORLEANS,
Collector's Office, January 14, 1861.

SIR: I have the honor to inform you that the United States barracks below the city have been taken possession of in the name of the State of Louisiana, as will appear by the enclosed communication from "C. M. Bradford, captain Louisiana infantry." I shall take steps to remove these invalids, if necessary, at an early date, and with due regard to economy.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

F. H. HATCH, Collector.

Hon. P. F. THOMAS,
Secretary of the Treasury, Washington.

In this letter was enclosed one from Captain Bradford, to which it alluded, and which is as follows:

BARRACKS NEAR NEW ORLEANS,
January 13, (Sunday,) 1861.

SIR: On the 11th instant I took possession of these barracks in the name of the State of Louisiana, and they will hereafter be held by the same authority. I find herein some two hundred and sixteen invalids and convalescent patients, who were removed here some months ago, by your authority, from the marine hospital on the opposite bank of the river during the recent overflow.

As these quarters will all be required for the Louisiana troops now being enlisted, I have to request that you will immediately remove those patients who are convalescent, and, as soon as, in the opinion of the resident surgeon, it may be practicable and humane, those also who are now confined to their beds.

I beg leave further to add that the quarters now occupied by the surgeon and his assistants, nurses, stewards, &c., will remain at their use and disposal as long as may, in the surgeon's opinion, be necessary.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

C. M. BRADFORD,
Captain 1st Louisiana infantry.

F. H. HATCH, Esq.,
Collector U. S. Customs, New Orleans.

On the following day I sent to the collector the following despatch, by telegraph:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, January 27, 1861.

Apply to the governor of Louisiana to revoke Captain Bradford's order. Remonstrate with the governor against the inhumanity of turning the sick out of the hospital. If he refuses to interfere, have them removed under the care of the resident surgeon, and do all in your power to provide for their comfort.

JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

F. H. HATCH,
Collector of the Customs, New Orleans.

On the 28th I addressed the following letter to the collector:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, January 28, 1861.

SIR: I did not receive until the 26th instant yours of the 14th, informing me that the United States barracks below the city of New Orleans, which have for several months been occupied as a marine hospital, had "been taken possession of in the name of the State of Louisiana." I found enclosed a copy of the letter of Captain C. M. Bradford of the first Louisiana infantry, advising you that he had taken possession of the barracks, that they would "be required for the Louisiana troops now being enlisted," and requesting you to "immediately remove those patients who are convalescent, and, as soon as in the opinion of the resident surgeon it may be practicable and humane, those also who are now confined to their beds." He also states that the barracks contained "two hundred and sixteen invalids and convalescent patients."

On this transaction, as an outrage to the public authority, I have no comment to make. But I cannot believe that a proceeding so discordant with the character of the people of the United States, and so revolting to the civilization of the age, has had the sanction of the governor of the State of Louisiana. I sent a telegraphic despatch to you yesterday, desiring you to remonstrate with him against the inhumanity of Captain Bradford's order, and ask him to revoke it. But if he should decline to interfere, I instructed you in regard to the removal and treatment of the sick; and in that event, I trust you will carry out my direction, not merely with "economy," but with a careful regard to their helpless condition.

The barracks, it seems, were taken possession of on the 11th inst. Captain Bradford's letter is dated the 13th, and yours the 14th, though I had no information on the subject until the 26th. I infer from the newspaper paragraph you enclosed, which telegraphic advices in regard to the subject-matter show to be of a later date than your letter, that the latter was not despatched until the 21st or 22d instant. I hope I am mistaken, and that the cause of the delay is to be found in some unexplained interruption of the mail. I should otherwise have great reason to be dissatisfied that the information was not more promptly communicated.

From the tone of the newspaper paragraph you enclosed, and from the seizure of the barracks, in violation of a usage of humanity, which in open war between contending nations, and even in the most revengeful civil conflicts between kindred races, has always held sacred from disturbance edifices dedicated to the care and comfort of the sick, I fear that no public property is likely to be respected. You will therefore have no more money expended on the revenue cutter Washington, now hauled up for repairs, until I can have the assurance that she will not be seized as soon as she is refitted, and taken into the service of those who are seeking to break up the Union and overthrow the authority of the federal government.

I am, respectfully, yours,

JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

F. H. HATCH, Esq.,
Collector of the Customs, New Orleans.

In order to understand the last paragraph it is proper to say that in the letter of the collector of the 14th January was enclosed a newspaper article correcting the statement that the revenue cutter Washington had been seized by irresponsible parties. It added, "we hope that no attempt will be made by illegal and unauthorized bodies to make any seizure or commit any violence against the federal or any other property. Whatever the defence or necessities of the State may require to be done in these matters should be done by the executive of the State alone." That the precaution of the department in ordering expenditures for repairs on the Washington to be discontinued was not premature is apparent from the fact that she was seized by the State within three days afterwards, the public necessities alluded to having, it would seem, become so urgent in that brief period of time as to demand this exercise of sovereignty.

On the succeeding day the following letter from the collector was received:

CUSTOM-HOUSE, NEW ORLEANS,
Collector's Office, January 21, 1861.

SIR: Referring to my letter of the 14th instant, I have the honor to inform you that by proper representations and remonstrances I have been able to retain the United States barracks for the use of the United States marine hospital, and will probably continue to do so without further molestation.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

F. H. HATCH, Collector.

Hon. PHILIP F. THOMAS,
Secretary of the Treasury, Washington.

To this letter the department deemed it due to the collector immediately to return the following reply:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, January 29, 1861.

SIR: I have received your letter of the 21st instant, and cannot withhold the prompt expression of my acknowledgment of the service you have done to the cause of humanity by preventing, through your representations and remonstrances, all interference with the invalids at the barracks occupied as a marine hospital.

I cannot imagine why your letters are so long in reaching me. The delay of the last shows that the fault is with the mails, as I supposed.

I am, respectfully, yours,

JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

F. H. HATCH, Esq.,
Collector of the Customs, New Orleans, La.

On the evening of the 28th the department also received the following despatch by telegraph:

NEW ORLEANS, January 28, 1861.

Marine hospital affair satisfactorily arranged. Barracks retained. See my letter of 21st instant.

F. H. HATCH, Collector.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

On the 19th instant the following letter was received from the late United States collector at New Orleans.

CUSTOM-HOUSE, NEW ORLEANS,
Collector's Office, February 9, 1861.

SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 29th ultimo, expressing your acknowledgments of what you are pleased to regard "the service I have done the cause of humanity by preventing, through my representations and remonstrances, all interference with the invalids at the barracks occupied as a marine hospital."

While your prompt withdrawal of the imputations of inhumanity on the part of the authorities of Louisiana is but an act of simple justice, I feel I cannot justly appropriate the merit you are pleased to attribute to my agency. The authorities would never have exercised the least inhumanity towards these patients; for, if the barracks had been required for the use of the troops Louisiana has been compelled to raise for her protection and defence, her Charity Hospital, justly the glory and pride of her munificence, into whose portals the afflicted of all nations can enter, without money and without price, would have amply provided for their wants.

In closing this communication I am constrained to observe, in reply to the remark in your letter of the 28th, that you "fear no public property is likely to be respected," that, in compliance with the ordinance of the convention of the people of Louisiana, the State took possession of the public property in trust to prevent any abuse of the same by the federal government, which it was believed would pervert that which the Constitution intended for defence to the purposes of destruction. This property she will be ready to render a just and true account of at the proper time.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant,
F. H. HATCH, Collector.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury, Washington.

On this letter a few brief comments seem essential to a correct appreciation of the subject.

1. No imputation of inhumanity against the authorities of Louisiana was withdrawn; none was made. On the contrary, in the first letter from this department the belief was expressed that the seizure of the hospital was without the sanction of the governor.

2. Though Mr. Hatch, in the foregoing letter, declines to appropriate the merit attributed to him by the department in saving the United States barracks and their invalid inmates from disturbance, he claims, in his letter of the 21st of January, that, by "proper representations and remonstrances, he [had] been able to retain" them for use as a marine hospital; and it was in response to this claim that the merit he now disowns was promptly and cheerfully acknowledged.

3. When Mr. Hatch advised the department that the 216 invalids and convalescent patients had been ordered out of the barracks used as a marine hospital, no allusion was made to the Charity Hospital of Louisiana, where it now appears they could have been received "without money and without price." On the contrary, he informed the department that he should, if necessary, take steps to remove them "with due regard to economy," leaving it to be inferred that they were to be provided for at the expense of the United States.

4. The government has received from the State of Louisiana no acknowledgment that the property it has seized, including the branch mint and the revenue cutters, is held in trust; and it is one of the first instances on record in which such an estate has been created by forcibly wresting national property from the possession of the lawful owner.

5. On what explicable theory the branch mint, a part of the property seized in trust, could have been perverted to purposes of destruction is not readily perceived. If the treasurer had, as was his duty, paid the drafts drawn on him by this department, the moneys in his custody would have been disbursed long ago for the private benefit and relief of the public creditors. Nor is it perceived how the revenue cutter Robert McClelland could have been used for the destruction of the State of Louisiana if she had been allowed to proceed to New York, more than a thousand miles distant, in obedience to the orders of this department.

6. Mr. Hatch, as will be seen hereafter, was engaged, more than a week before the convention of Louisiana met to consider the question of secession, in a conspiracy, unfortunately a successful one, to surrender the revenue cutter Robert McClelland to the State authorities, while he held a commission from the United States, and was acting under an oath of fidelity to the government. It is under these circumstances, and with this stain on his official character, that he comes forward to respond for the good faith of the State of Louisiana in seizing the public property, including the treasure in the branch mint.

V.—REVENUE CUTTERS.

On the 18th of January ultimo, three days after I took charge of this department, I decided to despatch a special agent to New Orleans and Mobile to save, if possible, the revenue cutters on those stations. Mr. Wm. Hemphill Jones, chief clerk in the First Comptroller's office, was selected for the purpose; and on the 19th he left this city with instructions to provision the vessels, and give the commanding officers verbal orders to take them to New York. This mode of conveying the directions to them was chosen, because no confidence was felt that the mails or the telegraph could be relied on as a safe medium of communication. That the authority of Mr. Jones to communicate to these officers the directions intrusted to him might not be questioned, he was furnished with the following letter, addressed to the commanders of the cutters Lewis Cass, at Mobile, and the Robert McClelland, at New Orleans:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
January 19, 1861.

SIR: This letter will be presented to you by Wm. Hemphill Jones, a special agent of this department.

You are required to obey such directions as may be given you, either verbally or in writing, by Mr. Jones, with regard to the vessel under your command.

I am, respectfully,

JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

It was deemed prudent to detach Captain Morrison, who was from the State of Georgia, from the Lewis Cass, then at Mobile; and he was accordingly ordered to Galveston, to take command of the Henry Dodge, which was without a captain. The precaution was too late. Before Mr. Jones reached Mobile, Captain Morrison, regardless of the obligation of his oath, had surrendered his vessel to the authorities of Alabama. His resignation was subsequently received; but it was not accepted, and the following order was issued, dismissing him from the revenue service:

ORDER.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
February 11, 1861.

J. J. Morrison, of Georgia, a captain in the revenue cutter service of the United States, late in command of the Lewis Cass, having, in violation of his official oath, and of his duty to the government, surrendered his vessel to the State of Alabama, it is hereby directed that his name be stricken from the rolls of said service.

By order of the President of the United States.

JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

The circumstances under which Captain Morrison surrendered his vessel, and which constitute the justification for his dismissal, are detailed in the annexed report of Mr. Jones, marked B.

The revenue cutter Robert McClelland, one of the largest and finest in the service, and recently refitted, was on duty in the Mississippi river, below New Orleans; and it was this vessel which the department was particularly desirous of saving, on account of her value. The failure of the attempt is fully detailed in Mr. Jones's report, hereto annexed. It discloses an act of official infidelity on the part of the collector at New Orleans, F. H. Hatch, which cannot fail to receive the condemnation of all right-thinking men. The service to be performed by the McClelland was between the forts, seventy-two miles below the city of New Orleans, and the mouth of the river. On the 15th of January, eight days before the convention of Louisiana met, and eleven days before the ordinance of secession was passed, Mr. Hatch, in a letter secured by Mr. Jones, and now on file in the department, ordered Captain Breshwood to bring his vessel up the river, and anchor her opposite the city, for the purpose, afterwards avowed to Mr. Jones, of getting her into the possession of the State of Louisiana. Mr. Hatch, at the time he was engaged in this conspiracy against the United States, held a commission in its service, and did not hesitate to violate his official oath, and to prostitute the authority with which his government had clothed him to accomplish an act of the grossest infidelity. Captain Breshwood, as events subsequently disclosed, was a party to this treachery. On his refusal to obey the order of the department, Mr. Jones sent the following despatch:

NEW ORLEANS, January 29, 1861.

Captain Breshwood has refused positively, in writing, to obey any instructions of the department; in this I am sure he is sustained by the collector, and believe acts by his advice. What must I do?

W. H. JONES, Special Agent.

Hon. J. A. Dix,
Secretary of the Treasury.

It was supposed when this despatch was received that the McClelland was at her station at the mouth of the river, and the following was telegraphed in reply. It was intercepted by the governor of Alabama and forwarded to the authorities of Louisiana, only reaching Mr. Jones through the newspapers:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, January 29, 1861.

Tell Lieutenant Caldwell to arrest Captain Breshwood, assume command of the cutter, and obey the order I gave through you. If Captain Breshwood, after arrest, undertakes to interfere with the command of the cutter, tell Lieutenant Caldwell to consider him as a mutineer, and treat him accordingly. If any one attempts to haul down the American flag, shoot him on the spot.

JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

WM. HEMPHILL JONES, New Orleans.

The officers of the revenue service are placed by law under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, and are required to obey his instructions. The refusal on the part of Captain Breshwood to act as directed was regarded not as a mere act of disobedience for which he would, under ordinary circumstances, have been promptly dismissed from the service; but it was also considered as a prelude to the graver act of infidelity he was believed to be meditating. The only chance of anticipating and preventing it was through an order bearing some relation in severity to the enormity of the offence he was about to commit. Had the despatch not been intercepted by the governor of Alabama, who did not deem it beneath his dignity to violate the sanctity of a system of confidential communication for the purpose of scrutinizing the correspondence of a department of the government with one of its special agents in a matter relating exclusively to its own interests, the vessel might have been saved and the State of Louisiana spared the reproach of consenting to an act which all civilized communities hold in merited detestation.

It may be proper to add, in reference to the closing period of the foregoing despatch, that as the flag of the Union since 1777, when it was devised and adopted by the founders of the republic, had never until a recent day been hauled down, except by honorable hands in manly conflict, no hesitation was felt in attempting to uphold it at any cost against an act of treachery, as the ensign of the public authority, and the emblem of unnumbered victories by land and sea.

The revenue cutter Henry Dodge, at Galveston, Texas, was understood to be so much out of repair as to render it very questionable whether she could be safely taken to New York. Under these circumstances, the following order was sent to her commanding officer :

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, January 22, 1861.

SIR: If the revenue cutter "Henry Dodge," to the command of which you were assigned by an order of the 19th instant, should on examination proved to be sea-worthy, you will immediately provision her for six weeks and sail for New York, reporting yourself on your arrival to the collector of the port. While making your preparations for sailing, you will exercise the utmost vigilance in guarding your vessel against attack from any quarter. If any hostile movement should be made against you, you will defend yourself to the last extremity. The national flag must not be dishonored. If you are in danger of being overpowered by superior numbers, you will put to sea and proceed to Key West to provision ; or if intercepted so that you cannot go to sea, and are unable to keep possession of your vessel, you will run her ashore, and if possible blow her up, so that she may not be used against the United States.

I am, very respectfully,

JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

Captain J. J. MORRISON,
Commanding Revenue Cutter Henry Dodge, Galveston, Texas.

It was the determination of this department to adopt such measures as to prevent, if possible, the revenue vessels, for which it was responsible, from being taken by force, and used for the purpose of overthrowing the public authority. Any attempt to gain possession of them by military coercion could not be regarded in any other light than as an act of war, proper to be resisted by force of arms ; and it was deemed far more creditable to the country that they should be blown into fragments than that they should be pusillanimously or treacherously surrendered and employed against the government which they were constructed and commissioned to support.

At the last accounts the Dodge, in consequence of her unfitness to proceed to New York, was to be placed at the disposal of the coast survey in the vicinity of Galveston for temporary service, in case of any hostile demonstration against her. Captain Morrison, who was ordered to take charge of her before his fidelity to the government was questioned, having been dismissed from the service, the command has devolved on Lieutenant William F. Rogers, in whose good faith and firmness entire confidence is reposed.

It only remains to state, under this branch of the inquiries addressed to this department, that Captain John G. Breshwood and Lieutenants

S. B. Caldwell and Thomas D. Fister, who voluntarily surrendered the revenue cutter Robert McClelland to the State of Louisiana, have been dismissed from the revenue service.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

JOHN A. DIX,
Secretary of the Treasury.

Hon. WM. PENNINGTON,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

MINT OF THE UNITED STATES,
Philadelphin, February 18, 1861.

SIR: I send you enclosed a copy of a letter I have recently received from Mr. Elmore, the superintendent of the branch mint at New Orleans.

It appears from this communication that a committee, acting under the order of a convention, has taken possession of the branch mint in the name of the State of Louisiana. The right to coin money—one of the highest acts of sovereignty—being expressly granted to the United States, (art. 1, sec. 8, Cons. U. S.,) and withheld from the States, (sec. 10,) the action of the Louisiana convention cannot but be regarded as revolutionary in its character, and destructive of the rights of the people and government of the United States.

By the law establishing branches of the mint of the United States, (act of March 3, 1835,) "the general direction of the business of the said branches is under the control and regulation of the director of the mint at Philadelphia, subject to the approbation of the Secretary of the Treasury; and for that purpose, it shall be the duty of the said director to prescribe such regulations, and require such returns, periodically and occasionally, as shall appear to him to be necessary, for the purpose of carrying into effect the intention of this act in establishing said branches; also for the purpose of discriminating the coin which shall be stamped at each branch and at the mint itself; also for the purpose of preserving uniformity of weight, form, and fineness in the coin stamped at each place; and for that purpose to require the transmission and delivery to him at the mint, from time to time, of such parcels of the coinage of each branch as he shall think proper, to be subjected to such assays and tests as he shall direct"

My instructions require weekly reports of its operations from the branch mint at New Orleans, and monthly returns of parcels of coinage taken from each delivery of coin from the carrier to the treasurer. These reports and coins for the month of January have been received, but the weekly returns since the close of the month have been omitted to be sent to me.

It thus appears that the institution in question is not conducting its operations in a lawful manner, and although it is still a branch of the mint of the United States, (for no action of the State of Louisiana can legally alter its relation to the general government,) yet, as its coinage from the close of the month of January will not be subject to the tests required by law, it has practically ceased to be a branch of the mint. The coinage of that branch is designated by the letter O on the reverse side of each piece. The coins struck in January are legal coins of the United States; but as these pieces cannot be distinguished from others coined since that time, having the date of 1861, the whole coinage of this year ought to be discredited by the government. The announcement should be made, either by the proclamation of the President, or by act of Congress, if the former should not be deemed proper, that the coins of the branch mint at New Orleans of the year 1861 are not of the coinage of the United States, and are therefore not a legal tender in the payment of debts; said coins are designated by the letter O on the reverse of each piece.

I may here state that the coins stamped at San Francisco are designated by the letter S; those of Dahlonega (Georgia) by the letter D; and of Charlotte (North Carolina) by the letter C. The coinage of the mint at Philadelphia may be known by the absence of any letter or a mint mark.

The coining dies are prepared at the mint in Philadelphia for the branches. I furnished, at the close of the last year, the New Orleans branch the following number of working dies for 1861: double eagles, 3 obverses and 3 reverses; eagles, 2 obverses; half eagles, 2 obverses; three dollar, 2 obverses, (the date is on the reverse of this piece;) quarter eagle, 4 obverses; gold dollar, 2 reverses, (same as three-dollar piece;) silver dollars, 2 obverses; half dollar, 12 obverses; quarter dollar, 4 obverses; dime, 2 obverses, 2 reverses; half dime, 2 obverses, 2 reverses.

In reference to these dies, I suggest that it is desirable that the agent of the department should be requested to call at the branch mint and ask to have them delivered to him for the purpose of returning them to the mint at Philadelphia. The person in charge of that institution may, perhaps, be willing to comply with this request. If so, it will relieve us from the embarrassment of having coins issued purporting to be the coins of the United States, but which are not subjected to the assays and trials required by law.

I may add, as appropriate to this communication, that the building of the branch mint at New Orleans, including the rendering of it fire-proof in 1855-'56, cost the United States the sum of $591,514 05. The amount of bullion in that institution at the present time, the property of the United States, is $389,267 46; to which must be added the balance to the credit of the United States on the coinage charge, and for purchases of silver, (profit,) $12,413 62.

The ground upon which the branch mint is erected, known as "Jackson Square," was conveyed to the United States by the authorities of the city of New Orleans on the 19th day of June, 1835. It was a donation by the city to the United States.

I have the honor to be, with great respect, your faithful servant,

JAMES ROSS SNOWDEN,

Director of the Mint.

Hon JOHN A. DIX,

Secretary of the Treasury, Washington City.

UNITED STATES BRANCH MINT,
New Orleans, January 31, 1861.

SIR: This morning a committee of the convention, acting under an ordinance passed by that body, took possession of this institution in the name of the State of Louisiana.

As soon as I can get a copy of the ordinance I will forward it to you.

Yours, very truly,

WM. A. ELMORE,
Superintendent.

HON JAMES ROSS SNOWDEN,
Director of the Mint, Philadelphia.

WASHINGTON CITY, February 15, 1861.

SIR: In accordance with your instructions of the 19th ultimo, directing me to repair to New Orleans and Mobile for the purpose of securing to the United States the revenue cutters "Robert McClelland" and "Lewis Cass," I left Washington in the next mail train for those cities respectively.

Owing to numerous derangements on the railroads, produced by land-slides covering the tracks, I did not reach New Orleans until Saturday the 26th January—one day, however, in advance of the mail.

Supposing, of course, that the "McClelland," was on her station at the mouth of the Mississippi river, or at the head of the passes, I made arrangements on the next day with the captain of a tug-boat, which was to leave New Orleans on Monday evening, to take me down the river and place me on board the cutter. At the time appointed for her departure, while on the levee and about to join the steamer, I was much astonished to learn that the cutter had just anchored immediately below the city. I at once hired a skiff, and boarded her about dusk. On inquiring for Captain Breshwood, I was informed that he had gone ashore. A boat was despatched with an officer to find him, if possible, and about 10 o'clock he returned on board.

I exhibited to him my own instructions, handed him your letter, placing him and his vessel under my orders, and directed him to get under weigh and proceed to sea.

He declined doing so at that late hour, and both his officers united with the captain in his objections. No positive disobedience, however, was manifested, but an evident reluctance to comply at that time. The next morning I was introduced to F. H. Hatch, esq., collector of customs, by Captain Breshwood. These gentlemen had a private interview, and I was soon convinced that the collector could not be depended on to assist in getting the cutter out of the waters of Louisiana, but did not then know the full extent of his action in the premises.

I then handed Captain Breshwood the following letter :

“ NEW ORLEANS, January 29, 1861.

“ SIR : You are hereby directed to get the United States revenue cutter ‘ Robert McClelland,’ now lying here, under weigh immediately, and proceed with her to New York, where you will await the further instructions of the Secretary of the Treasury.

“ For my authority to make this order you are referred to the letter of the Secretary dated the 19th instant, and handed you personally by me.

“ Very respectfully,

“ WM. HEMPHILL JONES,
“ Special Agent.

“ Captain J. G. BRESHWOOD,

“ Comm’g U. S. Revenue Cutter ‘ Robert McClelland.’ ”

Another conference was held between Captain Breshwood and Collector Hatch, and finally I received from the former the following reply :

“ U. S. REVENUE CUTTER ‘ ROBERT MCCLELLAND,’
“ New Orleans, January 29, 1861.

“ SIR : Your letter, with the one of the 19th of January, from the Hon. Secretary of the Treasury, I have duly received, and, in reply, refuse to obey the order.

“ I am, sir, your obedient servant,

“ JOHN G. BRESHWOOD, “ Captain.

“ WM. HEMPHILL JONES, Esq.,
“ Special Agent.”

Believing that Captain Breshwood would not have ventured upon this most positive act of insubordination and disobedience of his own volition, I waited upon the collector at the custom-house, and had with him a full and free conversation upon the whole subject. In the course of it Mr. Hatch admitted to me that he had caused the cutter to be brought to the city of New Orleans by an order of his own, dated January 15, so that she might be secured to the State of Louisiana, although at that time the State had not only not seceded, but the convention had not met, and in fact did not meet until eight days afterwards.

This, I must confess, seemed to me a singular confession for one who at that very time had sworn to do his duty faithfully as an officer of the United States ; and on intimating as much to Mr. Hatch, he excused himself on the ground that “ in these revolutions all other things must give way to the force of circumstances.”

Mr. Hatch likewise informed me that the officers of the cutter had long since determined to abandon their allegiance to the United States, and cast their fortunes with the independent State of Louisiana. In order to test the correctness of this statement, I addressed another communication to Captain Breshwood, of the following tenor :

“NEW ORLEANS, January 29, 1861.

“SIR: By your note of this date I am informed that you ‘refuse to obey the orders of the honorable Secretary of the Treasury.’

“As on accepting your commission you took and subscribed an oath faithfully to discharge your duties to the government, and as you well know the law has placed the revenue cutters and their officers under the entire control of the Secretary of the Treasury, I request you to advise me whether you consider yourself at this time an officer in the service of the United States.

“Very respectfully,

“WM. HEMPHILL JONES,

“Captain BRESHWOOD.”

To this letter I never received any reply. I then repaired again on board the cutter, and asked for the order of the collector bringing them to New Orleans. The original was placed in my possession, of which the following is a copy; and here it may be proper to observe that the order is written and signed by the collector himself:

“CUSTOM-HOUSE, NEW ORLEANS,
“Collector's Office, January 15, 1861.

“SIR: You are hereby directed to proceed forthwith under sail to this city, and anchor the vessel under your command opposite the United States marine hospital, above Algiers.

“Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

“F. H. HATCH, Collector.

“Captain J. G. BRESHWOOD,

“U. S. Revenue Cutter ‘McClelland,’ S. W. Pass, Louisiana.”

The effect of this order may readily be foreseen by you. While on her station at the passes the vessel was measurably under the control of the government, and could be easily got to sea from that point. While lying at New Orleans, however, and any hostile power in possession of the forts, St. Philip and Jackson, 72 miles below, it is evident that any vessel is completely at the mercy of such power so far as respects her passing down the river.

The State of Louisiana is now, and has been for several weeks, in full possession of these forts; and Mr. Hatch of course intended that the government should be deprived of any chance of keeping the “McClelland,” even if her officers remained faithful to their trust. If these latter, as was the case, proved derelict, I had made ample arrangements to seize the vessel, and carry her to sea in defiance of any ordinary contingency to the contrary, could I have either found her or got her below the fortifications. As it was, however, this was impossible. She lay in the river, watched from shore, a distance of 72 miles above the forts, with a telegraphic line, in working order, communicating directly between the city and garrison; and as I was subsequently informed by the commander of Fort St. Philip, he was determined to blow her out of the water rather than let the "McClelland" pass to sea.

I was therefore under the necessity of witnessing the transfer of this fine vessel, her stores and armament, to the State of Louisiana, and report to you that she is no longer in the United States revenue service. Her officers have likewise taken an oath of allegiance to the State, and have received and accepted commissions in her service.

I then, in further pursuance of your directions, proceeded to the port of Mobile to look after the cutter "Lewis Cass," stationed in that harbor.

I found her at anchor opposite the city, within about one hundred yards of the wharves, and apparently deserted. On going to the custom-house I fell in with Lieutenant Lawrence, and subsequently found Lieutenants Rogers and Shoemaker. I was informed by them that Captain Morrison had received your orders for him to repair to Galveston, but that he had refused to obey them, and had given up his vessel to the authorities of the State of Alabama.

On going on board the "Lewis Cass" I found her to be in very bad condition—no one on board but the men, and no order or discipline observed. Captain Morrison could not be met with; but in the letter-book of the vessel, which was lying in the cabin, I found the following letter from Collector Sandford, which will fully explain the manner in which that officer thought proper to perform his duty to the government of the United States:

STATE OF ALABAMA,
Collector's Office, Mobile, January 30, 1861.

SIR: In obedience to an ordinance recently adopted by a convention of the people of Alabama, I have to require you to surrender into my hands, for the use of the State, the revenue cutter "Lewis Cass," now under your command, together with her armaments, properties, and provisions on board the same.

I am instructed also to notify you that you have the option to continue in command of the said revenue cutter under the authority of the State of Alabama, in the exercise of the same duties that you have hitherto rendered to the United States, and at the same compensation, reporting to this office and to the governor of the State.

In surrendering the vessel to the State you will furnish me with a detailed inventory of its armaments, provisions, and properties of every description.

You will receive special instructions from this office in regard to the duties you will be required to perform. I wait your immediate reply.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

T. SANDFORD, Collector.

J. J. MORRISON, Esq.,

Captain Revenue Cutter "Lewis Cass," Mobile, Ala.

Captain Morrison thereupon transferred his vessel, with her equipments, to the State of Alabama, and took an oath of allegiance to that State.

It is proper here to remark that the other officers of the "Lewis Cass," viz: First Lieutenant Rogers and Lieutenants Lawrence and Shoemaker, remained faithful to their government, and rendered me much assistance at Mobile. They unanimously and cheerfully volunteered their services, in case an opportunity might be afforded, to recapture the "McClelland," and this would undoubtedly have been effected if any chance could have been found to take her to sea.

I gave Mr. Rogers written orders to return to New London, his place of residence, and await there your instructions. In like manner Mr. Shoemaker was directed to repair to Baltimore, while Mr. Lawrence preferred to remain with his family on the shore of Mobile bay.

The "Lewis Cass," in her present condition, is entirely unseaworthy. Her seams are open, causing her to leak badly, and in fact she came very near foundering while beating up Mobile harbor, with but a whole-sail breeze.

Her late officers inform me that she will require extensive repairs to put her in any condition to do service to her present holders.

I then returned to New Orleans and made a final effort with the junior officers of the "McClelland" to induce them at least to consent for me to carry the vessel under sail as far as the forts, as I was desirous to test the question of the determination of the State of Louisiana to use force in retaining her, but they refused positively to have her removed from her anchorage.

Finding that nothing further could be effected by me—that the two vessels were entirely lost to the United States, and no possible benefit could arise from my remaining any longer in New Orleans, I left that city, via the river route, and reached here on Thursday evening, the 14th instant.

I propose to make the conduct of the officers of the telegraph company, with reference to official despatches, the subject of a special communication.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

WM. HEMPHILL JONES,

Special Agent.

Hon. JOHN A. DIX,

Secretary of the Treasury.
